Geomorphology In Deserts:

Geomorphology of Desert Environments Anthony J. Parsons, A. D. Abrahams, 2009-03-20 About one third of the Earth's land surface experiences a desert climate and this area supports approximately 15% of the planet's population. This percentage continues to grow and with this growth comes the need to acquire and apply an understanding of desert geomorphology. Such an understanding is vital in managing scarce and fragile resources and in mitigating natural hazards. This authoritative reference book is comprehensive in its coverage of the geomorphology of desert environments and is arranged thematically. It begins with an overview of global deserts, proceeds through treatments of weathering, hillslopes, rivers, piedmonts, lake basins, and aeolian surfaces, and concludes with a discussion of the role of climatic change. Written by a team of international authors, all of whom are active in the field, the chapters cover the spectrum of desert geomorphology.

Geomorphology in Deserts Ronald U. Cooke, Andrew Warren, 2023-11-15 This book examines the landforms, soils, and geomorphological processes of deserts, which cover over 20% of Earth's land surface. Despite their vastness and the significant body of literature on the topic, deserts remain underrepresented in comprehensive geomorphological surveys, with notable exceptions like Walther's Das Gesetz der Wiistenbildung (1924), Cotton's Climatic Accidents in Landscape Making (1942), and Tricart and Cailleux's Le Model des R gions S ches (1961). Our study builds on these works, incorporating our field experiences in deserts across North America, South America, North Africa, and Pakistan, while primarily drawing on English language research and emphasizing contemporary geomorphological systems at different scales. By focusing on present processes shaping landforms and soils, we have given less attention to regional chronologies of landform development, a consequence of our selective approach. The field of desert geomorphology still grapples with speculative theories such as parallel slope retreat and pervasive wind erosion, which often overshadow empirical evidence. We aim to provide grounded generalizations, clarify contested ideas, and pose meaningful questions to establish a baseline for future research, hoping to contribute to a deeper understanding of the dynamic processes shaping desert landscapes. This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program, which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice, reach, and impact. Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893, Voices Revived makes high-quality, peer-reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print-on-demand technology. This title was originally published in 1973.

Desert Geomorphology Andrew Goudie, Andrew Watson, 1990 Desert Geomorphology Ronald U. Cooke, Andrew Warren, Andrew S. Goudie, 1993-01-14 Including recent research findings from terrestrial satellite imagery, the study of planetary landscapes and advances in laboratory work, this also covers the environmental processes involved in desertification and the solution of planning and Geomorphology of Desert Dunes Nicholas Lancaster, 2013-07-04 How desert dunes are formed, how they change, their environmental significance, and the role of climate change: these issues are examined through extensive case studies drawn from South Africa, India, Northern Europe, and Australia Geomorphology of Desert Environments A. D. Abrahams, A. Parsons, 2013-04-17 Over the last twenty years there has been a major expansion of knowledge in the field of landforms and landforming processes of deserts This advanced level book provides a benchmark for the current state of science and is written by an international team of authors who are acknowledged experts in their fields Great Warm Deserts of the World Andrew Goudie, 2002 This is the first ever regional study of the geomorphology of the world's deserts demonstrating why different deserts have special landscape features and land forming processes It explains the climatic and tectonic history of deserts showing how the histories of the deserts have been long and complex and how they have responded to global changes in climate particularly over the course of the last few millions of years Each of the major warm deserts of the world is treated in detail and the book is extensively illustrated with numerous plates and figures A large and comprehensive bibliography provides a guide to the international literature

GEOMORPHOLOGY IN DESERTS. R.N. COOKE, Geomorphology of Desert Environments Vinayak Joshipura, 2025-02-20 Geomorphology of Desert Environments delves into the intricate processes and landforms that shape arid landscapes worldwide Authored by leading experts this comprehensive book explores the dynamic interactions between geological forces climate patterns and ecological systems in desert regions We begin with an overview of geomorphology principles including erosion deposition and weathering processes specific to deserts The role of aeolian processes such as wind erosion and sand dune formation is examined showcasing iconic desert landforms like sand seas and yardangs Through detailed case studies and field observations we highlight the diversity of desert landscapes and the unique geomorphic features of different desert regions From the sandstone buttes of the American Southwest to the salt flats of the Sahara Desert each chapter explores the geological history environmental dynamics and ecological significance of desert landforms We also delve into human environment interactions shaping desert landscapes including the impacts of human activities on erosion rates soil degradation and desertification Sustainable land management practices water resource management and conservation efforts in arid regions are examined Richly illustrated with maps diagrams and photographs this book is an indispensable resource for understanding the complex interplay of geological climatic and ecological factors in desert environments The History of the Study of Landforms or the Development of Geomorphology, Volume 5 T.P.

Burt, A.S. Goudie, H.A. Viles, 2022-10-20 Co published with British Society for Geomorphology This volume is the fifth in the definitive series The History of the Study of Landforms or the Development of Geomorphology Volume 1 1964 dealt with contributions to the field up to 1890 Volume 2 1973 with the concepts and contributions of William Morris Davis and Volume 3 1991 covered historical and regional themes during the classic period of geomorphology 1890 1950 Volume 4 2008 concentrated on studies of geomorphological processes and Quaternary geomorphology between 1890 and 1965 by the end of this period process based studies had become dominant Volume 5 builds on this platform covering in detail the revolutionary changes in approach that characterized the study of geomorphology in the second half of the twentieth century

It is divided into three sections the first deals with changes in approach and method the second with changes in ideas and the broader scientific context within which geomorphology is studied and the final section details advances in research on processes and landforms The volume s objective is to describe and analyse many of the developments that provide a foundation for the rich and varied subject matter of twenty first century geomorphology

Gutierrez Elorza,2005-12-29 During the past few decades climatic geomorphology has been substantially enlarged in knowledge thanks to numerous detailed investigations the application of a large number of techniques and the acquisition of abundant absolute dates The challenge of predicting the effects of the prophesied future global warming on morphogenetic processes and landforms has encouraged geomorphologists to study the Late Pleistocene and Holocene climatic changes from the geomorphological and geological record The advances achieved in the field of climatic geomorphology during the past years are reflected by the publication of several specific monographs about the different morphoclimatic zones The aim of this book is to provide an up to date general view of this branch of geomorphology It includes a chapter on applied geomorphology for each morphoclimatic zone providing an approximation of the main environmental problems Geoscientists geomorphologists Deserts and Desert Environments Julie J Laity,2009-01-28 Taking a global perspective this book provides a concise overviewof drylands including their physical biological temporal andhuman components Examines the physical systems occurring in desert environments including climate hydrology past and present lakes weathering hillslopes geomorphic surfaces water as a geomorphic agent andaeolian processes Offers an accessible introduction to the physical biological temporal and human components of drylands Investigates the nature environmental requirements andessential geomorphic roles of plants and animals in this stressfulbiological environment Highlights the impact of human population growth on climate desertification water resources and dust storm activity Includes an examination of surface atmosphere interactions andthe impact of ENSO events

Desert Meteorology Thomas T. Warner,2009-01-18 Aridity prevails over more than one third of the land area of the Earth and over a significant fraction of the oceans as well Yet to date there has been no comprehensive reference volume or textbook dealing with the weather processes that define the character of desert areas Desert Meteorology fills this gap by treating all aspects of desert weather such as large scale and local scale causes of aridity precipitation characteristics in deserts dust storms floods climate change in deserts precipitation processes desertification land surface physics of deserts numerical modelling of desert atmospheres and the effect of desert weather on humans A summary is provided of the climates and surface properties of the desert areas of the world The book is written with the assumption that the reader has only a basic knowledge of meteorology physics and calculus making it useful to those in a wide range of disciplines It includes review questions and problems for the student This comprehensive volume will satisfy all who need to know more about the weather and climate of arid lands It will appeal especially to advanced students and researchers in environmental science meteorology physical geography hydrology and engineering Climate Change in Deserts Martin

Williams,2014-08-11 A synthesis of the environmental and climatic history of every major desert and desert margin for researchers and advanced students Desert Landscapes and Landforms of Iran Mehran Maghsoudi,2020-09-29 This book offers a unique and highly illustrated overview of the desert geomorphology of Iran It describes the different landscapes and landforms of desert areas such as ergs and badlands offering a comprehensive insight into typical fluvial and eolian forms such as playas alluvial fans yardangs salt domes dunes hoodoos and many more The monograph elaborates the interaction of humans with the landscapes and discusses ongoing developments in geotourism natural heritage sites as well as the potential for geoparks Desert Landscapes and Landforms of Iran contains many photographs satellite images high resolution aerial photos maps charts and tables which build a nice framework for the assessment of the different geomorphological features It constitutes a comprehensive introduction for researchers and students of many disciplines in the fields of geography geosciences tourism and leisure studies environmental sciences and landscape planning interested in typical physical characteristics of desert landscapes Microbiology of Hot Deserts Jean-Baptiste Ramond,Don A.

Cowan,2022-07-28 This book covers the wider aspects of the microbiology of hot desert soil ecosystems compiling disparate information from a range of relevant desert soil microbial fields The reader learns about microbial ecology of the more dominant and possibly most important desert habitats detailing the phylogenetic and functional diversity of these different habitats as well as their potential role in desert ecosystem ecology Particular attention is also given to microbial stress adaptation in hot desert soils Furthermore it is the first volume in this particular field to cover modern metagenomics technologies that can be applied to studies of all aspects of desert microbial communities Additionally the book explores viruses and viral communities which are among the least studied and little understood components of desert soil microbial communities Particular attention is also given to the roles of desert microbial communities in biogeochemical cycling of carbon nitrogen and phosphorus Through this book the reader discovers how desert microbiology has been at the forefront of Astrobiology and how it may be used conceptually in future terraforming strategies Desert ecosystems are increasingly coming into focus given the impacts of climate change and desertification trends making this volume particularly timely Each of the chapters is authored by leading international researchers and is a must read for microbial ecologists Desert Landscapes of the World with Google Earth Andrew Goudie,2023-01-01 This book presents an introduction to desert landscapes primarily landforms that are natural and man made It is based around the presentation of a series of beautiful and informative annotated Google Earth images These are accompanied by text that describes the features concerned their
