Future Health Workforce:

Retooling for an Aging America Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on the Future Health Care Workforce for Older Americans, 2008-09-27 As the first of the nation's 78 million baby boomers begin reaching age 65 in 2011 they will face a health care workforce that is too small and woefully unprepared to meet their specific health needs. Retooling for an Aging America calls for bold initiatives starting immediately to train all health care providers in the basics of geriatric care and to prepare family members and other informal caregivers who currently receive little or no training in how to tend to their aging loved ones. The book also recommends that Medicare, Medicaid and other health plans pay higher rates to boost recruitment and retention of geriatric specialists and care aides. Educators and health professional groups can use Retooling for an Aging America to institute or increase formal education and training in geriatrics. Consumer groups can use the book to advocate for improving the care for older adults. Health care professional and occupational groups can use it to improve the quality of health care jobs.

Lee, E. Lee Rosenthal, Durrell J. Fox, 2022-03-21 The Frail Surgical Patient

Virginia Boccardi, Luigi Marano, 2025-01-27 This book explores the transdisciplinary approach to general surgery for the frail patient promoting the use of a geriatric model of care in general surgical settings and thus proposing a gerosurgery approach in frail persons beyond chronological age. Aging frailty and surgical needs are increasing dramatically worldwide while surgeons are daily facing with the trouble of the trade off between short term outcomes and efficacy of surgery in older persons. However recent studies have clearly shown that age itself is not a prognostic risk factor for complications after elective surgery in older patients whereas cognitive or functional frailty is. Neither a referring physician nor an assessing surgeon should deny patients surgery purely based on chronological age. Instead decisions should be based on a CGA comprehensive geriatric assessment with a precise picture of the patient considering the cognitive functional nutritional socioeconomic and affective status. Recent studies examining the use of preparative CGA in surgical patients showed encouraging results on postoperative outcomes in old and or frail patients. The most compelling current evidence comes from the orthopaedic community which has embraced the idea of multidisciplinary team care. Preoperative evaluation postoperative care pain control nutritional support delirium prevention mobilization and rehabilitation are necessary also in general surgery. An expert multidisciplinary team including geriatricians anaesthesiologists specialist nurses physiotherapists and nutritionists should mandatorily support surgeons. With this book the reader will have an exhaustive overview and will gain essential practical knowledge on how best to manage the surgical and frail patient and how to develop clinical systems that do so reliably.
