Edward Jenner and Vaccination (Classic Reprint) David Fraser Harris, 2016-10-26 Excerpt from Edward Jenner and Vaccination The year 1810 was a sad one for Jenner his eldest son died and that noticeably depressed his health In 1823 he presented a paper to the Royal Society on the migration of birds a subject not even yet fully cleared up On January as in the same year he was stricken with paralysis on the right side and died within twenty four hours His body was buried in the chancel of the parish church of Berkeley where there is a memorial window placed by public subscription In person Edward Jenner was short and rather heavily built his expression of face was pleasant with a touch of sadness All reports agree that in dress he was conspicuously neat looking more like a gentleman farmer than a physician with his blue coat yellow buttons red waistcoat but breeches and top boots About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works of vaccination have always been clouded in controversy Probing previous accounts flawed by myth or subjectivity this text sets the record straight Man s early attempts at stimulating immunity are rooted in folk wisdom of the distant past Vaccination was not a discovery or a medical breakthrough but a development from variolation substituting cowpox as an inoculum instead of smallpox Analysing relevant primary sources with an innovative approach this book reveals the geographical extent of awareness of Jesty s endeavour in Georgian England confirms his priority and seeks to establish his Intellectual Property for the first use of an empirical vaccine Jenner brought vaccination to the world His achievement will always take precedence but the findings of this new research suggest it is now time to honour Benjamin Jesty with the credit he deserves
