Romantic Mediations Andrew Burkett, 2016-09-21 Investigates the ways in which new technologies and theories of photography phonography moving images and digital media engage with a diverse set of texts by British Romantic writers Romantic Mediations investigates the connections among British Romantic writers their texts and the history of major forms of technical media from the turn of the nineteenth century to the present Opening up the vital new subfield of Romantic media studies through interventions in both media archaeology and contemporary media theory Andrew Burkett addresses the ways that unconventional techniques and theories of storage and processing media engage with classic texts by William Blake Lord Byron John Keats Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley and others Ordered chronologically and structured by four crucial though often overlooked case studies that delve into Romanticism's role in the histories of incipient technical media systems the book focuses on different examples of the ways that imaginative literature and art of the period become taken up and transformed by while simultaneously shaping considerably new media environments and platforms of photography phonography moving images and digital media Romantic Mediations brings contemporary media theory to major Romantic texts and their reception Few if any scholars working in Romanticism and media have taken up the generational difference between Friedrich Kittler's media theory and the more contemporary media archaeology of Jussi Parikka Moreover too often have media theories of Romanticism been restricted to digital media and screen technology Andrew Burkett creates a new path for Romantic period scholarship by showing the potential of media archaeology for Romantic texts and their long afterlife Ron Broglio author of Technologies of the Picturesque British Art Poetry and Instruments 1750 1830 Fracture and Fragmentation in British Romanticism Alexander

Regier,2010-03-25 What associates fragmentation with Romanticism In this book Alexander Regier explains how fracture and fragmentation form a lens through which some central concerns of Romanticism can be analysed in a particularly effective way These categories also supply a critical framework for a discussion of fundamental issues concerning language and thought in the period Over the course of the volume Regier discusses fracture and fragmentation thematically and structurally offering new readings of Wordsworth Kant Burke Keats and De Quincey as well as analysing central intellectual presuppositions of the period He also highlights Romanticism's importance for contemporary scholarship especially in the writings of Benjamin and de Man More generally Regier's discussion of fragmentation exposes a philosophical problem that lies behind the definition of Romanticism Pathologies of Motion Kevis Goodman,2022-12-27 An original study of late

Cultivating Peace Melissa Schoenberger, 2019-05-17 During the decades following the English civil wars British poets seeking to make sense of lingering political instabilities turned to Virgil's Georgics This ancient poem betrays deep ambivalences about war political power and empire and such poets as Andrew Marvell John Dryden and Anne Finch found in these attitudes valuable ways of responding to the uncertainties of their own time Composed during a period of brutal conflict in Rome Virgil's agricultural poem distrusts easy stability urging its readers to understand that lasting peace must be sowed tended reaped and replanted year after year Like the ancient poet who famously depicted a farmer's scythe suddenly recast as a sword the poets discussed in Cultivating Peace imagine states of peace and war to be fundamentally and materially linked In distinct ways they dismantle the dream of the golden age renewed proposing instead that peace must be sustained by constant labor Published by Bucknell University Press Distributed worldwide by Rutgers University Press

Romanticism and the Rise of English Andrew Elfenbein, 2008-10-30 Named a CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title for 2009 Romanticism and the Rise of English addresses a peculiar development in contemporary literary criticism the disappearance of the history of the English language as a relevant topic Elfenbein argues for a return not to older modes of criticism but to questions about the relation between literature and language that have vanished from contemporary investigation His book is an example of a kind of work that has often been called for but rarely realized a social philology that takes seriously the formal and institutional forces shaping the production of English This results not only in a history of English but also in a recovery of major events shaping English studies as a coherent discipline This book points to new directions in literary criticism by arguing for the need to reconceptualize authorial agency in light of a broadened understanding of linguistic history

The Orient and the Young Romantics Andrew Warren, 2014-11-06 Through close readings of major poems this book examines why the second generation Romantic poets Byron Shelley and Keats stage so much of their poetry in Eastern or Orientalized settings It argues that they do so not only to interrogate their own imaginations but also as a way of criticizing Europe's growing imperialism For them the Orient is a projection of Europe's own fears and desires It is therefore a charged setting in which to explore and contest the limits of the age's aesthetics politics and culture Being nearly always self-conscious and ironic the poets treatment of the Orient becomes itself a twinned criticism of Romantic egotism and the Orientalism practised by earlier generations The book goes further to claim that poems like Shelley s Revolt of Islam Byron s Eastern Tales or even Keats s Lamia anticipate key issues at stake in postcolonial studies more generally

Politics and Emotions in Romantic Periodicals Jock Macleod, William Christie, Peter Denney, 2019-12-20 This book comprises eleven essays by leading scholars of early nineteenth century British literature and periodical culture The collection addresses the many and varied links between politics and the emotions in Romantic periodicals from the revolutionary decade of the 1790s to the 1832 Reform Bill In so doing it deepens our understanding of the often conflicted relations between politics and feelings and raises questions relevant to contemporary debates on affect studies and their relation to political criticism The respective chapters explore both the politics of emotion and the emotional register of political discussion in radical reformist and conservative periodicals They are arranged chronologically covering periodicals from Pigs Meat to Blackwood s Edinburgh Magazine and the Spectator Recurring themes include the contested place of emotion in radical political discourse the role of the periodical in mediating action and performance the changing affective frameworks of cultural politics especially concerning gender and nation and the shifting terrain of what constitutes appropriate emotion in public political discourse
