study of local Communist revolutionaries in Hainan between 1926 and 1956 provides a window into the diversity and complexity of the Chinese revolution Long at the margins of the Chinese state Hainan was once known by mainlanders only for its malarial climate and fierce indigenous people In spite of efforts by the Chinese Nationalists and the Japanese to exterminate Hainan's Communists the movement survived because of an alliance with the indigenous Li For years it persevered though in complete isolation from Communist headquarters on the mainland Using Chinese language sources maintains the largest collection of archival materials relating to the Chinese Republican era 1911-1949 outside of China. Most of the archival materials are also unique and the collections contain special materials supplementing historical records in China and Taiwan. In many cases, North America's holdings represent the best and only public access to the tumultuous Republican government and society of the first half of the twentieth century. An essential guide for researchers and students of Republican China, this volume presented in both English and Chinese covers personal papers, correspondences, memoirs, diaries, photographs, moving images, and other materials held at academic and research institutions across the United States and Canada. It includes concise descriptions of the people, organizations, and events connected to each entry and notes when certain collections are closely related and when materials are digitized for online access. The book corrects common errors associated with the library records of many archives and updates or completes information on the objects of these records. More than a straightforward itemization, this book adds significant depth to any research on the history and global import of China's modern development.

A STUDY ON JAPANESE MILITARY "COMFORT WOMEN" Zhiliang Su, 2019-11-04. In the history of Asia, the disasters such as the war of aggression launched by Japan are unprecedented. The issue of comfort women has not yet become history. History is an objective reality. In the 1930s, the war of aggression launched by Japanese militarism brought great disasters to the Chinese people and the people of Asian countries including Japan itself. No one can deny and overturn the historical facts. History is a mirror which provides people with positive and negative lessons. Whether Japan should follow the path of peaceful development or repeat the mistakes of militarism is a matter of great concern to the people of all Asian countries who were once victims of Japanese aggression. It is also a matter for far-sighted Japanese politicians to consider seriously.
