

EPIC THEATRE

- Epic theatre was created by Bertolt Brecht in the mid 20th century. Brecht wanted to do something different from the everyday realistic play and thought about what it would be like to constantly remind someone that what they are watching is not real.
- In order to do this, they would have stage lamps in places where they could be seen. You might also put white, harsh, lights on stage, not depending on what the mood of the scene is.
- You might also use sharp colors and different designs. For instance, instead of making a sky blue, you might make it multiple colors in a design that doesn't look "real".

Kuhns, 1997-08-28 German Expressionist Theatre The Actor and the Stage considers the powerfully stylized anti realistic styles of acting on the German Expressionist stage from 1916 to 1921 It relates this striking departure from the dominant European acting tradition of realism to the specific cultural crises that enveloped the German nation during the course of its involvement in World War I This book describes three distinct Expressionist acting styles all of which in their own ways attempted to show how symbolic stage performance could be a powerful rhetorical resource for a culture struggling to come to terms with the crises of historical change The examination of Expressionist script and actor memoirs allows for an unprecedented focus on description and analysis of acting itself
