

Incomes have grown over the long term for families with four-year degree holders

SOURCE: Authors' analysis of IPUMS CPS-ASEC data.

NOTES: Chart shows percent change in family income before taxes, including wages and earnings, income earned from businesses, farms and/or investments, retirement account withdrawals, social security, cash welfare, unemployment insurance, and other sources. Family income does not include stimulus payments or in-kind safety net benefits. Family income is adjusted for inflation and stated in 2021 dollars. To make families comparable, income is normalized to reflect the equivalent for a family of four. Education categories are determined by the education level of the household head. The time series is adjusted to account for ASEC survey changes in 2015 and 2019; entropy weights are used in 2018–2020.
