Educational Technology Ronghuai Huang, J. Michael Spector, Junfeng Yang, 2019-02-27 The aim of this book is to prepare students with knowledge and skills to understand the organizational needs and requirements of educational technology Students should be able to use and manage both existing and emerging technologies effectively and be able to apply associated pedagogies to suit the environment but also evaluate and manage technological advances of future and the requisite pedagogical shifts to achieve efficiency and effectiveness The demand of educational technology has been rising steadily primarily due to the fact that e learning is a huge and significantly expanding world wide industry Commercial e learning companies training departments in large companies and organizations computer software companies and educational institutions the world over employ large numbers of educational technology specialists There is a strong demand for technologists who understand educational theories and for instructional designers and teachers who understand technologies This book is targeted towards those who are looking for career in educational technology instructional design or media and information systems or may want to continue their studies in graduate programs in learning and instructional technology and those who are interested in becoming teacher in K 12 setting but need background in educational technology This book will also act as a valuable resource in teacher education programs where primary focus on mainstream education and requires an authentic resource in instructional design and educational technology Keeping in mind the varied needs of the organizations employees and potential students this book adopts a competency approach to learning and assessment The themes and topics take a multi disciplinary approach and are aimed at preparing students for competent and innovative educational technology professionals Educational Technology in Practice Wanjira Kinuthia, Stewart Marshall, 2010-05-01 The field of educational technology is one that requires a high level of problem solving critical thinking and interpersonal skills to solve problems that are often complex and multi dimensional Analyzing cases provides an opportunity to explore professional issues through an environment that allows action researchers practitioners and students to analyze and reflect on relevant theories and techniques to understand a real problem ponder solutions and consequences and develop responses Hence this book seeks to provide relevant authentic and realistic cases for such exploration This book is guided by the premise that the cases presented will serve as a platform for researchers practitioners and students to share experiences and best practices in both developing and developed contexts in an endeavor to bridge the knowledge divide Throughout the book various challenges are addressed and educational technology tools and strategies are subsequently employed in an effort to minimize the issues Notwithstanding the book also highlights successes and accomplishments in areas and contexts in which educational technology is being harnessed including reaching more learners providing more affordable options and building capacity Because of the interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary nature of the field and the cases this book is useful not only in educational technology but also in other fields A Facilitator Guide is provided for each chapter for educators with their learners Integrating Educational Technology Into Teaching M. D. Roblyer, Jack Edwards, Mary Anne Havriluk, 1997 Educational Technology Beyond Content Brad Hokanson, Gregory Clinton, Andrew A. Tawfik, Amy Grincewicz, Matthew Schmidt, 2020-04-09 This book is the outcome of a research symposium sponsored by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology AECT Consisting of twenty four chapters including an introduction and conclusion it argues that informational content should not be the main element of education and that to provide more for learners it is necessary to go beyond content and address other skills and capabilities It also discusses the false premise that learning is complete when the information is known not when learners seek more their own directions answers and ideas The authors assert that the ability to synthesize solve problems and generate ideas is not based on specific content although education often focuses solely on teaching content Further they state that content can be separated from the learning process and that instructional design and educational technology must be about the skills habits and beliefs to be learned
