Clarks: Made to Last Mark Palmer, 2013-04-11 Clarks reach extends to all corners of the globe and yet it remains a family owned business firmly rooted in its Quaker origins unlike other well known Quaker firms like Cadburys now part of US giant Kraft Founded in 1825 by two brothers Cyrus and James Clark the company began as a rug making operation in the then tiny village of Street Somerset One day James Clark began making slippers from off cuts of rugs and found that people wanted to buy them Slippers became shoes and boots and a business was born Over the years it has had its ups and downs but it has always strived to remain true to its Quaker values in its commitment to the well being of its workforce and the local community Schools libraries and recreation halls were built and trade unions banned As the sun set on the British Empire Clarks opened up new frontiers across the world Clarks brand logo became one of the most famous in the world Every parent in the 1950s swore by Clarks shoes for their children as well as buying them for themselves But increased competition from within the UK and overseas saw concerns for the future heightened during the 1980s A hostile bid for the company in the early 1990s saw the board and the family split Eventually shareholders voted to reject the bid The company was reorganised with all its lines made outside the country This resulted in the closure of all its UK factories and the laying off of hundreds of Clarks employees But the outcome has been a transformation in the company s fortunes In 2010 its profits were over 100 million and its retro desert boots and other styles have become the height of fashion especially in China and America

Manufacturing David O. Whitten, Bessie E. Whitten, 1990-09-27 Overall this first volume in the series should render business research in manufacturing a good deal easier by bringing together insightful industry histories and detailed critical bibliographies This series has much to recommend it Future volumes will be eagerly awaited Reference Books Bulletin This historical and bibliographical reference work is the first volume of Greenwood Press s Handbook of American Business History a series intended to supplement current bibliographic materials pertaining to business history Devoted to manufacturing this work uses the Enterprise Standard Industrial Classification ESIC to divide the subject into distinct segments from which contributors have developed histories and bibliographies of the different types of manufacturing Though authors were given sets of guidelines to follow they were also allowed the flexibility to work in a format that best suited the material Each contribution in this volume contains three important elements a concise history of the manufacturing sector a bibliographic essay and a bibliography Some contributions appear in three distinct parts while others are combined into one or two segments all build on currently available material for students and scholars doing research on business and industry The contributors who include business economic and social historians as well as engineers and lawyers have covered such topics as bakery products industrial chemicals and synthetics engines and turbines and household appliances Also included are an introductory essay that covers general works and a comprehensive index This book should be a useful tool for courses in business and industry and a valuable resource for college university and public libraries

A Short History of Mediæval and Modern Times Philip Van Ness Myers,1906 Governance of Consumption A. Hunt,1996-10-01 This book explores the sumptuary laws that regulated conspicuous consumption in respect to dress ornaments and food that were widespread in late medieval and early modern Europe It argues that sumptuary laws were attempts to stabilize social recognizability in the urban world of strangers and in the governance of cities The gendered character of sumptuary laws are viewed as components of gender wars These laws are explored as projects directed at the reform of popular culture and in their links to the governance of vagrancy and of popular recreation This study challenges the view that the sumptuary actually died and develops an argument that in the modern world the regulation of consumption persists but becomes dispersed throughout a range of both public and private forms of governance The conclusions stresses the persistence of projects of governance of personal appearance and of private consumption

A History of European Women's Work Deborah Simonton,2002-09-11 The work patterns of European women from 1700 onwards fluctuate in relation to ideological demographic economic and familial changes In A History of European Women's Work Deborah Simonton draws together recent research and methodological developments to take an overview of trends in women's work across Europe from the so called pre industrial period to the present Taking the role of gender and class in defining women's labour as a central theme Deborah Simonton compares and contrasts the pace of change between European countries distinguishing between Europe wide issues and local developments
