Georg Lukács Und Seine Zeit 1930-1945:

Lukács Reads Goethe Nicholas Vazsonyi, 1997 Long recognized as one of the foremost literary critics of the twentieth century the Hungarian born Georg Lukács 1885-1971 shocked many by turning to Marxism in 1918 Using his formidable knowledge of European cultural history he revitalized Marxist theory with his book History and Class Consciousness 1923 and continued to write extensively about literature The ultimate question posed by this book is how Lukács in the 1930s was able to write enthusiastically about Goethe citing him as an ideal exponent of humanism while simultaneously accepting and even condoning Stalinism

Recovering the Later Georg Lukács Matthew J. Smetona, 2023-04-25 New resources for the critique of capitalism in culture from the late writings of Georg Lukács one of the first authors in the tradition of Western Marxism The Hungarian literary critic philosopher and Marxist social theorist Georg Lukács is best known for his 1923 History and Class Consciousness in which he offered an influential critique of reification from the standpoint of a dialectical conception of totality While Lukács's early works have been central to the study of Marxist thought his later works have often been dismissed as political accommodations to Stalinism In this new study Matthew Smetona argues for a revisionist interpretation of Lukács's later writings on topics as diverse as aesthetics politics and ontology Smetona demonstrates that these writings reveal a methodological unity that follows directly from History and Class Consciousness in which realism in both literary and extraliterary senses becomes the basis for the critique of reification As Lukács had demonstrated reification is that process by which the social relations between persons seem to take on the character of a thing Rooted in Marx's concept of commodity fetishism the critique of reification proved in Lukács's hands to be a flexible tool capable of clarifying all manner of obfuscations that arise within the social relations that capitalism produces To recover the later work of Lukács is to open up new horizons for Marxist cultural criticism

The Exile and Return of Writers from East-Central Europe John Neubauer, Borbála Zsuzsanna Török, 2009-10-28 This is the first comparative study of literature written by writers who fled from East Central Europe during the twentieth century It includes not only interpretations of individual lives and literary works but also studies of the most important literary journals publishers radio programs and other aspects of exile literary cultures The theoretical part of introduction distinguishes between exiles migrants and expatriates while the historical part surveys the pre twentieth century exile traditions and provides an overview of the exilic events between 1919 and 1995 one section is devoted to exile cultures in Paris London and New York as well as in Moscow Madrid Toronto Buenos Aires and other cities The studies focus on the factional divisions within each national exile culture and on the relationship between the various exiled national cultures among each other They also investigate the relation of each exile national culture to the culture of its host country Individual essays are devoted to Witold Gombrowicz Paul Goma Milan Kundera Monica Lovinescu Milo Crnjanski Herta and Paul Amirian and to the internal exile of Imre Kertész Special attention is devoted to the new forms of exile that emerged during the ex-Yugoslav wars and to the problems of homecoming of exiled texts and writers
