Fragments of the World: Uses of Museum Collections Suzanne Keene,2006-08-11 During the past decade a number of individual museums have found imaginative ways of using their collections and of making them accessible However museum collections as a whole are enormous in size and quantity and the question of how can they can be put to best use is ever present When conventional exhibitions can only ever utilise a tiny proportion of them what other uses of the collections are possible Will their exploitation and use now destroy their value for future generations Should they simply be kept safely and as economically as possible as a resource for the future Fragments of the World examines these questions first reviewing the history of collecting and of collections then discussing the ways in which the collections themselves are being used today Case studies of leading examples from around the world illustrate the discussion Bringing together the thinking about museum collections with case studies of the ways in which different types of collection are used the book provides a roadmap for museums to make better use of this wonderful resource The Dodge Collection of Eighteenth-century French and English Art in the Detroit Institute of Arts Detroit Institute of Arts, Alan Phipps Darr,1996 Anna Thomson Dodge heiress to the automotive fortune built a great home and decorated it with one of the finest groups of 18th century French decorative arts in America Here are more than 130 pieces of furniture sculpture metalwork tapestries Sevres porcelain and paintings many from royal collections
