commonalities in the design development and people's perceptions of gardens and nature in both regions this volume substantiates important parallels in the revolutionary advancements in landscape architecture that took place during the era. The contributors explain how the exchange of gardeners as well as horticultural and irrigation techniques influenced design traditions in the two cultures examine concurrent shifts in garden and urban landscape design such as the move toward more public functionality and explore the mutually influential effects of politics economics and culture on composed outdoor space. In doing so they shed light on the complexity of cultures and politics during the Renaissance. Notes from the Garden Ruth Petrie, 2012-06-05 This charming guide gathers together writings on all aspects of British gardening from the nineteenth century plant hunters such as China Wilson and the Veitches who brought seeds and specimens from every corner of the world to the designers such as Capability Brown and Gertrude Jekyll who set their mark on gardening styles. In pieces written by the paper's stellar list of gardening correspondents Vita Sackville West Penelope Hobhouse Monty Don Carol Klein not to mention Christopher Lloyd the grand old man of British gardening it explores our dedication to the growing garden. And with stories about the restoration of the Lost Gardens of Heligan the building of the great glasshouses at Chatsworth and the preservation work carried out at Kew it paints a picture of how history can be unearthed through gardening and emphasises how important it is to preserve our green fingered heritage. Coming right up to the present day with pieces on the advances at the Eden project Notes on the Garden is the perfect bedside companion for anyone who loves the feeling of soil between their fingers.

Gardens of Philadelphia & the Delaware Valley William M. Klein, 1995 Once mostly rolling hills and valleys covered with hardwood forest in the seventeenth century contemporary Philadelphia and the Delaware Valley now claim the largest concentration of many of the finest public and private gardens in the world. William M. Klein explores the broader attitudes and behaviors toward nature that have influenced this development of colonial farms and gardens created for survival to the art of suburban gardens to nature conservatories and public parks. Discover how in 300 years we have moved from fencing nature out to fencing nature in. Out of the past examine the worm fence at Colonial Pennsylvania Plantations overgrown by weeds as it would have been during Colonial times zigzagging across the fields tenuously holding back the great forest that presses down. Into the present consider the chain link fence at the John Heinz Wildlife Refuge at Tinicum that bounds a threatened wetland habitat from the intrusion of highways and reverberates to the sounds of traffic from I 95 and the Philadelphia International Airport. Klein's eloquent and knowledgeable narrative includes detailed portraits of forty four individual gardens all lustrously illustrated by noted garden photographer Derek Fell. While considering a particular garden's historical and social influences Klein discusses the philosophy behind each garden its planner's goals and even personality and the garden's interaction with surrounding architecture This complete guide also includes each location's address phone number hours of operation events and featured plants flowers and trees Yet this book goes far beyond the usual guides in this search for answers to the perennial questions of how and why each generation struggles to define its place in nature As we approach the twenty first century the garden has become the metaphor for how we must begin to view all nature today tended space where we collect name nurture and share our love of plants Author note Formerly Director of the Morris Arboretum of the University of Pennsylvania Dr William M Klein Jr is Executive Director of the National Tropical Botanical Garden in Lawai Hawaii In 1993 he was presented with the American Horticultural Society's Professional Award and has been a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science since 1989 He has published many important writings on nature botany and landscape including his previous book The Vascular Flora of Pennsylvania Annotated Checklist and Atlas Derek Fell is a widely published garden photographer and the author of more than 50 garden books and garden calendars
