Future Of International Relations Masters In The Making:

The Future of International Relations Iver B. Neumann, Ole Wæver, 1997 The Future of International Relations Iver B. Neumann, Ole Wæver, 2005-06-29 This book presents the state of the art of international relations theory through an analysis of the work of twelve key contemporary thinkers John Vincent Kenneth Waltz Robert O Keohane Robert Gilpin Bertrand Badie John Ruggie Hayward Alker Nicholas G Onuf Alexander Wendt Jean Bethke Elshtain R B J Walker and James Der Derian The authors aim to break with the usual procedure in the field which juxtaposes aspects of the work of contemporary theorists with others presenting them as part of a disembodied school of thought or paradigm A more individual focus can demonstrate instead the well rounded character of some of the leading oeuvres and can thus offer a more representative view of the discipline This book is designed to cover the work of theorists whom students of international relations will read and sometimes struggle with The essays can be read either as introductions to the work of these theorists or as companions to it Each chapter attempts to place the thinker in the landscape of the discipline to identify how they go about studying International Relations and to discuss what others can learn from them International Society and the Development of International Relations Theory B. A. Roberson, 2002-04-30 A critical appreciation of the development of the international society idea and its influence on and relation to the development of the international relations theory A critical look is taken at the intellectual development of key members of the English School The concept of the School itself and the place of the School's theory in contemporary international relations approaches are examined Barbarians and Civilization in International Relations Mark B. Salter, 2002-09-20 The terrorist attacks in New York and Washington have led to popular conceptions of Muslims as terrorists Some commentators have harked back to the Clash of Civilizations argument outlined by Samuel Huntington which argued that after the collapse of the Cold War culture would become the main axis of conflict for civilisational alliances Mark Salter takes issue with Huntington's theory and explains how the terms of his argument are part of an imperialist discourse that casts other civilisations as essentially barbarian Although many commentators have engaged with Huntington's claims few have pursued the political implications of his argument Barbarians and Civilisation offers a decisive exploration of the colonial rhetoric inherent in current political discourse Charting the usefulness of concepts of culture and identity for understanding world politics Salter brilliantly illustrates the benefits and the limitations of the civilised barbarian dichotomy in international relations What's the Point of International Relations? Synne L. Dyvik, Jan Selby, Rorden Wilkinson, 2017-01-20 What's the Point of International Relations casts a critical eye on what it is that we think we are doing when we study and teach international relations IR It brings together many of IR's leading thinkers to challenge conventional understandings of the discipline's origins history and composition It sees IR as a discipline that has much to learn from others which has not yet lived up to its ambitions or potential and where much work remains to be done At the same time it finds much that is worth celebrating in the discipline s growing pluralism and views IR as a deeply political critical and normative pursuit The volume is divided into five parts What is the point of IR The origins of a discipline Policing the boundaries Engaging the world Imagining the future Although each chapter alludes to and or discusses central aspects of all of these components each part is designed to capture the central thrust of the concerns of the contributors Moving beyond western debate orthodox perspectives and uncritical histories this volume is essential reading for all scholars and advanced level students concerned with the history development and future of international relations

Constructing Sovereignty between Politics and Law Tanja Aalberts, 2012-08-06 This book explores the interplay between sovereignty politics and law through different conceptualizations of sovereignty Despite developments such as European integration globalization and state failure sovereignty proves to be a resilient institution in contemporary international politics This book investigates both the continuity and change of sovereignty through an examination of the different ways it is understood sovereignty as an institution as identity as a language game and as subjectivity In this illuminating book Aalberts examines sovereign statehood as a political legal concept an institutional product of modern international society and seeks an interdisciplinary approach that combines international relations and international law This book traces the consequences of this origin for the conceptualization of sovereign statehood in modern academic discourse drawing on key jurisprudence and international treaties and provides a new framework to consider the international significance of sovereignty As an innovative approach to a critical institution Constructing Sovereignty between Politics and Law will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations international relations theory and international law

The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development Adam Bronstone, 1999 Addresses the question of how identity is formed as a result of corporeal and cultural positioning by mapping Dorothy Richardson s early modernist text Pilgrimage against our postmodern interest in real and imagined geographies

Power, Realism and Constructivism Stefano Guzzini, 2013-03-20 Framed by a new and substantial introductory chapter this book collects Stefano Guzzini s reference articles and some less well known publications on power realism and constructivism By analysing theories and their assumptions but also theorists following their intellectual paths his analysis explores the diversity of different schools and moves beyond simple definitions to explore their intrinsic tensions and fallacies Guzzini s approach to the analysis of power within and outside International Relations provides the common theme of the book through which the theoretical state of the art in IR is reassessed A novel analysis of power and the potential limits of realism and constructivism in International Relations Power Realism and Constructivism will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations international political economy social and political theory and the study of power

Exploration and Contestation in the Study of World Politics Peter J. Katzenstein, Robert Owen Keohane, Stephen D. Krasner, 1999 New insights into the interplay between conflict and cooperation the impact of domestic political structures on foreign policy the role of institutions and the influence of worldviews and causal beliefs on decision making Securing 'the Homeland' Myriam Anna Dunn, Kristian Soby Kristensen, 2020-04-28 This edited volume uses a constructivist reflexive approach to address critical infrastructure protection CIP a central political practice associated with national security The politics of CIP and the construction of the threat they are meant to counter effectively establish a powerful discursive connection between that the traditional and normal conditions for day to day politics and the exceptional dynamics of national security Combining political theory and empirical case studies this volume addresses key issues related to protection and the governance of insecurity in the contemporary world The contributors track the transformation and evolution of critical infrastructures and closely related issues of homeland security into a security problem and analyze how practices associated with CIP constitute and are an expression of changing notions of security and insecurity The book explores aspects of securitisation as well as at practices audiences and contexts that enable and constrain the production of the specific form of governmentality that CIP exemplifies It also explores the rationalities at play the effects of these security practices and the implications for our understanding of security and politics today Human Rights and World Trade Ana Gonzalez-Pelaez, 2004-08-02 This book provides an analysis of the political viability of basic human rights and offers an in depth investigation of the largest violation of human rights world hunger Constructing the World Polity John Gerard Ruggie, 2002-09-11 Ruggie is one of the most important and influential International Relations theorists of the last twenty years Brings together in one volume Ruggie s most influential theoretical ideas Includes extensive introduction and material covered by essays is contextualised throughout the book Controversial includes an extended critique of mainstream theorizing The Politics of Insecurity Jef Huysmans, 2006-09-27 The act of violence of 9 11 changed the global security agenda catapulting terrorism to the top of the agenda Weapons of mass destruction grabbed public interest and controlling the free movement of people became a national security priority In this volume Jef Huysmans critically engages with theoretical developments in international relations and security studies to develop a conceptual framework for studying security He argues that security policies and responses do not appear out of the blue but are part of a continuous and gradual process pre structured by previous developments He examines this process of securitization and explores how an issue on the basis of the distribution and administration of fear becomes a security policy Huysmans then applies this theory to provide a detailed analysis of migration asylum and refuge in the European Union This theoretically sophisticated yet accessible volume makes an important contribution to the study of security migration and European politics

Research Methods in Critical Security Studies Mark B. Salter, Can E. Mutlu, 2013-04-03 This new textbook surveys new and emergent methods for doing research in critical security studies thereby filling a large gap in the literature of this emerging field New or critical security studies is growing as a field but still lacks a clear methodology the diverse range of the main foci of study culture practices language or bodies means that there is little coherence or conversation between these four schools or approaches In this ground breaking collection of fresh and emergent voices new methods in critical security studies are explored from multiple perspectives providing practical examples of successful research design and methodologies Drawing upon their own experiences and projects thirty three authors address the following turns over the course of six comprehensive sections Part I Research Design Part II The Ethnographic Turn Part III The Practice Turn Part IV The Discursive Turn Part V The Corporeal Turn Part VI The Material Turn This book will be essential reading for upper level students and researchers in the field of critical security studies and of much interest to students of sociology ethnography and IR

Rethinking European Union foreign policy Ben Tonra, Thomas Christiansen, 2018-07-30 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This book reviews a variety of approaches to the study of the European Union's foreign policy Much analysis of EU foreign policy contains theoretical assumptions about the nature of the EU and its member states their inter relationships the international system in which they operate and the nature of European integration Such assumptions when not discussed openly often curtail debate This book opens up this field of enquiry so students observers and analysts of EU foreign policy can review a range of tools and theoretical templates from which the development and the trajectory of the EU's foreign policy can be studied Situated at the interface between European studies and international relations the book outlines how the EU relates to the rest of the world explaining its effort towards creating a credible effective and principled foreign security and defence policy

International Theory Steve Smith, Ken Booth, Marysia Zalewski, 1996-06-13 This book provides a major review of the state of international theory It is focused around the issue of whether the positivist phase of international theory is now over or whether the subject remains mainly positivistic Leading scholars analyse the traditional theoretical approaches in the discipline then examine the issues and groups which are marginalised by mainstream theory before turning to four important new developments in international theory historical sociology post structuralism feminism and critical theory The book concludes with five chapters which look at the future of the subject and the practice of international relations This survey brings together key figures who have made leading contributions to the development of mainstream and alternative theory and will be a valuable text for both students and scholars of international relations

Deconstructing "Ideal Power Europe" Münevver Cebeci, 2018-12-31

Deconstructing Ideal Power Europe The EU and Arab Change criticizes the dominant discourse on European foreign policy which represents the EU as a force for good in world politics Using a poststructuralist approach it deconstructs the EU's representation as an ideal power through an analysis of European foreign policy on the Southern Mediterranean before and after the Arab uprisings In this endeavor it displaces three major discourses which construct the EU as ideal the postmodern and post sovereign EU the EU as a model a virtuous example and the EU as a normative power discourses The major argument of the book is that the ideal power Europe meta narrative is especially produced and reproduced in the EU's approach towards the Southern Mediterranean and it manifests itself through the rhetoric of responsibility and universality in the aftermath of the Arab uprisings The book also provides an analysis of how the ideal power Europe meta narrative feeds into and legitimizes European governmentality in the world in general and in the case of the Southern Mediterranean after the Arab uprisings in particular. Arguing that the depiction of the EU as postmodern post sovereign as a model an exemplar and as a normative power pertains to the representation of a regulatory ideal it elucidates how the EU pursues hegemonic practices in the Southern Mediterranean. It further manifests how the EU's governmentality is marked by a securitized depoliticizing and technocratic approach which feeds into and gets legitimized by the dominant discourse on European foreign policy reproducing the EU's ideal identity vis vis its imperfect Arab other. Theories of New Regionalism F. Söderbaum, T. Shaw, 2003-11-11. Theories of New Regionalism represents the first systematic attempt to bring together leading theories of new regionalism. Major theorists from around the world develop their own distinctive theoretical perspectives spanning new regionalism world order approaches along with regional governance liberal institutionalism neoclassical development regionalism to regional security complex theory RSCT and the region building approach.

American Exceptionalism and US Foreign Policy S. McEvoy-Levy, 2001-04-06. The book examines a critical time and place in recent world history the end of the Cold War and the strategies and values employed in the public diplomacy of the Bush and Clinton Administrations to build domestic and international consensus. It provides insight into the uses of Presidential power and provides a model and an illustration of how the role of rhetoric may be used to study the foreign policy of the United States. Russia's Geoeconomic Strategy for a Greater Eurasia Glenn Diesen, 2017-07-06. This book explains how Russia is adjusting to its ongoing realignment towards Asia while engaging in a parallel assessment of Russia's interactions with other significant actors in the region China the US the EU and NATO.
