Fur West The:

French Fur Traders and Voyageurs in the American West LeRoy Reuben Hafen, Janet Lecompte, 1997-01-01
Frenchmen were far ahead of Englishmen in the early Far West not only prior in time but greater in numbers and in historical importance writes Janet Lecompte in her introduction to French Fur Traders and Voyageurs in the American West. They were the first to navigate the Mississippi and its tributaries and they founded St Louis and New Orleans. Though France lost her North American possessions in 1763 thousands of her natives remained on the continent. Many of them were voyageurs for Hudson's Bay Company whose descendants would join American fur trade companies plying the trans Mississippi West. This volume documents the fact that in the nineteenth century Frenchmen dominated the fur trade in the United States. Twenty-two biographies collected from LeRoy R. Hafen's classic ten-volume The Mountain Men and the Fur Trade of the Far West represent a variety of origins and social classes, types of work and trading areas. Here are trappers who joined John Jacob Astor's ill-fated fur venture on the Pacific; St. Louis traders who hauled goods to Spanish New Mexico along the Santa Fe Trail; and those who traded with Indians in the western plains and mountains. Kansas City, Missouri Carrie Westlake Whitney, 1908 The National Forests of the Northern Region, 1993 Sharpe's road-book for the rail, eastern (western) division John Sharpe, 1855 Problems of Communism, 1976 Sharpe's Road Book for the Rail; Western Division, Including the Lines South of the Thames. A number of valuable and interesting publications have appeared in the last few years on East-West cooperation. These studies, which by means of interviews and direct contacts with the firms concerned, have shed some light on a subject that in the past had remained little known, also provided us with extremely valuable incentives. Most of these studies dealt only with individual aspects of cooperation, particularly the legal and microeconomic aspects. The quantitative data used, however, did not easily lend themselves to comparison. Eastern European studies more often contained the views of the respective governments than the experiences of enterprises involved.
