

A detailed illustration of a striped possum, likely a Common Ringtail Possum, perched on a weathered branch. The possum has dark brown and light tan horizontal stripes along its back and tail. It is facing left, with its head slightly turned towards the viewer. The background is a warm, orange-yellow gradient, with a large, pale, circular shape behind the possum, suggesting a moon or a stylized sun. The possum's long, thick tail hangs down, showing the same striped pattern.
