Fabrik Der Offiziere:

Fabrik Der Offiziere; Roman Hans Hellmut Kirst, Frank Wisbar Henry Nicolella, 2018-01-12 German director Frank Wisbar 1899 1967 had the misfortune of achieving success as a filmmaker just as Hitler came to power While critics praised his work Nazi cultural watchdogs were scornful of his attempts to chart the landscape of the soul in films like Ferryman Maria 1936 and Anna and Elisabeth 1933 Wisbar fled to America where Hollywood saw him as no more than a technician good for churning out low budget horror like Strangler of the Swamp 1945 and Devil Bat's Daughter 1946 A successful stint in early television allowed him to return home to a very different Germany where he abandoned his earlier mystical themes to tackle questions of war and peace tabloid journalism and racial conflict The author examines the films and career of an under appreciated auteur who ultimately lost faith in his own vision , Fabrik der Offiziere. Schönfeld,2023-06-15 A 2024 CHOICE OUTSTANDING ACADEMIC TITLE This book tells the story of German language literature on film beginning with pioneering motion picture adaptations of Faust in 1897 and early debates focused on high art as mass culture It explores analyzes and contextualizes the so called golden age of silent cinema in the 1920s the impact of sound on adaptation practices the abuse of literary heritage by Nazi filmmakers and traces the role of German language literature in exile and postwar films across ideological boundaries in divided Germany in New German Cinema and in remakes and movies for cinema as well as television and streaming services in the 21st century Having provided the narrative core to thousands of films since the late 19th century many of German cinema s most influential masterpieces were inspired by canonical texts popular plays and even children s literature Not being restricted to German adaptations however this book also traces the role of literature originally written in German in international film productions which sheds light on the interrelation between cinema and key historical events It outlines how processes of adaptation are shaped by global catastrophes and the emergence of nations by materialist conditions liberal economies and capitalist imperatives political agendas the mobility of individuals and sometimes by the desire to create reflective surfaces and perhaps even art Commercial cinema s adaptation practices have foregrounded economic interest but numerous filmmakers throughout cinema history have turned to German language literature not simply to entertain but as a creative contribution to the public sphere marking adaptation practice at least potentially as a form of active citizenship The A to Z of German Cinema

Screening War Paul Cooke, Marc Silberman, 2010 Re examines German cinema s representation of the Germans as victims during the Second World War and its aftermath The recent discovery of German wartime suffering has had a particularly profound impact in German visual culture Films from Margarethe von Trotta s Rosenstrasse 2003 to Oliver Hirschbiegel s Oscar nominated Downfall 2004 and the two part television mini series Dresden 2006 have shown how ordinary Germans suffered during and after the war Such films have been presented by critics as treating a topic that had been taboo for German filmmakers However the representation of wartime suffering has a long tradition on the German screen For decades filmmakers have recontextualized images of Germans as victims to engage shifting social and ideological discourses By focusing on this process the present volume explores how the changing representation of Germans as victims has shaped the ways in which both of the postwar German states and the now unified nation have attempted to face the trauma of the past and to construct a contemporary place for themselves in the world Contributors See Allan Tim Bergfelder Daniela Berghahn Erica Carter David Clarke John E Davidson Sabine Hake Jennifer Kapczynski Manuel Kopp Rachel Palfreyman Brad Prager Johannes von Moltke Paul Cooke is Professor of German Cultural Studies at the University of Leeds and Marc Silberman is Professor of German at the University of Wisconsin
