From A Cornish Landscape:

From a Cornish Landscape David Watmough, 1975 Mysteries in the Cornish Landscape Tamsin Thomas, 1991-01-01
Clues: A Journal of Detection, Vol. 41, No. 1 (Spring 2023) Elizabeth Foxwell, 2023-10-19 For over two decades Clues has included the best scholarship on mystery and detective fiction With a combination of academic essays and nonfiction book reviews it covers all aspects of mystery and detective fiction material in print television and movies As the only American scholarly journal on mystery fiction Clues is essential reading for literature and film students and researchers popular culture aficionados librarians and mystery authors fans and critics around the globe Gothic Kernow: Cornwall as Strange Fiction Ruth Heholt, Tanya Krzywinska, 2022-01-11 Focussing on written and visual culture that is made in or made about Cornwall this book argues that Cornwall and the Scilly Isles known as Kernow in the Cornish language have a special relationship with Gothic one that has been overlooked in the literature on regional Gothic Imagining Nations Geoffrey Cubitt, 1998 Revisiting divisions of labour is a reflection on the making of a modern sociological classic text and its enduring influence on the discipline and beyond Ray Pahl's 1984 book is distinctive in the sustained impact it has had on how sociologists think about research and report on the changing nature of work and domestic life In this timely revisiting of a landmark project excerpts from the original are interspersed with contributions from leading researchers reflecting on the book and its effects in the ensuing three decades The book will be of interest to researchers students and lecturers in sociology and related disciplines The Last of the Celts Marcus Tanner, 2004-01-01 The author of Ireland's Holy Wars journeys through the Celtic world to discover the Celtic past and what remains of the authentic culture today discovering that Celtic revival is largely misplaced and that the threats to the world's Celtic communities and culture are relentless
The Femme Fatale: Images, Histories, Contexts Helen Hanson, Catherine O'Rawe, 2010-07-20 These essays trace the femme fatale across literature visual culture and cinema exploring the ways in which fatal femininity has been imagined in different cultural contexts and historical epochs and moving from mythical women such as Eve Medusa and the Sirens via historical figures such as Mata Hari to fatal women in contemporary cinema New Spaces for Climate Change Vera Köpsel, 2018-08-09 Vera Köpsel investigates the relevance of local perceptions of landscape and nature for the current topic of adaptation to climate change She highlights the influence that differing conceptualisations of landscape among actors in environmental management have on their perspectives on climate change and adaptation Qualitative empirical data from Cornwall UK constitutes a valuable foundation for an enhanced theoretical understanding of societal constructions of landscape and their implications for local negotiation processes Using the example of coastal erosion the author discusses how contrasting perceptions of a local landscape can significantly complicate consensus finding around physical material adaptation measures The Ethics of Sightseeing Dean MacCannell, 2011-05-19 Is travel inherently beneficial to human character Does it automatically educate and enlighten while also promoting tolerance peace and understanding In this challenging book Dean MacCannell identifies and overcomes common obstacles to ethical sightseeing Through his unique combination of personal observation and in depth scholarship MacCannell ventures into specific tourist destinations and attractions picturesque rural and natural landscapes hip urban scenes historic locations of tragic events Disney theme parks beaches and travel poster ideals He shows how strategies intended to attract tourists carry unintended consequences when they migrate to other domains of life and reappear as staged authenticity Demonstrating each act of sightseeing as an ethical test the book shows how tourists can realize the productive potential of their travel desires penetrate the collective unconscious and gain character insight and connection to the world British Women's Cinema Melanie Bell, Melanie Williams, 2009-09-15

British Women's Cinema examines the place of female centred films throughout British film history from silent melodrama and 1940s costume dramas right up to the contemporary British chick flick Culture and Economy

Ullrich Kockel, 2019-07-17 This title was first published in 2002 For many regions culture is considered the only viable resource they have for economic development Neo liberalist economics has become the dominant paradigm across a wide range of cultural contexts while the cultural contingency of this paradigm itself has been obscured In offering an empirically grounded anthropological critique of these issues the volume makes an original contribution to the international debate on culture and economy The case studies shed light on everyday practices used to establish culture's economic value and concepts of culture and economy employed by policy decision makers are scrutinized through studies of strategies and policies at various levels Aspects of economy such as the market are examined as cultural constructs in a historical context Illustrated by international case studies the volume provides a compelling and insightful survey of the theories and practices that shape the polyvalent relationships between culture and economy in the twenty first century Stranger Cities:

Australian Creation and the Ambidextrous Mind, a Profile of Portal Modernity Peter Murphy, 2023-06-19 Stranger Cities explores the metaphysics of Australian society and the clash between its competing strands of romantic culture and classic civilization The social expression artistic resonance economic significance civic character historic phases mythic representations creative antinomies and imaginative contribution of these metaphysical fundamentals form the background of Australia's distinctive urban civilization with its bustling stranger populations ocean facing portal cities revealing art and architecture and cyclical worlds of markets and industries war and peace Murphy portrays a classic eudemonic society whose dominant ethos of phlegmatic happiness vies with a subsidiary current of melancholic and choleric romanticism Medieval

Devon and Cornwall Sam Turner, 2017-04-06 The countryside of Devon and Cornwall preserves an unusually rich legacy from its medieval past This book explores the different elements which go to make up this historic landscape the chapels crosses castles and mines the tinworks and strip fields and above all the intricately worked counterpane of hedgebanks and winding lanes Between AD 500 and 1700 a series of revolutions transformed the structure of the South West Peninsula's rural landscape The book tells the story of these changes and also explores how people experienced the landscape in which they lived how they came to imbue places with symbolic and cultural meaning Contributors include Ralph Fyfe on the pollen evidence of landscape change Sam Turner on the Christian landscape Peter Herring on both strip fields and Brown Willy Bodmin Moor O H Creighton and J P Freeman on castles Phil Newman on tin working and Lucy Franklin on folklore and imagined landscapes

Femininity in the Frame Melanie Bell, 2009-11-18 It is widely assumed that Britain in the 1950s experienced a return to traditional gender roles Popular cinema has typically been seen to represent this era through the dominant image of the happy housewife Femininity in the Frame is a sharply observant account of how British cinema engaged with femininity and women's roles during this important period Written in a lively and accessible manner it challenges received understandings arguing that the period was marked by social unease and anxiety about gender roles and femininity with much British cinema producing ambiguous messages about feminine identities and the role of women Through analysing marginalized figures such as prostitutes criminals and femmes fatales and addressing central themes notably sexuality marriage and female friendship Melanie Bell examines how British popular cinema imagined and constructed femininity in this era of rapid social and cultural change She draws together sources ranging from official reports to film reviews with case studies of films across genres including The Perfect Woman Young Wives Tale The Weak and the Wicked and A Town Like Alice to show how new ideas and understandings of femininity were seeping into the cultural imagery at this time She demonstrates how such films expressed proto feminist ideas and how they ultimately explored new forms of femininity in a manner that has not until now been recognised

Making Sense of an Historic Landscape Stephen Rippon, 2012-07-12 Why is it that in some places around the world communities live in villages while elsewhere people live in isolated houses scattered across the landscape How does archaeology analyse the relationship between man and his environment Making Sense of an Historic Landscape explores why landscapes are so varied and how the landscape archaeologist or historian can understand these differences Local variation in the character of the countryside provides communities with an important sense of place and this book suggests that some of these differences can be traced back to prehistory In his discussion Rippon makes use of a wide range of sources and techniques including archaeological material documentary sources maps field and place names and the evidence contained within houses that are still lived in today to illustrate how local and regional variations in the historic landscape can be understood Rippon uses the Blackdown Hills in southern England which marked an important boundary in landscape character from prehistory onwards as a specific case study to be applied as a model for other landscape areas Even today the fields place names and styles of domestic architecture are very different either side of the Blackdown Hills and it is suggested that these differences in landscape character developed because of deep rooted differences in the nature of society that are found right across southern England Although focused on the more recent past the volume also explores the medieval Roman and prehistoric periods

The End of Tradition? Ian D. Rotherham, 2014 The threats from global cultural change and abandonment of traditional landscape management increased in the last half of the twentieth century and ten years into the twenty first century show no signs of slowing down Their impacts on global biodiversity and on people disconnected from their traditional landscapes pose real and serious economic and social problems which need to be addressed now The End of Tradition conference held in Sheffield UK was organised by Ian D Rotherham and colleagues It addressed the fundamental issues of whether we can conserve the biodiversity of wonderful and iconic landscapes and reconnect people to their natural environment And if we can how can we do so and make them relevant for the twenty first century The book is in two parts Part 1 A History of Commons and Commons Management and Part 2 Commons Current Management and Problems Cultural Landscape Report for Saint-Gaudens National Historic Site: Recent history, existing conditions, and analysis Marion Pressley, Cynthia Zaitzevsky, 2009 The Cornish Landscape William George Victor Balchin, 1983-01-01 Cultural Landscape Report for Saint-Gaudens National Historic Site Marion Pressley, 1993 Gourmet Cornwall Carol Trewin, 2005 Talks about the food and drink of Cornwall and the Isles of Scilly the dedicated men and women who produce it and the chefs who create some of the finest contemporary dishes This book features a study of regional food in Britain
