Eloquent War Personal Public Writings From Civil War:

The Eloquent War Donna Bodden, Eleanor Lang, 1999-08-03 The Civil War confronted all Americans with the weightiest moral and political issues since the American Revolution In diaries and journals they argued and agonized with themselves in sermons and speeches in poems and love letters they revealed to one another their own interior war As they sought with words to hold their experiences steady for a moment they sometimes achieved the eloquence that may evoke extraordinary times The 59 selections in this volume written between 1860 and 1865 include such well known writers as Frederick Douglass Lincoln Melville and Whitman as well as the lesser known whose experience of war is immediate unfiltered by memory It is a picture of America a literature that crosses all social borders an integrated portrait of the Civil War as a national experience
