Recomposing Ecopoetics Lynn Keller, 2018-01-16 In the first book devoted exclusively to the ecopoetics of the twenty first century Lynn Keller examines poetry of what she terms the self conscious Anthropocene a period in which there is widespread awareness of the scale and severity of human effects on the planet Recomposing Ecopoetics analyzes work written since the year 2000 by thirteen North American poets including

Evelyn Reilly Juliana Spahr Ed Roberson and Jena Osman all of whom push the bounds of literary convention as they seek forms and language adequate to complex environmental problems Drawing as often on linguistic experimentalism as on traditional literary resources these poets respond to environments transformed by people and take nature to be a far more inclusive and culturally imbricated category than conventional nature poetry does This interdisciplinary study not only brings cutting edge work in ecocriticism to bear on a diverse archive of contemporary environmental poetry it also offers the environmental humanities new ways to understand the cultural and affective dimensions of the Anthropocene

The Cultural Life of Catastrophes and Crises Carsten Meiner, Kristin Veel, 2012-10-30 Catastrophes and crises are exceptions They are disruptions of order In various ways and to different degrees they change and subvert what we regard as normal They may occur on a personal level in the form of traumatic or stressful situations on a social level in the form of unstable political financial or religious situations or on a global level in the form of environmental states of emergency The main assumption in this book is that in contrast to the directness of any given catastrophe and its obvious physical economical and psychological consequences our understanding of catastrophes and crises is shaped by our cultural imagination No matter in which eruptive and traumatizing form we encounter them our collective repertoire of symbolic forms historical sensibilities modes of representation and patterns of imagination determine how we identify analyze and deal with catastrophes and crises This book presents a series of articles investigating how we address and interpret catastrophes and crises in film literature art and theory ranging from Voltaire's eighteenth century Europe haunted by revolutions and earthquakes to the 1994 genocide in Rwanda to the bleak prophetic landscapes of Cormac McCarthy

Ecosickness in Contemporary U.S. Fiction Heather Houser, 2014-06-03 The 1970s brought a new understanding of the biological and intellectual impact of environmental crises on human beings As efforts to prevent ecological and bodily injury aligned a new literature of sickness emerged Ecosickness fiction imaginatively rethinks the link between these forms of threat and the sick body to bring readers to environmental consciousness Tracing the development of ecosickness through a compelling archive of contemporary U S novels and memoirs Ecosickness in Contemporary U S Fiction establishes that we cannot comprehend environmental and medical dilemmas through data alone and must call on the sometimes surprising emotions that literary metaphors tropes and narratives deploy In chapters on David Foster Wallace Richard Powers Leslie Marmon Silko Marge Piercy Jan Zita Grover and David Wojnarowicz Heather Houser shows how narrative affects such as wonder and disgust organize perception of an endangered world and orient us ethically toward it The study builds the connective tissue between contemporary literature ecocriticism affect studies and the medical humanities It also positions ecosickness fiction relative to emergent forms of environmentalism and technoscientific innovations such as regenerative medicine and alternative ecosystems Houser models an approach to contemporary fiction as a laboratory for affective changes that spark or squelch ethical projects

Pacific Automobilism Gijs Mom, 2022-09-13 The beginning of the 21st century has seen important shifts in mobility cultures around the world as the West's media driven car culture has contrasted with existing local mobilities from rickshaws in India and minibuses in Africa to cycling in China In this expansive volume historian Gijs Mom explores how contemporary mobility has been impacted by social political and economic forces on a global scale as in light of local mobility cultures the car as an adventure machine seems to lose cultural influence in favor of the car's status character

Ecopoetics Angela Hume, Gillian Osborne, 2018-03-15 Ecopoetics Essays in the Field makes a formidable intervention into the emerging field of ecopoetics The volume's essays model new and provocative methods for reading twentieth and twenty first century ecological poetry and poetics drawing on the insights of ecocriticism contemporary philosophy gender and sexuality studies black studies Native studies critical race theory and disability studies among others Contributors offer readings of a diverse range of poets few of whom have previously been read as nature writers from midcentury Beat poet Michael McClure Objectivist poet George Oppen and African American poets Melvin Tolson and Robert Hayden to contemporary writers such as Din poet Sherwin Bitsui hybrid collage poets Claudia Rankine and Evelyn Reilly emerging QPOC poet Xandria Phillips and members of the Olimpias disability culture artists collective While addressing preconceptions about the categories of nature writing and ecopoetics contributors explore challenge and reimagine concepts that have been central to environmental discourse from apocalypse and embodiment to toxicity and sustainability This collection of essays makes the compelling argument that ecopoetics should be read as coextensive with post 1945 poetry and poetics rather than as a subgenre or movement within it It is essential reading for any student or scholar working on contemporary literature or in the environmental humanities today Contributors Joshua Bennett Rob Halpern Matt Hooley Angela Hume Lynn Keller Petra Kuppers Michelle Niemann Gillian Osborne Samia Rahimtoola Joan Retallack Joshua Schuster Jonathan Skinner

Sense of Place and Sense of Planet Ursula K. Heise, 2008-09-29 Sense of Place and Sense of Planet analyzes the relationship between the imagination of the global and the ethical commitment to the local in environmentalist thought and writing from the 1960s to the present Part One critically examines the emphasis on local identities and communities in North American environmentalism by establishing conceptual connections between environmentalism and ecocriticism on one hand and theories of globalization transnationalism and cosmopolitanism on the other It proposes the concept of eco cosmopolitanism as a shorthand for envisioning these connections and the cultural and aesthetic forms into which they translate Part Two focuses on conceptualizations of environmental danger and connects environmentalist and ecocritical thought with the interdisciplinary field of risk theory in the social sciences arguing that environmental justice theory and ecocriticism stand to benefit from closer consideration of the theories of cosmopolitanism that have arisen in this field from the analysis of transnational communities at risk Both parts of the book combine in depth theoretical discussion with detailed analyses of novels poems films computer software and installation artworks from the US and abroad that translate new connections between global national and local forms of awareness into innovative aesthetic forms combining allegory epic and views of the planet as a

Elizabeth C. Goldsmith, 2017-03-02 In this new study Elizabeth Goldsmith continues her pursuit of issues treated in her earlier books on conversation epistolary writing and the female voice in literature She examines how French women in the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries first came to publish their private life stories in doing so she explores what the writers have to say about why they decide to write about themselves what they choose to write how they get their stories circulated and printed and what they do to defend themselves against the threat to personal reputation and credibility that was implied by such public self exposure Goldsmith scrutinizes the autobiographical writing of six women all of whom were for different reasons the objects of fairly intense publicity during their lifetime at the historical moment when the idea of publicity via the printed word was still a new concept Three of the women Jeanne des Anges Marie de l'Incarnation and Jeanne Guyon were charismatic religious figures whose writings were widely circulated The other three writers the sisters Hortense and Marie Mancini and Madame de Villegieu are more worldly but like their spiritual counterparts they undertook self publication as a form of conversation with the world and a way of participating in other forms of public discourse Publishing Women's Life Stories in France 1647-1720 considers the different forms that the life writing of these three women took autobiographies letter correspondences which in four of the six cases have never before been published trial transcripts testimonials published as part of other authors works and written self portraits that were circulated among friends Drawing on the work of Michel de Certeau on voice and communities of readers in the 17th century as well as the work of Roger Chartier and other historians of the book and print culture Goldsmith retraces the complicated networks of human interaction that underlie these early a
