"Visions of the Industrial Age, 1830-1914" Amy Woodson-Boulton, 2017-07-05

Providing a comprehensive interdisciplinary assessment and with a particular focus on expressions of tension and anxiety about modernity this collection examines visual culture in nineteenth century Europe as it attempted to redefine itself in the face of social change and new technologies Contributing scholars from the fields of history art literature and the history of science investigate the role of visual representation and the dominance of the image by looking at changing ideas expressed in representations of science technology politics and culture in advertising art periodicals and novels They investigate how during the period new emphasis was placed on the visual with emerging forms of mass communication photography lithography newspapers advertising and cinema while older forms as varied as poetry the novel painting interior decoration and architecture became transformed The volume includes investigations into new innovations and scientific development such as the steam engine transportation and engineering the microscope spirit photography and the orrery as well as how this new technology is reproduced in illustrated periodicals The essays also look at more traditional forms of creative expression to show that the same concerns and anxieties about science technology and the changing perceptions of the natural world can be seen in the art of Armand Guillaumin Auguste Rodin Gustave Caillebotte and Camille Pissarro in colonial nineteenth century novels in design manuals in museums and in the decorations of domestic interior spaces Visions of the Industrial Age 1830 1914 offers a thorough exploration of both the nature of modernity and the nature of the visual

 Bibliography Index Exciting the Body Sonsoles Hernández Barbosa, 2025-01-23 This book uncovers how during the origins of modernity in the nineteenth century the senses were mobilised to sell more both through the popularisation of objects aimed at the senses such as panoramas optical boxes automatons music boxes and pianolas and also through marketing mechanisms for example advertising and window dressing All these novel objects and spaces had one thing in common the aim of attracting the public by stimulating the senses By examining practices that mobilised the senses in the emerging fields of advertising marketing and the leisure industry and through an approach that involves elements from the history of the senses visual studies sound studies and aesthetics this book explores what this new sensory driven mass culture was all about The basis of English translation of this book originally in Spanish Vidas excitadas Sensorialidad y capitalismo en la cultura moderna 2022 was facilitated by artificial intelligence The author with the support of Lucille Banham has subsequently revised the text further in an endeavour to refine the work stylistically Vanities of the Eye Stuart Clark, 2009-01-15 Vanities of the Eye investigates the cultural history of the senses in early modern Europe a time in which the nature and reliability of human vision was the focus of much debate In medicine art theory science religion and philosophy sight came to be characterised as uncertain or paradoxical mental images no longer resembled the external world Was seeing really believing Stuart Clark explores the controversial debates of the time from the fantasies and hallucinations of melancholia to the illusions of magic art demonic deceptions and witchcraft The truth and function of religious images and the authenticity of miracles and visions were also questioned with new vigour affecting such contemporary works as Macbeth a play deeply concerned with the dangers of visual illusion Clark also contends that there was a close connection between these debates and the ways in which philosophers such as Descartes and Hobbes developed new theories on the relationship between the real and virtual Original highly accessible and a major contribution to our understanding of European culture Vanities of the Eye will be of great interest to a wide range of historians and anyone interested in the true nature of seeing

Phantasmagoria Marina Warner,2006 With over thirty illustrations in color and black and white Phantasmagoria takes readers on an intellectually exhilarating tour of ideas of spirit and soul in the modern world illuminating key questions of imagination and cognition Warner tells the unexpected and often disturbing story about shifts in thought about consciousness and the individual person from the first public waxworks portraits at the end of the eighteenth century to stories of hauntings possession and loss of self in modern times She probes the perceived distinctions between fantasy and deception and uncovers a host of spirit forms angels ghosts fairies revenants and zombies that are still actively present in contemporary culture Tactics of Interfacing Ksenia Fedorova,2020-08-11 How digital technologies affect the way we conceive of the self and its relation to the world considered through the lens of media art practices In Tactics of Interfacing Ksenia Fedorova explores how digital technologies affect the way we conceive of the self and its relation to the world With the advent of ubiquitous computing the self becomes an object of technological application increasingly defined by data received from tracking technologies Subtly these technologies encourage versions of ourselves that are easier to interpret computationally Fedorova views these shifts in self perception through the lens of contemporary media art practices examining a range of artistic tactics that enable embodied and intimate experiences of machinic operations on our lives At the center of Fedorova s analysis are the mechanisms that structure the relations between the self and the world at the level of the interface she considers interfacing a process in which interrelation happens and different agencies play off against each other She discusses such topics as interfaciality and the face as a medium self image and the boundaries of the self understood through technological mediation of an embodied experience the relation between the self and the other reshaped by algorithmic technologies and the augmentation and alteration of spatial perception The artworks Fedorova discusses present scenarios of interfacing that range from responsive environments to artificial intelligence conversational agents She shows that art and aesthetic experience offer fruitful ways to reflect on the effects of contemporary technological culture enabling encounters that shift our perspectives on the boundaries of the self and challenge the very capacity to feel human

The Oxford Handbook of Victorian Literary Culture Juliet John,2016-06-30 The Oxford Handbook of Victorian Literary Culture is a major contribution to the dynamic field of Victorian studies This collection of 37 original chapters by leading international Victorian scholars offers new approaches to familiar themes including science religion and gender and gives space to newer and emerging topics including old age fair play and economics Structured around three broad sections Ways of Being Identity and Ideology Ways of Understanding Knowledge and Belief and Ways of Communicating Print and Other Cultures the volume is sub divided into nine sub sections each with its own lead essay on subjectivity politics gender and sexuality place and race religion science material and mass culture aesthetics and visual culture and theatrical culture The collection like today's Victorian studies is thoroughly interdisciplinary and yet its substantial Introduction explores a concern which is evident both implicitly and explicitly in the volume's essays that is the nature and status of literary culture and the literary from the Victorian period to the present The diverse and wide ranging essays present original scholarship framed accessibly for a mixed readership of advanced undergraduates graduate students and established scholars

Culture, Aesthetics and Affect in Ubiquitous Media Helen Grace, 2013-10-23 This book argues that ubiquitous media and user created content establish a new perception of the world that can be called particulate vision involving a different relation to reality that better represents the atomization of contemporary experience especially apparent in social media Drawing on extensive original research including detailed ethnographic investigation of camera phone practices in Hong Kong as well as visual analysis identifying the patterns regularities and genres of such work it shows how new distributed forms of creativity and subjectivity now work to shift our perceptions of the everyday The book analyses the specific features of these new developments the components of what can be called a general aesthesia and it focuses on the originality and innovation of amateur practices developing a model for making sense of the huge proliferation of images in contemporary culture discovering rhythms and tempo in this work and showing why it matters An International Study of Film Museums Rinella Cere, 2020-12-29 An International Study of Film Museums examines how cinema has been transformed and strengthened through museological and archival activities since its origins and asks what paradoxes may be involved if any in putting cinema into a museum Cere explores the ideas that were first proposed during the first half of the twentieth century around the need to establish national museums of cinema and how these have been adapted in the subsequent development of the five case studies presented here four in Europe and one in the USA The book traces the history of the five museums foundation exhibitions collections and festivals organised under their aegis and it asks how they resolve the tensions between cinema as an aesthetic artefact now officially recognised as part of humanity's cultural heritage and cinema as an entertainment and leisure activity It also gives an account of recent developments around unifying collections exhibition activities and archives in one national film centre that offers the general public a space totally devoted to film and cinematographic culture An International Study of Film Museums provides a unique comparative study of museums of cinema in varying national contexts The book will be of interest to academics and students around the world who are engaged in the study of museums archives heritage film history and visual culture Novel Science Adelene Buckland, 2022-12-22 Novel Science is the first in depth study of the shocking groundbreaking and sometimes beautiful writings of the gentlemen of the heroic age of geology and of the contribution these men made to the literary culture of their day For these men literature was an essential part of the practice of science itself as important to their efforts as mapmaking fieldwork and observation The reading and writing of imaginative literatures helped them to discover imagine debate and give shape and meaning to millions of years of previously undiscovered earth history Borrowing from the historical fictions of Walter Scott and the poetry of Lord Byron they invented geology as a science discovered many of the creatures we now call the dinosaurs and were the first to unravel and map the sequence and structure of stratified rock As Adelene Buckland shows they did this by rejecting the grand narratives of older theories of the earth or of biblical cosmogony theirs would be a humble science faithfully recording minute details and leaving the big picture for future generations to paint Buckland also reveals how these scientists just as they had drawn inspiration from their literary predecessors gave Victorian realist novelists such as George Eliot Charles Kingsley and Charles Dickens a powerful language with which to create dark and disturbing ruptures in the too seductive sweep of story

Inventing Cinema Benoît Turquety, 2025-10-01 With machines mediating most of our cultural practices and innovations obsolescence and revivals constantly transforming our relation with images and sounds media feel more unstable than ever But was there ever a stable moment in media history Inventing Cinema proposes to approach this question through an archaeology and epistemology of media machines The archaeology analyses them as archives of users gestures as well as of modes of perception The epistemology reconstructs the problems that the machines designers and users have strived to solve and the network of concepts they have elaborated to understand these problems Drawing on the philosophy of technology and anthropology Inventing Cinema argues that networks of gestures problems perception and concepts are inscribed in vision machines from the camera obscura to the stereoscope the Cinematographe and digital cinema The invention of cinema is ultimately seen as an ongoing process irreducible to a single moment in history

Popular Pleasures Paul Duncum, 2021-08-26 Today's many popular aesthetic pleasures have a very long history Paul Duncum considers the historical critical discourses and socio political issues raised by aesthetic pleasures in fifteen thematic chapters Using illustrative examples from the past present and across cultures he challenges the idea of any decline of cultural standards and argues that no grounds exist for cultural pessimism Refusing to condemn popular culture on the basis of taste he reserves critique for the socio political ideologies aesthetics invariably serve Art history film cultural studies and philosophical aesthetics are each employed to show that the sensory emotional lures of today's popular culture are mostly identical to those of premodern fine art They include the violent the horrific the sentimental the exotic the erotic and the humorous Some of these pleasures derive from our evolutionary biology they are all an important part of what it means to be human and central to understanding contemporary society Examples are wide ranging including British seaside postcards Disney films Nazi propaganda burlesque modern advertising as well as many exemplars of fine art The book reveals fresh insights for all those studying visual culture art history aesthetics media studies and media and art education

Practices of Projection Gabriel Menotti, Virginia Crisp, 2020-02-05 To many the technological aspects of projection often go unnoticed only brought to attention during moments of crisis or malfunction For example when a movie theater projector falters the audience suddenly looks toward the back of the theater to see a sign of mechanical failure The history of cinema similarly shows that the attention to projection has been most focused when the whole medium is hanging in suspension During Hollywood's economic consolidation in the 30s projection defined the ways that sync sound technologies could be deployed within the medium Most recently the digitization of cinema repeated this process as technology was reworked to facilitate mobility These examples show how projection continually speaks to the rearrangement of media technology Projection therefore needs to be examined as a pivotal element in the future of visual media's technological transition In Practices of Projection Histories and Technologies volume editors Gabriel Menotti and Virginia Crisp address the cultural and technological significance of projection Throughout the volume chapters reiterate that projection cannot and must not be reduced to its cinematic functions alone Borrowing media theorist Siegfried Zielinski's definition Menotti and Crisp refer to projection as the heterogeneous array of artefacts technical systems and particularly visual praxes of experimentation and of culture From this readers can understand the performative character of the moving image and the labor of the different actors involved in the utterance of the film text Projection is not the same everywhere nor equal all the time Its systems are in permanent interaction with environmental circumstances neighboring structures local cultures and social economies Thus the idea of projection as a universal fully autonomous operation cannot hold Each occurrence of projection adds nuance to a wider understanding of film screening technologies

Literature and Science

Charlotte Sleight, 2017-09-16 The growing field of literature and science is for the first time given a fully theorized overview Using case studies from a three hundred year history Sleight focuses on literary form and argues that novels did not just reflect or inform areas of science but were part of a broader ongoing cultural negotiation about how to read things Urban Play Fabio Duarte, Ricardo Alvarez, 2021-08-03 Why technology is most transformative when it is playful and innovative spatial design happens only when designers are both tinkerers and dreamers In Urban Play Fabio Duarte and Ricardo Alvarez argue that the merely functional aspects of technology may undermine its transformative power Technology is powerful not when it becomes optimally functional but while it is still playful and open to experimentation It is through play in the sense of acting for one's own enjoyment rather than to achieve a goal that we explore new territories create new devices and languages and transform ourselves Only then can innovative spatial design create resonant spaces that go beyond functionalism to evoke an emotional response in those who use them The authors show how creativity emerges in moments of instability when a new technology overthrows an established one or when internal factors change a technology until it becomes a different technology Exploring the role of fantasy in design they examine Disney World and its outsized influence on design and on forms of social interaction beyond the entertainment world They also consider Las Vegas and Dubai desert cities that combine technology with fantasies of pleasure and wealth Video games and interactive media they show infuse the design process with interactivity and participatory dynamics leaving spaces open to variations depending on the users behavior Throughout they pinpoint the critical moments when technology plays a key role in reshaping how we design and experience spaces Lighting Dance Flaviana Xavier Antunes Sampaio, 2020-10-15 Lighting Dance pioneers the discussion of the ability of lighting design to foreground shadow in dance performances Through a series of experiments integrating light shadow and improvised dance movement it highlights and analyses what it advances as an innovative expression of shadow in dance as an alternative to more conventional approaches to lighting design Different art forms such as painting film and dance pieces from Loie Fuller the Russell Maliphant Dance Company Elevenplay Pilobolus and the Tao Dance Theater served to inspire and contextualise the study From lighting to psychology from reviews to academic books shadows are examined as a symbolic and manipulative entity The book also presents the dance solo Sombreiro which was created to echo the experiments with light shadow and movement aligned to an interpretation of cultural shadow Jung 1954 in Samuels Shorter and Plaut 1986 Casement 2006 Ramos 2004 Stein 2004 and others The historical development of lighting within dance practices is also outlined providing a valuable resource for lighting designers dance practitioners and theatre goers interested in the visuality of dance performances
