Eurasian Politics: Ideas, Institutions and External Relations Mr Tulsiram, Mr Ajay Patnaik, 2013-06-15 The transitional politics of Eurasian space is marked by a constant struggle among three sets of ideas and institutions the 1 is the remarkable resilience of Soviet ideas and institutions 2 an attempt by the regimes of these states to reinvent the historical and cultural traditions of preSoviet periods and third is an attempt by a section of the powerful elite to superimpose Western liberal ideas and institutions There is a strange intertwining of these ideas and institutions This book examines the extent to which the postSoviet politics has departed from the Soviet one What are the new ideational structures emerging in these states and how far have they crystallised into institutions What are the external influences which are shaping the institutions in the Eurasian space And finally what are the various dynamics of geopolitics in this region Experts from various countries will delve into the shifting dynamics of Eurasian politics

Phillips, David Castle, 2022-03-31 Canada's thirteen provinces and territories are significant actors in Canadian society directly shaping cultural political and economic domains Regions also play a key role in creating diversity within innovative activity The role of provinces and territories in setting science technology and innovation policy is however notably underexplored Ideas Institutions and Interests examines each province and territory to offer real world insights into the complexity and opportunities of regionally differentiated innovation policy in a pan continental system Contributing scholars detail the distinctive ways in which provinces and territories articulate ideas and interests through their institutions programs and policies Many of the contributing authors have engaged first hand with either micro or macro level policy innovation and are innovation leaders in their own right providing invaluable perspectives on the topic Exploring the vital role of provinces in the last thirty years of science technology and innovation policy development and implementation Ideas Institutions and Interests is an insightful book that places innovation policy in the context of multilevel governance

Ideas, Institutions, and the Politics of Schools in Postwar Britain and Germany Gregory Baldi, 2022-05-16 This book addresses one of the most contentious issues of postwar Western Europe namely the organization of the primary and secondary stages of schooling in state education systems In examining the politics of continuity and change in postwar schooling in Britain and the Federal Republic Germany Gregory Baldi seeks to contribute to more general understandings of education's place in the welfare state the development of social institutions and the relationship between material and ideational factors in shaping political outcomes over time

Variable Geometries: Mapping Ideas, Institutions and Power in the Wider Europe, 2006 The controversies and ambiguities characterising the EU neighbourhood strategy are ultimately due to the fact that the wider Europe concerns the conceptual strategic and spatial limits of Europe It is in this wider Europe that the EU as process meets the EU as actor It is here that its gravitational power meets its normative power It is here that the sui generis EU governance system meets its foreign policy capabilities By exploring the meanings and possible usages of the term variable geometry this study sets out to interpret how the deepening of relations between the European Union and its neighbours in the East South East and South shapes the conceptual political and strategic map of the wider European space Three dimensions of variable geometries are distinguished The first dimension relates to ideas and focuses on the way in which the EU as a polity affects and is affected by deeper relations with its neighbours Second the focus is on institutions and illustrates the rationale behind and options for deeper institutional integration of neighbours into the EU Lastly the study ventures into an analysis of the wider Europe as a power constellation and thus explains what variable geometry means in relation to security and stability in the European neighbourhood This basic tri partition is then applied to two topical cases Turkey and Ukraine

micropollutants The study is furthermore embedded into broader theoretical questions of policy research More precisely this research is a contribution to policy analysis that aims to achieve more optimal policy results by providing for a better understanding of the nature of policy designs and the social mechanisms behind the choice of them Despite the intrinsic aim of policy analysis at contributing to more optimal policy outcomes there remains a lack of research regarding analytical tools that enable an ex ante assessment of policy designs problem solving abilities To explore such a research path this book proposes a novel index of policy comprehensiveness for quantifying the prospective performance of policy designs in alleviating an underlying policy issue e g reducing pollutants in waters Furthermore the book uncovers the social mechanisms behind policymaking and turns to the question In which social settings is it possible to achieve a comprehensive policy design Compared to purely micro level explanations the advantage of the network approach is that it goes beyond the mere aggregation of policy actors attributes by taking into consideration actors interdependencies In order to take the network approach seriously the study systematically links the structure of a policy network with comprehensive policy designs Network concepts such as coalition structure interconnectedness and belief similarity are employed from policy change research here in order to explore the link between structural network characteristics and comprehensive policy design By studying how network structures affect policy design the book critically examines the explanatory value of the network approach
