Economic and Social Survey of Asia and the Pacific 2006 United Nations. Economic and Social Commission for Asia and the Pacific, 2006 This edition of the yearly survey examines regional economic and social developments in the Asia and the Pacific region during 2005 The growth rate slowed moderately in 2005 mainly as a result of high oil prices and softening of growth in global trade For 2006 it is expected that growth maintains its current momentum providing that oil prices do not increase significantly and global external imbalances do not unwind suddenly Projects for the region would also be affected if avian influenza develops into a human pandemic Efforts are needed to ensure all benefits of high growth are passed on to the poor via good employment opportunities for all      Economic and Social Survey of Asia and the Pacific 2005 United Nations. practices youth in the region are engaged in and elucidates the process of social change taking place in some Asia Pacific nations This book contributes to the important and growing field of youth media studies The regionalization of media research is necessarily recuperated here bringing large populations of media users into a frame of reference that allows critical reflection on the new waves of use and sociality in the Asia Pacific region Stephanie Hemelryk Donald Professor of International Studies UTS      Economic and Environmental Impact of Free Trade in East and South East Asia Kakali Mukhopadhyay, Paul J.
