Footprints On The Land American Stories About Race:

Footprints on the Land Helen H. Helfer, 2003 Racism Albert J. Wheeler, 2005 Of all mankind's vices racism is one of the most pervasive and stubborn. Success in overcoming racism has been achieved from time to time but victories have been limited thus far because mankind has focused on personal economic gain or power grabs ignoring generosity of the soul. This bibliography brings together the literature Race and Racialization, 2E Tania Das Gupta, Carl E. James, Chris Andersen, Grace-Edward Galabuzi, Roger C. A. Maaka, 2018-02-01 Few words have generated as much debate and controversy as the word race. Through a critical examination of this complex subject this anthology brings together essential contributions to the study of race and racialization. An excellent compilation of classic and contemporary works by academic and activist writers. Race and Racialization provides historical comparative and global perspectives on race and its intersection with gender, class, ethnicity, indigeneity and sexuality. This well updated second edition includes a new section on state multiculturalism and a diverse ensemble of Canadian and international contributors who explore such relevant themes as colonialism, institutional racism, ethnocentrism, privilege, marginalization and resistance. Featuring introductions to each piece written by the editors, annotated lists of supplementary readings to encourage further exploration and contributions by activists from Idle No More and Black Lives Matter, this comprehensive and highly accessible anthology is perfect for students studying race, racism, cultural diversity, identity and belonging, social inequality and social justice. The Earth, the City, and the Hidden Narrative of Race Carl Anthony, 2017-10-10 In this work Carl Anthony shares his perspectives as an African American child in post World War II Philadelphia, a student and civil rights activist in 1960s Harlem, a traveling student of West African architecture and an architect, planner and environmental justice advocate in Berkeley. He contextualizes this within American urbanism and human origins, making profoundly personal both African American and American urban histories as well as planetary origins and environmental issues to not only bring a new worldview to people of color but to set forth a truly inclusive vision of our shared planetary future. The Earth, the City, and the Hidden Narrative of Race connects the logics behind slavery, community disinvestment and environmental exploitation to address the most pressing issues of our time in a cohesive and foundational manner. Most books dealing with these topics and periods silo issues apart from one another but this book contextualizes the connections between social movements and issues, providing tremendous insight into successful movement building. Anthony's rich narrative describes both being at the mercy of racism, urban disinvestment and environmental injustice as well as fighting against these forces with a variety of strategies. Because this work is both a personal memoir and an exposition of ideas it will appeal to those who appreciate thoughtful and unique writing on issues of race, including individuals exploring their own African American identity as well as progressive audiences of organizations and community leaders and professionals interested in democratizing power and advancing equitable policies for low income communities and historically disenfranchised communities. Reading the Short Story Anna

Neo-race Realities in the Obama Era Heather E. Harris,2019-05-01 Neo race Realities in the Obama Era expands the discourse about Barack Obama s two terms as president by reflecting upon the impact of neo racism during his tenure Continually in conversation with tienne Balibar s conceptualization of neo racism as being racism without race the contributors examine how identities become the target of neo racist discriminatory practices and policies in the United States Individual chapters explore how President Obama s multiple and intersecting identities beyond the racial binaries of Black and White were perceived as well as how his presence impacted certain marginalized groups in our society as a result of his administration s policies Evidencing the hegemonic complexity of neo racism in the United States the contributors illustrate how the mythic post race society that many wished for on election night in 2008 was deferred in order to return to the uncomfortable comfort zone of the way America used to be

Out of Turmoil Dean P. Vesperman,Anne Aydinian-Perry,Matthew T. Missias,Whitney G. Blankenship,2023-01-01 It is not difficult to argue that the social sciences are in a period of transition Our day to day lives have been marked by uncertainty as our social lives have vacillated wildly between highs and lows tensions between fellow citizens have heightened along ideological fault lines and educators have been placed squarely at the center of public discourses about what and how we should be teaching By any measure we are living in a time where every moment seems to be rife with high stakes realities that must be navigated Ladson Billings 2020 called on educators to reimagine education and contest the notion of a return to normal In the current highly polarized context where we see multiple competing narratives rather than promoting a return to normal or business as usual approach we argue that educators must use the lessons of the last two years as well as draw on what we have learned from history and the social sciences By asking ourselves how we might interrogate and inform current social landscapes and the challenges that arise from them we have the opportunity to take leadership in fostering innovation building solidarity and re imagining the teaching and learning of history and the social sciences We recognize that humans live in multiple complex communities that include intersectional identities relationships with power agency and discourses and lived realities that are as unique as they are divergent Consequently the task of educators and the goal of this volume is to provide a clarion voice to a dynamic relational and undeniably human social world

Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction Liliana M. Naydan, 2016-05-23 Rhetorics of Religion in American Fiction considers the way in which contemporary American authors address the subject of belief in the post 9 11 Age of Terror Naydan suggests that after 9 11 fiction by Mohsin Hamid Laila Halaby Philip Roth Don DeLillo John Updike and Barbara Kingsolver dramatizes and works to resolve impasses that exist between believers of different kinds at the extremes These impasses emerge out of the religious paradox that shapes America as simultaneously theocratic and secular and they exist for instance between liberals and fundamentalists between liberals and certain evangelicals between fundamentalists and artists and between fundamentalists of different varieties Ultimately Naydan argues that these authors function as literary theologians of sorts and forge a relevant space beyond or between extremes They fashion faith or lack thereof as hybridized and hence as a negotiation among secularism atheism faith fundamentalism and fanaticism In so doing they invite their readers into contemplations of religious difference and new ways of memorializing 9 11
