Ceram,2012-01-18 C W Ceram visualized archeology as a wonderful combination of high adventure romance history and scholarship and this book a chronicle of man s search for his past reads like a dramatic narrative We travel with Heinrich Schliemann as defying the ridicule of the learned world he actually unearths the remains of the ancient city of Troy We share the excitement of Lord Carnarvon and Howard Carter as they first glimpse the riches of Tutankhamen s tomb of George Smith when he found the ancient clay tablets that contained the records of the Biblical Flood We rediscover the ruined splendors of the Hanging Gardens of Babylon one of the wonders of the ancient wold of Chichen Itza the abandoned pyramids of the Maya and the legendary Labyrinth of tile Minotaur in Crete Here is much of the history of civilization and the stories of the men who rediscovered it Illustrated with drawings maps and photographs Life-writing in the History of Archaeology Gabriel Moshenska,Clare Lewis,2023-07-10 Life writing is a vital part of the history of archaeology and a growing field of scholarship within the discipline The lives of archaeologists are entangled with histories of museums and collections developments in science and scholarship and narratives of nationalism and colonialism into the present In recent years life writing has played an important role in the surge of new research in the history of archaeology including ground breaking studies of discipline formation institutionalisation and social and intellectual networks Sources such as diaries wills film and the growing body of digital records are powerful tools for highlighting the contributions of hitherto marginalised archaeological lives including many pioneering women hired labourers and other hidden hands This book brings together critical perspectives on life writing in the history of archaeology from leading figures in the field These include studies of archive formation and use the concept of dig writing as a distinctive genre of archaeological creativity and reviews of new sources for already well known lives Several chapters reflect on the experience of life writing review the historiography of the field and assess the intellectual value and significance of life writing as a genre Together they work to problematise underlying assumptions about this genre foregrounding methodology social theory ethics and other practice focused frameworks in conscious tension with previous practices

Western Ways Frederick Whitling, 2018-12-03 In Western Ways for the first time the foreign schools in Rome and Athens institutions dealing primarily with classical archaeology and art history are discussed in historical terms as vehicles and figureheads of national scholarship By emphasising the agency and role of individuals in relation to structures and tradition the book shows how much may be gained by examining science and politics as two sides of the same coin It sheds light on the scholarly organisation of foreign schools and through them on the organisation of classical archaeology and classical studies around the Mediterranean With its breadth and depth of archival resources Western Ways offers new perspectives on funding national prestige and international collaboration in the world of scholarship and places the foreign schools in a framework of nineteenth and twentieth century Italian and Greek history Sculpture and the Vitrine John C. Welchman, 2017-07-05 Vitrines and glass cabinets are familiar apparatuses that have in large part defined modern modes of display and visibility both within and beyond the museum They separate objects from their contexts group them with other objects both similar and dissimilar and often serve to reinforce their intrinsic or aesthetic values The vitrine has much in common with the picture frame the plinth and the gallery but it has not yet received the kind of detailed art historical and theoretical discussion that has been brought to these other modes of formal display The twelve contributions to this volume examine some of the points of origin of the vitrine and the various relations it brokers with sculpture first in the Wunderkammer and cabinet of curiosities and then in dialog with the development of glazed architecture beginning with Paxton's Crystal Palace 1851 The collection offers close discussions of the role of the vitrine and shop window in the rise of commodity culture and their apposition with Constructivist design in the work of Frederick Kiesler as well as original readings of the use of vitrines in Surrealism and Fluxus and in work by Joseph Beuys Paul Thek Claes Oldenburg and his collaborators Jeff Koons Mike Kelley Dan Graham Vito Acconci Damien Hirst and Josephine Meckseper among others Sculpture and the Vitrine also raises key questions about the nature and implications of vitrinous space including its fronts onto desire and the spectacle transparency and legibility and onto ideas and practices associated with the archive collecting preserving and ordering

Szemethy, Martina Fuchs, 2015-02-27 Life at the University of Vienna from 1388 2065 told through the eyes of fictional students Remains of the Past in Old English Literature Jan-Peer Hartmann, 2025-02-11 Argues for a new understanding of Old English responses to materiality and historical change Human communities have interacted with the material remains of earlier periods for millennia Such archaeological objects including bones coins weapons building materials and architectural landmarks were physically handled reused transformed and reinterpreted they were also depicted in literature This book examines how Old English texts imagine such human encounters with the remnants of the past It explores Elene's perspective on the discovery of the True Cross as a narrative of political spiritual and epistemic translatio and the multiple ways in which The Wanderer and The Ruin use images of ruins and the poetic formula work of giants to construct an unknown and unrecoverable past it also considers the engagements with untimely objects in Beowulf and the Anonymous Old English Legend of the Seven Sleepers and how the Ruthwell Cross Poem and The Dream of the Rood play off figural against literal history As this study demonstrates Old English texts combined and creatively adapted a broad variety of ways of conceptualizing not merely history but indeed the very processes by which historical thought operates Its careful readings show that these texts not only display a deep and conflicted understanding of the philosophical implications of viewing history and temporality through the prism of material objects but also exhibit a powerful capacity for expressing such an understanding through aesthetic strategies The German Genius Peter Watson, 2010-09-16 From the end of the Baroque age and the death of Bach in 1750 to the rise of Hitler in 1933 Germany was transformed from a poor relation among western nations into a dominant intellectual and cultural force more influential than France Britain Italy Holland and the United States In the early decades of the 20th century German artists writers philosophers scientists and engineers were leading their freshly unified country to new and undreamed of heights and by 1933 they had won more Nobel prizes than anyone else and more than the British and Americans combined But this genius was cut down in its prime with the rise and subsequent fall of Adolf Hitler and his fascist Third Reich a legacy of evil that has overshadowed the nation's contributions ever since Yet how did the Germans achieve their pre eminence beginning in the mid 18th century In this fascinating cultural history Peter Watson goes back through time to explore the origins of the German genius how it flourished and shaped our lives and most importantly to reveal how it continues to shape our world As he convincingly demonstrates while we may hold other European cultures in higher esteem it was German thinking from Bach to Nietzsche to Freud that actually shaped modern America and Britain in ways that resonate today Rome's Greatest Defeat Adrian Murdoch, 2008-07-14 In AD 9 half of Rome's Western army was ambushed in a German forest and annihilated Three legions three cavalry units and six auxiliary regiments some 25 000 men were wiped out It dealt a body blow to the empire's imperial pretensions and was Rome's greatest defeat No other battle stopped the Roman empire dead in its tracks Although one of the most significant and dramatic battles in European history this is also one which has been largely overlooked Drawing on primary sources and a vast wealth of new archaeological evidence Adrian Murdoch brings to life the battle itself the historical background and the effects of the Roman defeat as well as exploring the personalities of those who took part
