Levinson, 2000 This anthology introduces some of the most influential literature shaping our understanding of the social and cultural foundations of education today Together the selections provide students a range of approaches for interpreting and designing educational experiences worthy of the multicultural societies of our present and future The reprinted selections are contextualized in new interpretive essays written specifically for this volume Handbook of Qualitative Research in Education Sara Delamont, 2012-01-01 The Handbook of Qualitative Research in Education offers both basic and advanced discussions of data collection analysis and representation of all the best qualitative methods used in educational research It contains four comprehensive yet concise sections on perspectives settings data collection and data analysis and representation Authors from North America Europe Australia and New Zealand contribute to a wide ranging and provocative Handbook that will inspire novice researchers and re invigorate experienced scholars Its 44 well documented chapters will serve academics and graduate students in educational research across all sectors of education from pre school to graduate school and all settings from formal to non formal An Introduction to Childhood Heather Montgomery, 2011-09-09 In An Introduction to Childhood Heather Montgomery examines the role children have played within anthropology how they have been studied by anthropologists and how they have been portrayed and analyzed in ethnographic monographs over the last one hundred and fifty years Offers a comprehensive overview of childhood from an anthropological perspective Draws upon a wide range of examples and evidence from different geographical areas and belief systems Synthesizes existing literature on the anthropology of childhood while providing a fresh perspective Engages students with illustrative ethnographies to illuminate key topics and themes The Development of the Concept of Space as Observed in Children's Drawings Betsy Nan Hess-Behrens, 1973 The Handbook of the Study of Play James E. Johnson, Scott G. Eberle, Thomas S. Henricks, David Kuschner, 2015-02-05 The Handbook of the Study of Play brings together in two volumes thinkers whose diverse interests at the leading edge of scholarship and practice define the current field Because play is an activity that humans have shared across time place and culture and in their personal developmental timelines and because this behavior stretches deep into the evolutionary past no single discipline can lay claim to exclusive rights to study the subject Thus this handbook features the thinking of evolutionary psychologists ethologists and biologists neuroscientists developmental psychologists psychotherapists and play therapists historians sociologists and anthropologists cultural psychologists philosophers theorists of music performance and dance specialists in learning and language acquisition and playground designers Together but out of their varied understandings the incisive contributions to The Handbook take on vital questions of educational policy of literacy of fitness of the role of play in brain development of spontaneity and pleasure of well being and happiness of fairness and of the fuller realization of the self These volumes also comprise an intellectual history retrospective looks at the great thinkers who have made possible the modern study of play

Studying Contemporary Western Society Margaret Mead, 2004 Few anthropologists today realize the pioneering role Margaret Mead played in the investigation of contemporary cultures This volume collects and presents a variety of her essays on research methodology relating to contemporary culture Many of these essays were printed originally in limited circulation journals research reports and books edited by others They reflect Mead's continuing commitment to searching out methods for studying and extending the anthropologist's tools of investigation for use in complex societies Essays on American and European societies intergenerational relations architecture and social space industrialization and interracial relations are included in this varied and exciting collection

International Handbook of Research in Professional and Practice-based Learning Stephen Billett, Christian Harteis, Hans Gruber, 2014-07-15 The International Handbook of Research in Professional and Practice based Learning discusses what constitutes professionalism examines the concepts and practices of professional and practice based learning including associated research traditions and educational provisions It also explores professional learning in institutions of higher and vocational education as well the practice settings where professionals work and learn focusing on both initial and ongoing development and how that learning is assessed The Handbook features research from expert contributors in education studies of the professions and accounts of research methodologies from a range of informing disciplines It is organized in two parts The first part sets out conceptions of professionalism at work how professions work and learning can be understood and examines the kinds of institutional practices organized for developing occupational capacities The second part focuses on procedural issues associated with learning for and through professional practice and how assessment of professional capacities might progress The key premise of this Handbook is that during both initial and ongoing professional development individual learning processes are influenced and shaped through their professional environment and practices Moreover in turn the practice and processes of learning through practice are shaped by their development all of which are required to be understood through a range of research orientations methods and findings This Handbook will appeal to academics working in fields of professional practice including those who are concerned about developing these capacities in their students In addition students and research students will also find this Handbook a key reference resource to the field

Food Policy and Practice in Early Childhood

Education and Care Francesca Vaghi, 2023-11-24 This book is about food and feeding in early childhood education and care offering an exploration of the intersection of children's food education family intervention and public health policies The notion of good food for children is often communicated as a matter of common sense by policymakers and public health authorities yet the social material and practical aspects of feeding children are far from straightforward Drawing on a detailed ethnographic study conducted in a London nursery and children's centre this book provides a close examination of the practices of childcare practitioners children and parents asking how the universalism of policy and bureaucracy fits with the particularism of feeding and eating in the early years Looking at the unintended consequences that emerged in the field such as contradictory public health messaging and arbitrary policy interventions the book reveals the harmful assumptions about disadvantaged groups that are perpetuated in policy discourse and challenges the constructs of individual choice and responsibility as main determinants of health Children's food practices at the nursery are examined to explore the notion that whilst for adults it is what children eat that often matters most to children it is how they eat that is more important This book contributes to a growing body of literature evidencing how children's food is a contested domain in which power relations are continuously negotiated This raises questions not only on how children can be included in policy beyond a tokenistic involvement but also on what children's well being might mean beyond the biomedical sphere The book will particularly appeal to students and scholars in food and health food policy childhood studies and medical anthropology Policymakers and non governmental bodies working in the domains of children's food and early years policies will also find this book of interest

Narrating the Future in Siberia Olga Ulturgasheva, 2012-09-01 The wider cultural universe of contemporary Eveny is a specific and revealing subset of post Soviet society From an anthropological perspective the author seeks to reveal not only the Eveny cultural universe but also the universe of the children and adolescents within this universe The first full length ethnographic study among the adolescence of Siberian indigenous peoples it presents the young people's narratives about their own future and shows how they form constructs of time space agency and personhood through the process of growing up and experiencing their social world The study brings a new perspective to the anthropology of childhood and uncovers a quite unexpected dynamic in narrating and foreshadowing the future while relating it to cultural patterns of prediction and fulfillment in nomadic cosmology

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Theories in Childhood Studies Sarada Balagopalan, John Wall, Karen Wells, 2023-11-02 The Bloomsbury Handbook of Theories in Childhood Studies brings together an international group of childhood studies scholars who work with a range of critical theories It speaks to both scholars and students by addressing questions such as how childhoods are diversely constructed and how children's experiences can be better understood The volume draws together a diversity of theoretical perspectives from the social sciences and humanities such as critical race studies disability studies posthumanism feminism politics decolonialism queer theory and postcolonialism to generate a much needed conversation about how to move childhood studies forward as a grounded field of research The volume is subdivided into three sections subjectivities relationalities and structures each of which addresses different but interrelated approaches to childhood studies theorization This handbook will be an essential text not just for childhood studies researchers but for all those interested in theorizing what childhood is what work it does and who children are
