Pirhonen, 2005-01-04 The perspectives and techniques used in human computer interaction design practice and research are broadening This book looks at emerging approaches which are likely to contribute to the discipline in near future The emphasis is on the social cognitive emotional creative and active dimensions of the human actor The underlying idea is that human character rather than technology should determine the nature of interaction The concept of interaction design covers this broader range of concerns relevant to enabling quality design Each chapter emphasizes alternative perspectives on interaction and new concepts to help researchers and practitioners relate to alternative design approaches and opportunities Many of these new elements can be found to be successful and established in other fields such as information systems development and industrial design This volume will be of considerable value to those seeking innovative and developing perspectives upon both designing and ensuring effective interaction between humans and technology

Future Interaction Design A. Pirhonen, H. Isomäki, C. Roast, P. Saariluoma, 2005-12-06 In 1969 Herbert Simon wrote a book The Science of the Artificial in which he argued that cognitive science should have its area of application in the design of devices He proposed the foundation of a science of the artificial related with cognitive science in the sense in which we have traditionally understood the relationship between the engineering disciplines and the basic sciences Such a science has been called cognitive ergonomics or cognitive engineering Norman 1986 Simon's cognitive ergonomics 1969 would be independent of cognitive science its basic science although both would be closely related Cognitive science would contribute knowledge on human cognitive processes and cognitive ergonomics would contribute concrete problems of design that should be solved in the context of the creation of devices Norman 1986 the author that coined the term cognitive engineering conceived it as an applied cognitive science where the knowledge of cognitive science is combined with that of engineering to solve design problems According to Norman its objectives would be 1 to understand the fundamental principles of human actions important for the development of the engineering of design principles and 2 to build systems that are pleasant in their use
