Indicators for Agriculture: Concepts and framework Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1999 Little quantitative information is available to assess the impacts both harmful and beneficial of agriculture on the environment and to measure how different policy measures affect the environment Agricultural Ecology and Environment M. G. Paoletti, Benjamin R. Stinner, G. G. Lorenzoni, 1989 The increased use of chemical fertilizers and pesticides in crop production has adversely affected both the environment and the agricultural economy Not only has it led to environmental pollution but also the increasing costs of chemical inputs and the low prices received for agricultural products have contributed to economic unprofitability and instability The International Symposium on Agricultural Ecology and Environment was organised in order to discuss ways of achieving the goals of economically and environmentally sustainable agriculture It is apparent that a truly multidisciplinary effort is required and for this reason the meeting was attended by authors from many different disciplines and geographical locations Although their papers reflect a wide diversity of agroecosystem types and examples several common themes emerge the increased importance of biotic control of ecosystem processes in lower input systems the key role of soil organic matter in stabilizing nutrient cycling the importance of agricultural landscape diversity and complexity the importance of studying ecological processes in natural and agricultural ecosystems the critical need to integrate socio economic and ecological approaches Nitrate, Agriculture and the Environment Tom M. Addiscott, 2005 This book will be of significant value to students of soil crop environmental and pollution sciences BOOK JACKET Agriculture and the Environment Ernst Lutz, 1999-01-31 The World Bank has over the past two years revisited its rural development strategy and in turn developed a new one through a renewed commitment to sound development in the rural sector and seeks to encompass farmers and their communities alike as well as policymakers This report gathers applied and practical research related to agriculture and the environment in the developing world summarizing current knowledge through specific examples stating the approaches and conditions which worked or not and the reasons for failure The observations and findings suggest that environmentally sound increases in productivity will be harder to achieve than in the past though a significant potential for attaining these increases do exist To this end reforms are necessary so that policy and institutional frameworks support an intensified sustainable agriculture conducive to an environment that gives way to technological innovation The authors in this report review subjects from integrating environmental concerns in rural development policies natural resources degradation small farmer decisionmaking to agricultural trade reforms research initiatives property regimes etc Institutional and social perspectives together with technical issues and perspectives are also analyzed through various subjects in this volume Agriculture, Environment, and Health, 1994 Interaction Between Agriculture and Environment in Hungary István Fésűs, 1992 Farming, Food and Nature Joyce D'Silva, Carol McKenna, 2018-10-25 Livestock production and its use of finite resources is devastating biodiversity and pushing wildlife to the brink of extinction This powerful book examines the massive global impact caused by intensive livestock production and economies continue to struggle some inside and outside of Congress have expressed concern about how environmental regulation may stifle growth and productivity Much of the criticism has focused on environmental regulations promulgated by the Environmental Protection Agency EPA Some claim that EPA is overreaching its regulatory authority and imposing costly and burdensome requirements on society The agriculture community among others has been vocal in its concerns contending that EPA appears to be focusing some of its recent regulatory efforts on agriculture Environmental advocates on the other hand support many of EPA s overall regulatory efforts to protect public health and the environment Where agriculture contributes to environmental impairment these groups say it is appropriate to consider ways to minimize or eliminate the adverse impacts A healthy agriculture industry and a healthy environment are both important to the nation

However agricultural production can have varying impacts on the environment The use of both natural resources and synthetic inputs in agricultural production can sometimes create a negative impact on human health and the surrounding ecosystem The magnitude of these environmental impacts varies widely across the country and changes over time Given the agricultural sector's size and potential to affect its surrounding environment there is interest in tightening environmental policies while also maintaining an economically viable industry Most recognize the agriculture community's efforts to protect natural resources while striving to maintain a sustainable and abundant food supply The current federal response to environmental issues associated with agriculture is viewed as being both restrictive and supportive Traditionally farm and ranch operations have been exempt or excluded from many environmental regulations The challenges and complexity of regulating numerous crop and livestock operations can be cost prohibitive for government regulators thus environmental policies have historically focused on large industrial sources such as factories and power plants not farms Much of the current farm policy addressing environmental concerns is through economic incentives to encourage beneficial production practices Growing interest in the impact of EPA's regulatory actions on many sectors of the economy is evident in Congress which has been examining the roles of EPA and other federal agencies in regulating environmental protection Among the broad options for Congress besides conducting general oversight are reviewing rules under the Congressional Review Act amending current law to modify an agency's authority introducing freestanding legislation or using appropriations bills to prevent funds from being used for specific actions The majority of environmental regulations that could affect agriculture are administered by EPA though not all In some cases agriculture is the direct or primary focus of the regulatory actions In other cases agriculture is one of many affected sectors Of particular interest to agriculture are regulatory actions affecting air water energy and chemicals Issues associated with air e g dust and emissions and water quality e g fertilizer and nutrient runoff are a primary focus of many regulations affecting agriculture because of agriculture's potential to affect these resources Changes in energy policy namely bioenergy have recently become important to many in the agricultural industry based on the potential of corn based biofuel production to contribute to the nation's energy supply The risks associated with agricultural chemical use and possible impacts on human health and the environment have also led to recent federal regulatory reviews of chemical fertilizer and pesticide use farming system to the global level at time scales ranging from seconds to centuries For that scientists use the system approach that involves studying components and interactions of a whole system to address scientific economic and social issues In that respect sustainable agriculture is not a classical narrow science Instead of solving problems using the classical painkiller approach that treats only negative impacts sustainable agriculture treats problem sources Because most actual society issues are now intertwined global and fast developing sustainable agriculture will bring solutions to build a safer world This book series gathers review articles that analyze current agricultural issues and knowledge then propose alternative solutions It will therefore help all scientists decision makers professors farmers and politicians who wish to build a safe agriculture energy and food system for future generations
