Da Lontano Era Un'isola. English Bruno Munari, Rural Protest on Prince Edward Island Rusty Bittermann, 2006-12-15

Who has the more legitimate claim to land settlers who occupy and improve it with their labour or landlords who claim ownership on the basis of imperial grants This question of property rights and their construction was at the heart of rural protest on Prince Edward Island for a century Tenants resisted landlord claims by squatting and refusing to pay rent They fought for their vision of a just rural order through petitions meetings rallies electoral campaigns and direct action Landlords responded with their own collective action to protect their interests In Rural Protest on Prince Edward Island Rusty Bittermann examines this conflict and the dynamic of rural protest on the Island from its establishment as a British colony in the 1760s to the early 1840s The focus of Bittermann s study is the remarkable mass movement known as the Escheat movement which emerged in the 1830s in the context of growing popular challenges elsewhere in the Atlantic World The Escheat movement aimed at resolving the land question in favour of tenants by having the state resume escheat the large grants of land that created landlordism on the Island Although it ultimately gained control of the assembly in the late 1830s the Escheat movement did not produce the land policies that tenants and their allies advocated The movement did however synthesize years of rural protest and produce a persistent legacy of language and ideas concerning land justice and the rights of small producers that helped to make landlordism on the Island unsustainable in the long term Rural Protest on Prince Edward Island is a comprehensive and fascinating examination of an important but often overlooked period in the history of Canada's smallest province

Ambassadors from the Island of Immortals Zhenping Wang,2005-08-31 Using recent archaeological findings and little known archival material Wang Zhenping introduces readers to the world of ancient Japan as it was evolving toward a centralized state Competing Japanese tribal leaders engaged in ambassador diplomacy and actively sought Chinese support and recognition to strengthen their positions at home and to exert military influence on southern Korea They requested among other things the bestowal of Chinese insignia official titles gold seals and bronze mirrors Successive Chinese courts used the bestowal or denial of the insignia to conduct geopolitics in East Asia Wang explains in detail the rigorous criteria of the Chinese and Japanese courts in the selection of diplomats and how the two prepared for missions abroad He journeys with a party of Japanese diplomats from their tearful farewell party to hardship on the high seas to their arrival amidst the splendors of Yangzhou and Changan and the Sui Tang court The depiction of these colorful events is combined with a sophisticated analysis of premodern diplomacy using the key concept of mutual self interest and a discussion of two major modes of diplomatic communication court reception and the exchange of state letters Wang reveals how the parties involved conveyed diplomatic messages by making accepting or rejecting court ceremonial arrangements Challenging the traditional view of China's tributary system he argues that it was not a unilateral tool of hegemony but rather a game of interest and power in which multiple partners modified the rules depending on changing historical circumstances
