Further Confessions of the Beachcomber Edmund James Banfield,1983      The Confessions of a Beachcomber Edmund James Banfield,1913      The Confessions of a Beachcomber Edmund James Banfield,1908 Facsimile reprint of an edition first published in London in 1908 Includes the original text and all 53 original illustrations and map some were omitted from editions and reprints since 1908 This is Banfield s story of life on Dunk Island in the early 20th century with details of the island s geography history flora and fauna With an introduction by Banfield s biographer Michael Noonan The English born author s other books include My Tropic Isle and Tropic Days      The Confessions of a Beachcomber E. J. Banfield,2019-11-29 In The Confessions of a Beachcomber E J Banfield presents a lyrical exploration of life on the idyllic yet remote Dunk Island captured through his keen observational prowess and intimate prose The book blends memoir and nature writing showcasing Banfield s reflective musings on the interplay between man and nature His vivid descriptions of the landscape interweave with philosophical reflections positioning the work within the broader literary context of early 20th century nature literature while drawing parallels with the likes of Henry David Thoreau and John Burroughs who also sought to illuminate the beauty of the natural world E J Banfield was a passionate naturalist and writer whose experiences in Australia profoundly shaped his literary voice His time spent as a resident on Dunk Island provided him with a unique perspective on both the local environment and the deeper existential questions concerning humanity s role within it This blend of personal introspection and environmental observation reflects Banfield s commitment to celebrating the untamed beauty of the Australian landscape informed by his extensive knowledge of its flora and fauna I highly recommend The Confessions of a Beachcomber to readers interested in nature writing and personal narratives that evoke the profound connection between humanity and the natural world Banfield s enchanting storytelling will not only inspire wanderlust but also provoke contemplation of our relationship with nature making it a timeless read for those yearning for a deeper appreciation of life s simple pleasures      The Confessions of a Beachcomber: Being a Treatise on Personal Sanctuary E. Discovering Magnetic Island James G. Porter,2014-11-18 Magnetic Island has probably never quite outlived Captain Cook s original rather derogatory remarks made when he first sighted the great hunk of granite rock and bush sprawled across the mouth of Cleveland Bay It was June 6th 1770 when he recorded in his Endeavour journal This bay which I named Cleveland Bay appear d to be about 5 or 6 miles in extent every way the East point I named Cape Cleveland and the West Magnetical Head or Isle as it had much the appearance of an Island and the Compass would not travis well when near it They are both tolerable high and so is the Mainland within them and the whole appear d to have the most rugged rocky and barrenest Surface of any we have yet seen The major part of Magnetic Island is a National Park controlled by the Queensland National Parks and Wildlife Service Visitors should recognize that the Island s future well being is very much in their hands dependent upon their individual caring attitude towards it The Island also lies wholly within the Great Barrier Reef Marine Park and this requires additional care by a visitor while yet enjoying all the environment has to offer     The Concord Saunterer ,1997     The Nation ,1918     The Spectator ,1908 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art

    The New Statesman ,1919     Sailor and Beachcomber Arnold Safroni-Middleton,1915     Tropic Days Edmund James Banfield,1919     Scottish Geographical Magazine ,1918     Illustrated Sporting & Dramatic News ,1918     By the Book Patrick Buckridge,Belinda McKay,2007-09 Queensland a place of barren land and wild politics with subtropical weather beaches and natural wonders is the subject of this rich literary history Chronicling a wide range of literature from the first days of European settlement to the present day this collection touches upon thematic topics such as travel stories writing for children and indigenous writings The role of institutions such as schools public libraries the press and publishers as well as how they have contributed to the shaping of Queensland s literary development is also included     The Bookseller ,1918
    The Bookman ,1908     Australian Books in Print ,1987
