From Culture To Power:

Culture, Power, and Authoritarianism in the Indonesian State Tod Jones, 2013-06-06 Culture Power and Authoritarianism in the Indonesian State is a critical history of cultural policy in one of the world's most diverse nations across the tumultuous twentieth century. It charts the influence of momentous political changes on the cultural policies of successive states including colonial government, Japanese occupation, the killing and repression of the left and their affiliates, and the return of representative government, and examines broader social changes like nationalism and consumer culture. The book uses the concept of authoritarian cultural policy or cultural policy that was premised on increased state control, tracing its presence from the colonial era until today. Tod Jones' use of historical and case study chapters captures the central state's changing cultural policies and its diverse outcomes across Indonesia.

Culture, Power And History Stephen J. Pfahl, 2006 This volume brings together theoretical meditations and empirical studies of the intersection of culture, power, and history in social life. Contributors bring a diversity of critical sociological perspectives and subject matters to this important edited book.

Culture, Power and Education Peter Mayo, 2024-11-29 Employing Gramscian conceptions of hegemony, this book demonstrates the inextricable links between politics, education, culture, and power. Based upon in-depth analyses of the theories of Antonio Gramsci, Lorenzo Milani, Paulo Freire, Henry Giroux, and bell hooks, among others, this book shows how many hegemonic social relationships are fundamentally educational relationships. In doing so, Mayo demonstrates how popular culture, education, museums, and fine art are both sites of hegemony and contestation. This thought-provoking work will be of interest to students and scholars with an interest in sociology of art and culture, sociology of education, critical pedagogy, cultural studies, museum studies, and social theory.

Culture/Power/History Nicholas B. Dirks, Geoffrey H. Eley, Sherry B. Ortner, 2021-04-13 The intellectual radicalism of the 1960s spawned a new set of questions about the role and nature of the political in social life, questions that have since revolutionized nearly every field of thought from literary criticism through anthropology to the philosophy of science. Michel Foucault, in particular, made us aware that whatever our functionally defined roles in society, we are constantly negotiating questions of authority and the control of the definitions of reality. Such insights have led theorists to challenge concepts that have long formed the very underpinnings of their disciplines. By exploring some of the most debated of these concepts, culture, power, and history, this reader offers an enriching perspective on social theory in the contemporary moment. Organized around these three concepts, Culture, Power, History brings together both classic and new essays that address Foucault's new economy of power relations in a number of different contestatory directions. Representing innovative work from various disciplines and sites of study from taxidermy to Madonna, the book seeks to affirm the creative possibilities available in a time marked by growing uncertainty about established disciplinary forms of knowledge and by the increasing fluidity of the boundaries between them. The book is introduced by a major synthetic essay by the editors which calls attention to the most significant issues enlivening theoretical discourse today.

The editors seek not only to encourage scholars to reflect anew on the course of social theory but also to orient newcomers to this area of inquiry. The essays are contributed by Linda Alcoff Cultural Feminism versus Post Structuralism, Sally Alexander Women, Class and Sexual Differences in the 1830s and 1840s, Tony Bennett The Exhibitionary Complex, Pierre Bourdieu Structures of Habitus, Power, Nicholas B. Dirks Ritual and Resistance, Geoff Eley Nations, Publics and Political Cultures, Michel Foucault Two Lectures, Henry Louis Gates Jr. Authority, White Power and the Black Critic, Stephen Greenblatt The Circulation of Social Energy, Ranajit Guha The Prose of Counter Insurgency, Stuart Hall Cultural Studies: Two Paradigms, Susan Harding The Born Again Telescandals, Donna Haraway Teddy Bear Patriarchy, Dick Hebdige After the Masses, Susan McClary *Living to Tell Madonna's Resurrection of the Fleshly Sherry B. Traube Secrets of Success in Postmodern Society, Raymond Williams selections from Marxism and Literature, and Judith Williamson Family Education Photography.

Culture, Power, Place Akhil Gupta, James Ferguson, 1997-07-24

Anthropology has traditionally relied on a spatially localized society or culture as its object of study. The essays in Culture, Power, Place demonstrate how in recent years this anthropological convention and its attendant assumptions about identity and cultural difference have undergone a series of important challenges. In light of increasing mass migration and the transnational cultural flows of a late capitalist postcolonial world, the contributors to this volume examine shifts in anthropological thought regarding issues of identity, place, power, and resistance. This collection of both new and well-known essays begins by critically exploring the concepts of locality and community first as they have had an impact on contemporary global understandings of displacement and mobility and second as they have had a part in defining identity and subjectivity itself. With sites of discussion ranging from a democratic Spain to a Puerto Rican barrio in North Philadelphia, from Burundian Hutu refugees in Tanzania to Asian landscapes in rural California, from the silk factories of Hangzhou to the long-sought-after home of the Palestinians, these essays examine the interplay between changing schemes of categorization and the discourses of difference on which these concepts are based. The effect of the placeless mass media on our understanding of place and the forces that make certain identities viable in the world and others not are also discussed, as are the intertwining of place-making, identity, and resistance as they interact with the meaning and consumption of signs. Finally, this volume offers a self-reflective look at the social and political location of anthropologists in relation to the questions of culture, power, and place, the effect of their participation in what was once seen as their descriptions of these constructions. Contesting the classical idea of culture as the shared, the agreed-upon, and the orderly, Culture, Power, Place is an important intervention in the disciplines of anthropology and cultural studies.

Culture, Power, and the State Prasenjit Duara, 1991-04-01

In the early twentieth century, the Chinese state made strenuous efforts to broaden and deepen its authority over rural society. This book is an ambitious attempt to offer both a method and a framework for analyzing Chinese social history in the state making era The author constructs a prismatic view of village level society that shows how marketing kinship water control temple patronage and other structures of human interaction overlapped to form what he calls the cultural nexus of power in local society The author s concept of the cultural nexus and his tracing of how it was altered enables us for the first time to grapple with change at the village level in all its complexity The author asserts that the growth of the state transformed and delegitimized the traditional cultural nexus during the Republican era particularly in the realm of village leadership and finances Thus the expansion of state power was ultimately and paradoxically responsible for the revolution in China as it eroded the foundations of village life leaving nothing in its place The problems of state making in China were different from those of eighteenth and nineteenth century Europe the Chinese experience heralds the process that would become increasingly common in the emergent states of the developing world under the very different circumstances of the twentieth century
