Encyclopedia of Lesbian and Gay Histories and Cultures George Haggerty,Bonnie Zimmerman,2003-09-02 Beginning in 1869 when the study of homosexuality can be said to have begun with the establishment of sexology this Encyclopedia offers accounts of the most important international developments in an area that now occupies a critical place in many fields of academic endeavours While gays and lesbians have shared many aspects of life their histories and cultures developed in profoundly different ways To reflect this crucial fact the Encyclopedia has been prepared in two separate volumes assuring that both histories receive full unbiased attention and that a broad range of human experience is covered Written by some of the most famous names in the field as well as new researchers this is intended as a reference for students and scholars in all areas of study as well as the general public The Rise and Fall of Soul and Self Raymond Martin,John Barresi,2006 This book traces the development of theories of the self and personal identity from the ancient Greeks to the present day From Plato and Aristotle to Freud and Foucault Raymond Martin and John Barresi explore the works of a wide range of thinkers and reveal the larger intellectual trends controversies and ideas that have revolutionized the way we think about ourselves The authors open with ancient Greece where the ideas of Plato Aristotle and the materialistic atomists laid the groundwork for future theories They then discuss the ideas of the church fathers and medieval and Renaissance philosophers including St Paul Philo Augustine Aquinas and Montaigne In their coverage of the emergence of a new mechanistic conception of nature in the seventeenth century Martin and Barresi note a shift away from religious and purely philosophical notions of self and personal identity to more scientific and social conceptions a trend that has continued to the present day They explore modern philosophy and psychology including the origins of different traditions within each discipline and explain both the theoretical relevance of feminism and gender and ethnic studies and also the ways that Derrida and other recent thinkers have challenged the very idea that a unified self or personal identity even exists Martin and Barresi cover a number of issues broached by philosophers and psychologists such as the existence of a fixed and unchanging self and whether the concept of the soul has a use outside of religious contexts They address the question of whether notions of the soul and the self are still viable in today's world Together they reveal the fascinating ways in which great thinkers have grappled with these and other questions and the astounding impact their ideas have had on the development of self understanding in the west Ut pictura amor Walter Melion, Michael Zell, Joanna Woodall, 2017-11-06 Ut pictura amor The Reflexive Imagery of Love in Artistic Theory and Practice 1500-1700 examines the related themes of lovemaking and image making in the visual arts of Europe, China, Japan and Persia The term reflexive is here used to refer to images that invite reflection not only on their form, function and meaning but also on their genesis and mode of production Early modern artists often fashioned reflexive images and effigies of this kind that appraise love by exploring the lineaments of the pictorial or sculptural image and complementarily appraise the pictorial or sculptural image by exploring the nature of love Hence the book's epigraph ut pictura amor as is a picture so is love Luther and German Humanism Lewis W. Spitz, 2024-10-28 The particular interest of Professor Spitz has been the close relationship and synergy between humanism and religious reform in the transformation of European culture in the 16th century Within the general cultural and intellectual context of the Renaissance and Reformation movements the present volume focuses on Luther and German humanism a subsequent collection looks more particularly at the place of education and history in the thought of the time The articles here discuss Luther's imposing knowledge of the classics his attitudes towards learning the religious and patriotic interests of the humanists and the role of a younger generation of humanists in the Reformation Also included is a far reaching appraisal of the impact of humanism and the Reformation on Western history Encyclopedia of the Scientific Revolution Wilbur Applebaum, 2003-12-16 With unprecedented current coverage of the profound changes in the nature and practice of science in sixteenth and seventeenth century Europe this comprehensive reference work addresses the individuals ideas and institutions that defined culture in the age when the modern perception of nature of the universe and of our place in it is said to have emerged Covering the historiography of the period discussions of the Scientific Revolution's impact on its contemporaneous disciplines and in depth analyses of the importance of historical context to major developments in the sciences The Encyclopedia of the Scientific Revolution is an indispensable resource for students and researchers in the history and philosophy of science The Limits of Influence Steven Broecke, vanden, 2021-08-04 Historians of science often acknowledge the academic status of astrology in the early modern period but mostly fail to explore its relation with other disciplines and its role in society This book seeks to fill that gap The first part of the book examines the practices and functions that shaped late medieval astrology and relates how its academic status became discredited both in northern Italy and the Low Countries The second part of the book examines various counter strategies of astrological reform and shows how these ultimately failed to restore public trust in academic astrology This book provides a new level of detail to the history of astrology It also establishes important new links with other fields like the history of universities humanism astronomy medicine and instrument building

Mind and Places Anna Anzani, 2020-05-12 This book explores the contributions of psychological neuroscientific and philosophical perspectives to the design of contemporary cities Pursuing an innovative and multidisciplinary approach it addresses the need to re launch knowledge and creativity as major cultural and institutional bases of human communities Dwelling is a form of knowledge and re invention of reality that involves both the tangible dimension of physical places and their mental representation Findings in the neuroscientific field are increasingly opening stimulating perspectives on the design of spaces and highlight how our ability to understand other people is strongly related to our corporeity The first part of the book focuses on the contributions of various disciplines that deal with the spatial dimension and explores the dovetailing roles that science and art can play from a multidisciplinary perspective In turn the second part formulates proposals on how to promote greater integration between the aesthetic and cultural dimension in spatial design Given its scope the book will benefit all scholars academics and practitioners who are involved in the process of planning designing and building places and will foster an international exchange of research case studies and theoretical reflections to confront the challenges of designing conscious places and enable the development of communities
