Approaches to Teaching the Works of David Foster Wallace

Stephen J. Burn, Mary K. Holland, 2019-08-01 Offers pedagogical techniques for teaching the works of David Foster Wallace's novels, short stories, and essays. Includes considerations of Wallace's literary techniques, philosophy, and literary ethics. Gives syllabus suggestions for undergraduate and graduate courses in American literature surveys, first-year composition courses, world literature surveys, and high school courses.

Beyond the Horizon John Edmonds, 2013-02-12 Author John Edmonds was given something very few were given insight on the day he died. For the twenty-five minutes when his physical body was without a heartbeat, his spiritual self soared to a great and profound epiphany. On this impossible journey, he was given a glimpse into a greater truth as he learned of his thirty-three previous incarnations on this earth. Among his past lives, he was an Inuit kinsman, a father, a doctor, a seafarer, an ancient pagan chieftain, and a monk. He was allowed to revisit a former life in which he and Jesus Christ, his dearest soul brother, lived in a town called Bethany. There they shared in His love and wisdom. At night, as the blazing winter fires burned, they partook of the Divine. John and his sisters clothed Him, bathed Him, and anointed His feet. In return, He saved them in every possible way. Their hearts were torn to learn of His great suffering. He was the One, the Messiah. He was Christ Jesus, and He was John's dearest friend. These are John's tales of a past life spent in the blessed company of Christ Jesus, his brother, his flesh, and his blood. His very personal recollection of an extraordinary friendship and love. It chronicles an epic journey from ancient times to the present day, a journey far beyond the realm of the living. This is the story of his fascinating and compelling nonphysical experience and the instruction he received during his time on the other side. His is an astonishing tale of survival, courage, revelation, and inconceivable willpower.

Writing otherwise Jackie Stacey, Janet Wolff, 2016-05-16 Writing otherwise is a collection of essays by established feminist and cultural critics interested in experimenting with new styles of expression. Leading figures in their field, such as Marianne Hirsch, Lynne Pearce, Griselda Pollock, Carol Smart, Jackie Stacey, and Janet Wolff, all risk new ways of writing about themselves and their subjects. Aimed at both general and academic readers interested in how scholarly writing might be more innovative and creative, this collection introduces the personal, the poetic, and the experimental into the frame of cultural criticism. This collection of essays is highly interdisciplinary and contributes to debates in sociology, history, anthropology, art history, cultural, and media studies, and gender studies.

Suicide Century Andrew Bennett, 2017-10-05 Suicide Century investigates suicide as an increasingly normalised but still deeply traumatic and profoundly baffling act in twentieth-century writing.

Gesturing Toward Reality: David Foster Wallace and Philosophy Robert K. Bolger, Scott Korb, 2014-06-19 Asked in 2006 about the philosophical nature of his fiction, the late American writer David Foster Wallace replied, "If some people read my fiction and see it as fundamentally about philosophical ideas, what it probably means is that these are pieces where the characters are not as alive and interesting as I meant them to be." Gesturing Toward Reality looks into this quality of Wallace's work when the writer dons the philosopher's cap and sees something else. With essays offering a careful perusal of Wallace's extensive and heavily annotated self-help library re-considerations of Wittgenstein's influence on his fiction and serious explorations into the moral and spiritual landscape where Wallace lived and wrote this collection offers a perspective on Wallace that even he was not always ready to see. Since so much has been said in specifically literary circles about Wallace's philosophical acumen it seems natural to have those with an interest in both philosophy and Wallace's writing address how these two areas come together.

Propelled Andreas Elpidorou, 2020 In Propelled Andreas Elpidorou makes a lively case for the value of discontent and illustrates how boredom, frustration and anticipation are good for us. Weaving together stories from disciplines as wide ranging as classical literature and video games Elpidorou shows that these psychological states illuminate our desires and expectations and inform us when we find ourselves stuck in unpleasant and unfulfilling situations. Boredom, frustration and anticipation aren't obstacles to our goals; they are our guides propelling us into lives that are truly our own.

Mind - the Final Frontier Ravi Singh, 2016-08-10 From caves to condos, from spears to spaceships and from stone to electronic tablets, human beings have broken multiple barriers to pave the path of progress. Today we are materially much more prosperous than we were a couple of centuries ago, but are we happier and more fulfilled? For many of us the answer is a bewildering no. We often feel anxious and lost as if living somebody else's life. The author argues that the answer lies inside our minds and it is within the highs and lows of our thoughts that we can find clues for addressing our discontent and confusions about life. He explores an innovative method, the Information Processing Approach (IPA), to understand how the human mind works and throws light on questions such as: Who am I? What's the purpose of my life? Why do I dislike my job? and How can I improve my personal relationships? He takes you on a momentous journey of self-discovery.

Reading Boyishly Carol Mavor, 2007 Study of nostalgic representations of the maternal, the home and childhood in the literature and photographs of early 20th century artists.

Frank Leslie's Pleasant Hours, 1884

Representing the Passions Richard Evan Meyer, 2003 Through an interlocking series of texts and images this work explores how extreme sensations such as wonder, misery, ecstasy and rage have been portrayed at different moments in Western culture. Moving across multiple fields of creative endeavour and intellectual inquiry from classical artefacts to Chicano art, political protest to operatic performance, Rene Descartes's writings on the soul to the Internet's digitised flesh, it reveals how the passions have elicited, eluded and transformed the act of representation.
