Footsteps of the Master Harriet Beecher Stowe,1877

Footsteps of the Master Harriet Beecher Stowe,2014-10-01 From the introductory Rex Lux Lex Dux WHEN a city is closely besieged and many of its outworks destroyed the defenders retreat to the citadel In our day there is warm fighting about the outworks of Christianity Many things are battered down that used to be thought indispensable to its defence It is time to retreat to the citadel and that citadel is Christ The old mediaeval symbol shown above is still more than ever good for our day Jesus Christ of Nazareth is still our King our Light our Law our Leader These names comprise all that a human being needs in this transitory perplexing and dangerous pilgrimage of life We are born to suffer The very conditions of our mortal existence here imply suffering of the most terrible kind as a possibility a probability or a certainty We have affections absorbing our whole being which are hourly menaced by danger and by death at any moment our sweetest joys may become sources only of bitterest remembrance We are born to perplexity We stand amid the jar and conflict of a thousand natural laws to us inexplicable and which every hour threaten us in ourselves or those dearer than ourselves We stand often in no less perplexity of moral law in ways where the path of duty and right is darkened and beset We are born to die At the end of every possible road of life lies the dark River the unknown future If we cling to life it is only to see it wither gradually in our hands to see friends dropping from our side places vacant at our fireside infirmities and pains gathering about us and a new generation with their impetuous energies rising around us to say Why do you wait here Why are you not gone And the Hereafter What is it Who will go with us into that future where no friend however dear can accompany the soul What hand of power and love will take ours in the last darkness when we have let go all others The dear old book which we call the Bible gives our answer to all this It tells us of a Being so one with the great Author of nature and Source of all power that whoso hath seen him hath seen the Creator It tells us that all things that we behold in our material world were made by him and for him that it pleased the Father that in him should all fullness dwell and that to him all things in heaven and on earth are made subject It shows him to us from the beginning of time as constantly absorbed in the care and education of this world of ours He has been the Desire of all nations predicted waited for come at last

In the Footsteps of the Master, 1976 Breaking Boundaries Nancy Calvert-Koyzis, Heather Weir, 2010-08-26 While people often believe that the feminist movements in Britain and North America began in the late twentieth century this is certainly not the case Women throughout the centuries have sought to break out of the constraints that their societies deemed appropriate for them For interpreters in the Christian tradition this often meant examining biblical texts that had been understood in ways that demeaned women and using their interpretations to encourage women to break out of their culturally proscribed spheres The essays in this volume are drawn from the Recovering Female Interpreters of the Bible Consultation at the SBL Annual Meeting and from sessions on female interpreters of Scripture at the Canadian Society of Biblical Studies The essays address female interpreters of the Bible such as Eudocia and Anna Jameson whose publications have been largely ignored in the fields of the history of biblical interpretation and reception history Through their publications these women used their interpretive and theological skills to break the boundaries that previous interpretations of the Bible and their societies imposed upon them
