Cemetery Ridge Meade informed Maj Gen Winfield Hancock whose infantry lined the ridge that his sector would bear the brunt on the morrow and to prepare accordingly Meade also warned to his capable chief of artillery Brig Gen Henry J Hunt and tasked him with preparing his guns to deal with the approaching assault Shultz who has studied Gettysburg for decades and walked every yard of its hallowed ground uses official reports letters diaries and other accounts to meticulously explain how Hunt and his officers and men worked tirelessly that night and well into July 3 to organize a lethal package of orchestrated destruction to greet Lee's vaunted infantry in an effort that would be hailed by many historians as The High Water Mark of the Confederacy The war witnessed many large scale assaults and artillery bombardments but no example of defensive gunnery was more destructive than the ring of direct frontal and full flank enfilading fire Hunt's batteries unleashed upon Lee's assaulting columns The iron rain broke and drove back the massed attack within a short time leaving a fraction of the attacking force to cross the Emmitsburg Road to scale the deadly Ridge Double Canister at Ten Yards will change the way you look at Pickett's Charge and leave you wondering yet again why an officer as experienced and gifted as General Lee ordered it in the first place
