Funerals in Africa Michael Jindra, Joël Noret, 2011-09-01 Across Africa funerals and events remembering the dead have become larger and even more numerous over the years Whereas in the West death is normally a private and family affair in Africa funerals are often the central life cycle event unparalleled in cost and importance for which families harness vast amounts of resources to host lavish events for multitudes of people with ramifications well beyond the event Though officials may try to regulate them the popularity of these events often makes such efforts fruitless and the elites themselves spend tremendously on funerals This volume brings together scholars who have conducted research on funerary events across sub-Saharan Africa The contributions offer an in depth understanding of the broad changes and underlying causes in African societies over the years such as changes in religious beliefs social structure urbanization and technological changes and health

Africana Anthony Appiah, Henry Louis Gates (Jr.), 2005 Ninety years after W E B Du Bois first articulated the need for the equivalent of a black Encyclopedia Britannica Kwame Anthony Appiah and Henry Louis Gates Jr realized his vision by publishing Africana The Encyclopedia of the African and African American Experience in 1999 This new greatly expanded edition of the original work broadens the foundation provided by Africana Including more than one million new words Africana has been completely updated and revised New entries on African kingdoms have been added bibliographies now accompany most articles and the encyclopedia's coverage of the African diaspora in Latin America and the Caribbean has been expanded transforming the set into the most authoritative research and scholarly reference set on the African experience ever created More than 4 000 articles cover prominent individuals events trends places political movements art forms business and trade religion ethnic groups organizations and countries on both sides of the Atlantic African American history and culture in the present day United States receive a strong emphasis but African American history and culture throughout the rest of the Americas and their origins in African itself have an equally strong presence

The articles that make up Africana cover subjects ranging from affirmative action to zydeco and span over four million years from the earliest known hominids to Sean Diddy Combs. With entries ranging from the African ethnic groups to members of the Congressional Black Caucus, Africana Second Edition conveys the history and scope of cultural expression of people of African descent with unprecedented depth.

The Whole Death Catalog Harold Schechter, 2009-06-02 In the tradition of Mary Roach's bestselling Stiff and Jessica Mitford's classic exposé The American Way of Death comes this meticulously researched, refreshingly irreverent and lavishly illustrated look at death from acclaimed author Harold Schechter. With his trademark fearlessness and bracing sense of humor, Schechter digs deep into a wealth of sources to unearth a treasure trove of surprising facts, amusing anecdotes, practical information, and timeless wisdom about that undiscovered country to which we will all one day travel. Topics include: Death anxiety: is your fear of death normal or off the scale? You can't take it with you or can you? Wacky wills and bizarre bequests. The hospice experience: going out in comfort and style. Deathbed and funeral etiquette: how to help the dying and mourn the dead with dignity. Death on demand: why the right to die movement may be the next big thing. Goodbye everybody: famous last words. The embalmer's art: all dressed up and nowhere to go. Behind the scenes at your local funeral home. Alternative burial choices: from coral reefs to outer space. From the cold, hard facts of death to lessons in the art of dying well, from what happens in the body's last living moments to what transpires in the ground or in the furnace, from near-death experiences to speculation on the afterlife, The Whole Death Catalog leaves no gravestone unturned.

On African Music Kofi Agawu, Victor Kofi Agawu, 2023 Written by one of the best-known academic writers on African music, On African Music is a collection of seven essays addressing various techniques, influences, and scholarly approaches to African music. After a concise introduction spelling out the rationale for the book, successive chapters develop answers to questions such as: How does a minimalist impulse animate creativity in Africa, and does Western minimalism differ from African minimalism? How do we explain the prevalence of iconic effects in African expressive forms? How has European tonality functioned as a colonizing force in African music? Why is the written art music of the continent talked about so little when it has been in existence since the middle of the nineteenth century? How might the discipline of music theory be rejuvenated by aid from Africa? What are the strengths and limitations of ethnotheory as a methodology? Who is who in theorizations of African rhythm, and how might we explain the shape of the existing archive? This book thus deals with analytical and interpretive issues, the politics of scholarship, and salient features of African music. Laced with provocative viewpoints on each page, On African Music should appeal not only to readers curious about the structural underpinnings of African music but also to those who wish to reflect critically and philosophically on how we study and write about the music of the continent, how we might approach its global status with a firm understanding from the inside, and what our priorities might be in promoting an empowering cosmopolitan discourse.

Archaeologists and the Dead Howard Williams, Melanie Giles, 2016-06-24 This volume addresses the relationship between archaeologists and the dead through the many dimensions of their relationships in the field through practical and legal issues in the lab through their analysis and interpretation and in their written visual and exhibitionary practice disseminated to a variety of academic and public audiences Written from a variety of perspectives its authors address the experience effect ethical considerations and cultural politics of working with mortuary archaeology Whilst some papers reflect institutional or organisational approaches others are more personal in their view creating exciting and frank insights into contemporary issues which have hitherto often remained unspoken amongst the discipline Reframing funerary archaeologists as death workers of a kind the contributors reflect on their own experience to provide both guidance and inspiration to future practitioners arguing strongly that we have a central role to play in engaging the public with themes of mortality and commemoration through the lens of the past Spurred by the recent debates in the UK papers from Scandinavia Austria Italy the US and the mid Atlantic frame these issues within a much wider international context which highlights the importance of cultural and historical context in which this work takes place

Daily Life in Colonial Africa Toyin Falola, 2024-07-11 Discover how European colonization across the many regions in Africa dramatically altered the continent and the daily lived experiences of its peoples Daily Life in Colonial Africa explores nine facets of daily life in the European colonized African continent such as domestic economic political and religious life Examples of everyday people farmers forced to switch to cash crops people of faith melding native traditions and European Christian doctrine on beliefs about the afterlife storytellers using allegory to discreetly challenge colonial rule show how colonialization impacted every aspect of life for Africa's indigenous people as well as how they adapted to new ways of life while maintaining their cultural roots Alongside the main text helpful additional resources such as a timeline of the colonization of Africa and a glossary of terms provide useful context for understanding what life in this period of history was truly like for the many different people and groups affected by Africa's colonization

In My Time of Dying John Parker, 2025-03-25 Why do people die and where do they go when they are dead How should the dead be buried and mourned in order to ensure that they continue to work for the benefit of the living How have perceptions and experiences of death and the ends of life changed over the centuries In My Time of Dying considers these questions from the perspective of African history In what is the first history of death in Africa John Parker examines mortuary culture and the ongoing relationship between the living and the dead over a four hundred year period Focusing anecdotally on West Africa but with a comparative awareness of comparable practices throughout the continent Parker highlights how Africans developed the world s most vibrant and recognizable cultures of death

Colonial Heritage, Memory and Sustainability in Africa Mawere, Munyaradzi, Mubaya, Tapuwa R., 2015-12-12 This book serves as a drive and medium for constructive analysis critical thinking and informed change in the broad area of cultural heritage studies In Africa how to overturn the gory effects and reverse the wholesale obnoxious and unpardonable losses suffered from the excruciating experience of colonialism in a manner that empowers the present and future generations remains a burning question Colonial and liberation war heritage have received insignificant attention The relevance nature and politics at play when it comes to the role of memory and colonial heritage in view of nation building and sustainability on the continent is yet to receive careful practical and theoretical attention and scrutiny from both heritage scholars and governments Yet colonial heritage has vast potentials that if harnessed could reverse the gargantuan losses of colonialism and promote sustainable development in Africa The book critically reflects on the opportunities constraints and challenges of colonial heritage across Africa It draws empirical evidence from its focus on Zimbabwe South Africa Nigeria Ghana Zambia and Mozambique to advance the thesis that cultural heritage in Africa and in particular colonial heritage faces challenges of epic proportions that require urgent attention

Civil Society and the Political Imagination in Africa John L. Comaroff, Jean Comaroff, 1999 The essays in this important new collection explore the diverse unexpected and controversial ways in which the idea of civil society has recently entered into populist politics and public debate throughout Africa In a substantial introduction anthropologists Jean and John Comaroff offer a critical theoretical analysis of the nature and deployment of the concept and the current debates surrounding it Building on this framework the contributors investigate the problem of civil society across their regions of expertise which cover the continent Drawing creatively on one another s work they examine the impact of colonial ideology postcoloniality and development practice on discourses of civility the workings of everyday politics the construction of new modes of selfhood and the pursuit of moral community Incisive and original the book shows how struggles over civil society in Africa reveal much about larger historical forces in the post Cold War era It also makes a strong case for the contribution of historical anthropology to contemporary discourses on the rise of a new world order
