Asianism and the Politics of Regional Consciousness in Singapore Leong Yew, 2013-11-20 Over the last two decades Singapore has undergone a substantial degree of Asianization Apart from participating in the Asian values debate of the 1990s re-visioning itself as New Asia and a global Asian hub and establishing Asian identities for the commodities it consumes and produces Singapore has also repurposed its modernity cultures and ethos along similar regionalist precepts However even in recent times Singapore continues to vacillate ambivalently between identifying with and differentiating itself from Asia Responding to the challenges Singapore faces in coming to terms with its Asian identity this book examines the complex cultural social and political underpinnings that have shaped Singapore's mainstream discourse on Asia Indeed it argues that its legacy as a colonial port city the exigencies of managing the post independence nation state and the larger forces of imperialism and capitalism all contribute to its politics of Asianism Taking a thoroughly interdisciplinary approach that spans history cultural studies postcolonialism and cultural geography Leong Yew reveals how Asia has been used to narrate Singapore's beginnings revalidate Singaporean ethnic culture and to consolidate its practices of consumption and commodification This book will be welcomed by students and scholars working across a range of fields including Asian

Education, Industrialization and the End of Empire in Singapore Kevin Blackburn, 2016-12-08 Singapore under the ruling People s Action Party government has been categorized as a developmental state which has utilized education as an instrument of its economic policies and nation building agenda However contrary to accepted assumptions the use of education by the state to promote economic growth did not begin with the coming to power of the People s Action Party in 1959 In Singapore the colonial state had been using education to meet the demands of its colonial economy well before the rise of the post independence developmental state Education Industrialization and the End of Empire in Singapore examines how the state s use of education as an instrument of economic policy had its origins in the colonial economy and intensified during the process of decolonization By covering this process the history of vocational and technical education and its relationship with the economy is traced from the colonial era through to decolonization and into the early postcolonial period
