Howe,Wynn Yarbrough,2014-01-16 Kidding Around The Child in Film and Media is a collection of essays generated by a conference of the same title held at the University of the District of Columbia The works gathered examine a variety of children s media including texts produced for children e g children s books cartoons animated films as well as texts about children e g feature length films literature playground architecture parenting guides The primary goal of Kidding Around is to analyze and contextualize contested representations of childhood and children in various twentieth and twenty first century media while accounting for the politics of these narratives Each of the essays gathered offers a critical history of the very notion of childhood at the same time as it analyzes exemplary children s texts from the twentieth and twenty first centuries These chapters depart from various methodological approaches including psychoanalytic sociological ecological and historical perspectives offering the reader numerous productive approaches for analyzing the moments of cultural conflict and impasse found within the primary works studied Despite the fact that today children are one of the most coveted demographics in marketing and viewership academic work on children s media and children in media is just beginning Kidding Around assembles experts from this inchoate field opening discussion to traditional and non traditional children s texts School Library Journal ,2009 Down the Road and Back Again Jill E. Anderson,Alissa Burger,2025-05-30 This is the first book length study of The Golden Girls which ran for seven award winning seasons from 1985 to 1992 and produced two spin offs Through a cultural studies approach this collection examines a wide range of topics including race sexuality queerness memory familial mythmaking aging health and financial precarity Featuring contributions from an international team of scholars this book highlights the enduring relevance and cultural impact of the show even 30 years after its original airing Offering fresh insights into its cross generational and cross cultural appeal Down the Road and Back Again is intended for scholars of pop culture and fans of the show Envisioning Black Feminist Voodoo Aesthetics Kameelah L. Martin,2016-09-30 In the twenty first century American popular culture increasingly makes visible the performance of African spirituality by black women Disney s Princess and the Frog and Pirates of the Caribbean franchise are two notable examples The reliance on the black priestess of African derived religion as an archetype however has a much longer history steeped in the colonial othering of Haitian Vodou and American imperialist fantasies about so called black magic Within this cinematic study Martin unravels how religious autonomy impacts the identity function and perception of Africana women in the American popular imagination Martin interrogates seventy five years of American film representations of black women engaged in conjure hoodoo obeah or Voodoo to discern what happens when race gender and African spirituality collide She develops the framework of Voodoo aesthetics or the inscription of African cosmologies on the black female body as the theoretical lens through which to scrutinize black female religious performance in film Martin places the genre of film in conversation with black feminist womanist criticism offering an interdisciplinary approach to film analysis

Positioning the black priestess as another iteration of Patricia Hill Collins notion of controlling images Martin theorizes whether film functions as a safe space for a racial and gendered embodiment in the performance of African diasporic religion Approaching the close reading of eight signature films from a black female spectatorship Martin works chronologically to express the trajectory of the black priestess as cinematic motif over the last century of filmmaking Conceptually Martin recalibrates the scholarship on black women and representation by distinctly centering black women as ritual specialists and Black Atlantic spirituality on the silver screen Liberty ,1944
