From Darkening Porches Poems By Jo McDougall:

From Darkening Porches Jo McDougall, 1996-01-01 In just five lines Jo McDougall can make you shudder Her poems are often as stark and open as their settings the Kansas plains and Southern bottomlands But in these wide fields and hot kitchens on these front porches where ordinary people tell their stories the everyday becomes fabled truth becomes hallowed To C D Wright McDougall writes a lean stoic line each poem makes its mark like spit In those lines McDougall brings to life farmers dressmakers widows and waitresses with such precise clarity that we take part in the strange delights the struggles the tangled mysteries of their faltering lives

What Persists Judith Kitchen, 2016 What Persists contains eighteen of the nearly fifty essays on poetry that Judith Kitchen published in The Georgia Review over a twenty five year span Coming at the genre from every possible angle this celebrated critic discusses work by older and younger poets most American but some foreign and many of whom were not yet part of the contemporary canon Her essays reveal a cultural history from the dismantling of the Berlin Wall through 9 11 and the Iraq War and move into today's political climate They chronicle personal interests while they also make note of what was happening in contemporary poetry by revealing overall changes of taste both in content and in the use of craft Over time they fashion a comprehensive overview of the contemporary literary scene At its best What Persists shows what a wide range of poetry is being written by women men poets who celebrate their ethnicity poets who show a fierce individualism poets whose careers have soared promising poets whose work has all but disappeared
