Food And The Memory Proceedings Of The Oxford Symposium On Food And Cookery :

Food and the Memory Harlan Walker, 2001 This is the eighteenth volume of the ongoing series of papers and submissions to the Oxford Symposium on Food Cookery the longest running food history conference in the world The subject this year is more speculative than is often the case and contributors have ranged widely over a topic which allows them to explore the psychological bases of food consumption and the development of cookery as well as more obvious excursions down memory lane in pursuit of food and drink

The Meal Harlan Walker, 2002 This volume of papers presented at the Oxford Symposium on Food and Cookery follows the pattern of previous collections The Symposium entitled Food and Memory was held in September 2000 at St Antony's College Oxford under the joint chairmanship of Alan Davidson and Theodore Zeldin

Food in Memory and Imagination Beth Forrest, Greg de St. Maurice, 2022-01-13 How do we engage with food through memory and imagination This expansive volume spans time and space to illustrate how through food people have engaged with the past the future and their alternative presents Beth M Forrest and Greg de St Maurice have brought together first class contributions from both established and up and coming scholars to consider how imagination and memory intertwine and sometimes diverge Chapters draw on cases around the world including Iran Italy Japan Kenya and the US and include topics such as national identity food insecurity and the phenomenon of knowledge Contributions represent a range of disciplines including anthropology history philosophy psychology and sociology This volume is a veritable feast for the contemporary food studies scholar

Food, Feminisms, Rhetorics Melissa A. Goldthwaite, 2017-06-19 Inspired by the need for interpretations and critiques of the varied messages surrounding what and how we eat Food Feminisms Rhetorics collects eighteen essays that demonstrate the importance of food and food related practices as sites of scholarly study particularly from feminist rhetorical perspectives Contributors analyze messages about food and bodies from what a person watches and reads to where that person shops taken from sources mundane and literary personal and cultural This collection begins with analyses of the historical cultural and political implications of cookbooks and recipes explores definitions of feminist food writing and ends with a focus on bodies and cultures both self representations and representations of others for particular rhetorical purposes The genres objects and practices contributors study are varied from cookbooks to genre fiction from blogs to food systems from product packaging to paintings but the overall message is the same food and its associated practices are worthy of scholarly attention

Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren Janes, 2016-02-25 In the wake of the First World War in which France suffered severe food shortages colonial produce became an increasingly important element of the French diet The colonial lobby seized upon these foodstuffs as powerful symbols of the importance of the colonial project to the life of the French nation But how was colonial food really received by the French public And what does this tell us about the place of empire in French society In Colonial Food in Interwar Paris Lauren Janes disputes the claim that empire was central to French history and identity arguing that the distrust of colonial food reflected a wider disinterest in the empire From Indochinese rice to North African grains and tropical fruit to curry powder this book offers an intriguing and original challenge to current orthodoxy about the centrality of empire to modern France by examining the place of colonial foods in the nation s capital

The 4-hour Chef Timothy Ferriss, 2012 Building upon Timothy Ferriss s internationally successful 4 hour franchise The 4 Hour Chef transforms the way we cook eat and learn Featuring recipes and cooking tricks from world renowned chefs and interspersed with the radically counterintuitive advice Ferriss s fans have come to expect The 4 Hour Chef is a practical but unusual guide to mastering food and cooking whether you are a seasoned pro or a blank slate novice

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Food and Material Cultures Irina D. Mihalache, Elizabeth Zanoni, 2023-02-23 Cookbooks Menus Ingredients Dishes Pots Kitchens Markets Museum exhibitions These objects representations and environments are part of what the volume calls the material cultures of food The book features leading scholars professionals and chefs who apply a material cultural perspective to consider two relatively unexplored questions 1 What is the material culture of food and 2 How are frameworks concepts and methods of material culture used in scholarly research and professional practice This book acknowledges that materiality is historically and culturally specific local but also global as food both transcends and collapses geographical and ideological borders Contributors capture the malleability of food its material environments and stuff and its representations in media museums and marketing while following food through cycles of production circulation and consumption As many of the featured authors explore food and its many material and immaterial manifestations not only reflect social issues but also actively produce preserve and disrupt identities communities economic systems and everyday social practices The volume includes contributions from and interviews with a dynamic group of scholars museum and information professionals and chefs who represent diverse disciplines such as communication studies anthropology history American studies folklore and food studies

Ancient Jewish Food in Its Geographical and Cultural Contexts Susan Weingarten, 2025-03-25 This book is the first in depth study of food in talmudic literature in its geographical and cultural contexts It demonstrates the sharing of foods and foodways between Jews and their non Jewish neighbours in the Near East in Late Antiquity Using both ancient written sources and archaeological evidence this book sets the foods of the Mishnah and Palestinian Talmud in their Graeco Roman context and the foods of the Babylonian Talmud and the ge onim in their Persian and Arab contexts It explores practices of food preparation and their contribution to the ancient diet as well as analysing the relationships between food status and culture The rabbinical authors of talmudic literature were more concerned with everyday food than were aristocratic Classical authors by examining both talmudic sources and archaeological finds this book paints a new picture of the diet lifestyle and culture of ordinary people Ancient Jewish Food in Its Geographical and Cultural Contexts will interest Food Historians as well as students and scholars of Jewish Studies particularly the period of the Mishnah and Talmud as well as those dealing with the wider social and cultural history of the Ancient Near East Coming To, and Staying In, the Poorest Country in the EU Petko Hristov, Ivaylo Markov, Violeta Perikleva, Desislava Pileva, 2023-07-11 This book is a multi layered scientific study of the immigrants who have come to Bulgaria since 1990 specifically their patterns of movement settlement social networks identity dynamics integration and adaptation their impact on the social environment and changes in the cultural specifics Until recently studies on immigration in Bulgaria have mainly been oriented towards particular communities within the framework of ethnic studies The chapters in this volume do not ignore immigrants ethnicity and origins but their main focus is reasons for migration be they economic educational political marital or lifestyle based The book examines several important factors of settlement in Bulgaria interaction between the local population and immigrants stereotypes and attitudes towards the newcomers as well as the influence of local kinship and social networks and contacts

African American Foodways Anne Bower, 2009 Moving beyond catfish and collard greens to the soul of African American cooking

The Metamorphosis of Greek Cuisine Nafsika Papacharalampous, 2023-11-10 This book is an ethnography of the metamorphosis of rural foods and traditional dishes and of the making of cuisine and identity in contemporary Athens In the wake of the financial crisis in Athens in the mid 2015s forgotten rural foods of the past are transformed into luxurious artisanal foods while traditional dishes appear reinvented in fine dining restaurants after decades of darkness How and why is this all happening in a city of poverty hardship and economic crisis Through sensory descriptions and thick ethnographic material it follows the Athenian affluent middle class in upscale delis and goes inside fine dining restaurant kitchens discussing the complex combination of cuisine tradition memory and identity revealing the cultural logic and social aspects of cuisine It demonstrates how cuisine emerges from very different often contradictory social spaces not only as an intellectual and aesthetic endeavour of chefs or as a revival of foods and foodways that link the country and the city but also as interlinked with embodied memories and embedded in social relations and commensality This book will be of great interest to scholars and students in Anthropology and Food Studies

Consumer trends and new product opportunities in the food sector Klaus G. Grunert, 2023-08-07 The food sector is changing Consumers want not only tasty and healthy food products but products that are sustainable and authentic At the same time new developments in farming food processing and retailing open up new opportunities in the development of food products Bridging these challenges and opportunities is a major task for food marketing This book traces consumer trends regarding healthiness sustainability authenticity and convenience It gives an introduction to current developments in farming in food processing technology and in retailing It also explains how segmentation and consumer led product development can lead to new food products in response to these trends

The Edible Monument Marcia Reed, 2015-10-13 The Edible Monument considers the elaborate architecture sculpture and floats made of food that were designed for court and civic celebrations in early modern Europe These include popular festivals such as Carnival and the Italian Cuccagna Like illuminations and fireworks ephemeral artworks made of food were not well documented and were challenging to describe because they were perishable and thus quickly consumed or destroyed In times before photography and cookbooks there were neither literary models nor a repertoire of conventional images for how food and its preparation should be explained or depicted Although made for consumption food could also be a work of art both as a special attraction and as an expression of power Formal occasions and spontaneous celebrations drew communities together while special foods and seasonal menus revived ancient legends evoking memories and recalling shared histories values and tastes Drawing on books prints and scrolls that document festival arts elaborate banquets and street feasts the essays in this volume examine the mythic themes and personas employed to honor and celebrate rulers the methods materials and wares used to prepare depict and serve food and how foods such as sugar were transformed to express political goals or accomplishments This book is published on the occasion of an exhibition at the Getty Research Institute from October 13 2015 to March 23 2016

The Taste of Empire Lizzie Collingham, 2017-10-03 A history of the British Empire told through twenty meals eaten around the world In The Taste of Empire acclaimed historian Lizzie Collingham tells the story of how the British Empire's quest for food shaped the modern world Told through twenty meals over the course of 450 years from the Far East to the New World Collingham explains how Africans taught Americans how to grow rice how the East India Company turned opium into tea and how Americans became the best fed people in the world In The Taste of Empire Collingham masterfully shows that only by examining the history of Great Britain's global food system from sixteenth century Newfoundland fisheries to our present day eating habits can we fully understand our capitalist economy and its role in making our modern diets

Food and Identity in Nineteenth and Twentieth Century Ghana Brandi Simpson Miller, 2022-01-11 This book investigates how cooking eating and identity are connected to the local micro climates in each of Ghana's major eco culinary zones. The work is based on several years of researching Ghanaian culinary history and cuisine including field work, archival research, and interdisciplinary investigation. The political economy of Ghana is used as an analytical framework with which to investigate the following questions: How are traditional food production structures in Ghana coping with global capitalist production, distribution, and consumption? How do land, climate, and weather structure or provide the foundation for food consumption, and how does that affect the separate traditional and capitalist production sectors? Despite the post WWII food fight that launched Ghana's bid for independence from the British empire, Ghana's story demonstrates the centrality of local foods and cooking to its national character. The cultural weight of regional traditional foods, their power to satisfy, and the overall collective social emphasis on the proper meal have persisted in Ghana irrespective of centuries of trade with Europeans. This book will be of interest to scholars in food studies, comparative studies, and African studies, and is sure to capture the interest of students in new ways.

The Secret Lives of Color Kassia St. Clair, 2017-10-24. One of USA Today's 100 Books to Read While Stuck at Home During the Coronavirus Crisis. A dazzling gift, the unforgettable unknown history of colors and the vivid stories behind them in a beautiful multi-colored volume. Beautifully written, full of anecdotes and fascinating research, this elegant compendium has all the answers. NPR Best Books of 2017. The Secret Lives of Color tells the unusual stories of seventy-five fascinating shades, dyes, and hues. From blonde to ginger, the brown that changed the way battles were fought to the white that protected against the plague, Picasso's blue period to the charcoal on the cave walls at Lascaux, acid yellow to Kelly green, and from scarlet women to imperial purple, these surprising stories run like a bright thread throughout history. In this book, Kassia St. Clair has turned her lifelong obsession with colors and where they come from, whether Van Gogh's chrome yellow sunflowers or punk's fluorescent pink, into a unique study of human civilization. Across fashion and politics, art and war, the secret lives of color tell the vivid story of our culture. This passionate and majestic compendium will leave you bathed in the gorgeous optics of light.

Significant Food Jeff Birkenstein, Robert C. Hauhart, 2024. Significant Food is a collaborative work of textual analysis and criticism that chews on the role and prominence of food in American literature. The volume offers close readings of many well-known and some less well-known examples of American writing as studied through the food culture sensibilities of a well-stocked cupboard of contributors who offer their analyses for public consumption. Editors Jeff Birkenstein and Robert C. Hauhart find that literary criticism has focused on the role food plays in literary production to a greater extent than recognized at first glance, and that its role has become increasingly common only in the last two decades Still while there is critical commentary regarding authors use of food across the expanse of American literature there has been a lack of a unifying critical theories to guide these analyses Birkenstein and Hauhart offer the theory of significant food a method that asks literary critics to evaluate and assess the extent nature and role that food plays in literary production When food and food moments are used intensively and significantly within the drama memoir poem novel short story or other writing then one can say that it has achieved a status that makes it indispensable to the work at hand
