Genre And Writing Issues Arguments Alternatives:

Genre and Writing Wendy Bishop, Hans A. Ostrom, 1997 The theory and criticism of genres of writing was once a stable staid area of English studies based largely on a fixed taxonomy of formalism But with the rise of different postmodern theories work in sociolinguistics and the influence of contemporary research these notions are now under dispute This book takes a broad look at the concepts and applications of genre presenting several theoretical critical and pedagogical perspectives Landmark Essays on Rhetorical Genre Studies Carolyn R. Miller, Amy J. Devitt, 2024-11-01 Landmark Essays on Rhetorical Genre Studies gathers major works that have contributed to the recent rhetorical reconceptualization of genre A lively and complex field developed over the past 30 years Rhetorical Genre Studies is central to many current research and teaching agendas This collection which is organized both thematically and chronologically explores genre research across a range of disciplinary interests but with a specific focus on rhetoric and composition With introductions by the co editors to frame and extend each section this volume helps readers understand and contextualize both the foundations of the field and the central themes and insights that have emerged It will be of particular interest to students and scholars working on topics related to composition rhetoric professional and technical writing and applied linguistics Scientific Discourse and the Rhetoric of Globalization Carmen Pérez-Llantada, 2012-03-29 The rhetorical practices involved with the dissemination of scientific discourse are shifting Addressing these changes this book places the discourse of science in an increasingly multilingual and multicultural academic area It contests monolingual assumptions informing scientific discourse calling attention to emerging glocal discourses that make hybrids of the standard globalized and local academic English norms English clearly has a hegemonic role as the lingua franca of global academia this book conducts an intercultural rhetorical and textographic analysis to compare how Anglophone and non Anglophone academics utilise the standardized rhetorical conventions for scientific writing It takes an academic literacies approach providing a rhetorically and pedagogically informed discussion It enquires into the process of linguistic and rhetorical acculturation of both monolingual and multilingual scholars and in doing so redefines the contemporary rhetoric of science Rhetoric, Uncertainty, and the University as Text Andrew Stubbs, 2007 A Guide to Composition Pedagogies Gary Tate, Amy Rupiper-Taggart, Kurt Schick, Brooke Hessler, 2014-02 This is a bibliographic guide written for newcomers to the field The book familiarizes writing instructors with the current topography of composition studies and directs them to the best books and articles for further exploration Concepts in Composition Irene L. Clark, 2011-09-01 Concepts in Composition Theory and Practice in the Teaching of Writing is designed to foster reflection on how theory impacts practice enabling prospective teachers to develop their own comprehensive and coherent conception of what writing is or should be and to consider how people learn to write This approach allows readers to assume the dual role of both teacher and student as they enter the conversation of the discipline and become familiar with some of the critical issues New to this second edition are up to date primary source readings a focus on collaborative writing practices and collaborative learning additional assignments and classroom activities an emphasis on new media and information literacy and their impact on the teaching of writing These new directions will inform the content of this revision reflecting significant advancements in the field Each chapter addresses a particular theoretical concept relevant to classroom teaching and includes activities to help readers establish the connection between theoretical concepts and classroom lessons Online resources include overviews classroom handouts exercises a sample syllabus and PowerPoint presentations Bringing together scholars with expertise in particular areas of composition this text will serve as an effective primer for students and educators in the field of composition theory Genre and the Performance of Publics Mary Jo Reiff, Anis Bawarshi, 2016-03-01 In recent decades genre studies has focused attention on how genres mediate social activities within workplace and academic settings Genre and the Performance of Publics moves beyond institutional settings to explore public contexts that are less hierarchical broadening the theory of how genres contribute to the interconnected and dynamic performances of public life Chapters examine how genres develop within publics and how genres tend to mediate performances in public domains setting up a discussion between public sphere scholarship and rhetorical genre studies The volume extends the understanding of genres as not only social ways of organizing texts or mediating relationships within institutions but as dynamic performances themselves By exploring how genres shape the formation of publics Genre and the Performance of Publics brings rhetoric composition and public sphere studies into dialogue and enhances the understanding of public genre performances in ways that contribute to research on and teaching of public discourse Black Dogs and Blue Words Kimberly Emmons, 2010 Analyzes the rhetoric surrounding depression Maintains that the techniques and language of depression marketing strategies vague words such as worry irritability and loss of interest target women and young girls and encourage self diagnosis and self medication Further depression narratives and other texts encode a series of gendered messages about health and illness As depression and other forms of mental illness move from the medical professional sphere into that of the consumer public the boundary at which distress becomes disease grows ever more encompassing the need for remediation and treatment increasingly warranted From publisher description Disciplining English David R. Shumway, Craig Dionne, 2002-07-17 Offers historical and present day perspectives on what English departments do and how and why they do it Modern Genre Theory Andrew Judd, 2024-07-02 How a better understanding of genre leads to a better understanding of the biblical text The Bible with its gloriously rich diversity of ancient genres demands a flexible and historically aware approach to genre Different conceptions of narrative poetry gospel epistle wisdom and apocalyptic texts lead to vastly different readings and our disagreements about what the Bible means often boil down to different assumptions about what the biblical text is As secular genre theory has experienced a recent renaissance biblical studies has been left in the dark ages of rigid taxonomies and stubborn essentialism The Bible deserves better This book offers students in biblical studies an accessible but comprehensive introduction to modern genre theory providing access to literary tools for understanding how writers and readers use genre to make meaning Modern Genre Theory describes the current state of biblical genre theory as well as the meaning of form criticism and why it needs to die Scholar of biblical hermeneutics Andrew Judd then presents a better alternative of interpretation based on the best developments in secular literary theory linguistics and rhetorical studies Drawing on advancements in modern genre theory Judd Proposes a working definition of genre for biblical studies Identifies twelve tenets of modern genre theory that follow from seeing genres in their historical and social context Offers eight case studies in biblical exegesis to show how a better understanding of genre leads to a better understanding of the Bible From the creation accounts of Genesis to the visions of Revelation it is important to get a handle on genre This book offers a way to reading the Bible better

Studies in the History of the English Language VIII Peter Grund, Megan Hartman, 2020-11-09 This volume collects essays that approach notions of creating maintaining and crossing boundaries in the history of the English language The concept of boundaries is variously defined within linguistics depending on the theoretical framework from formal and theoretical perspectives to specific fields and more empirical physical and perceptual angles The contributions to this volume do not take one particular theoretical or methodological approach but instead explore how examining various types of boundaries linguistic conceptual analytical generic physical helps us illuminate and account for historical use variation and change in English In their exploration of various topics in the history of English contributions ask a range of questions what does it mean to set up boundaries between time periods When do language varieties have distinct boundaries and when do they overlap Where do language users draw up clausal constructional semantic phonetic phonological boundaries Thus the chapters explore not only how boundaries illustrate synchronic and diachronic features in the history of the English language but also what we can discover by questioning perceived or actual boundaries

Researching Specialized Languages Vijay Kumar Bhatia, Purificación Sánchez Hernández, Pascual Pérez-Paredes, 2011 The present collection of articles represents research efforts in the field of specialised languages including the analysis of research articles in disciplines as diverse as Biomedicine and Computing on the one hand and overlapping disciplines such as in Social Sciences on the other all with high relevance to English for Academic Purposes and English for specific Purposes The volume offers empirical evidence obtained from corpus based analyses of language both from diachronic as well as synchronic perspectives on topics such as the role of mother tongue in professional writing the analysis of conference abstracts as a genre or the analysis of visual data transfer This collection addresses issues such as the implementation of lexicons for specialised language learning and the development of ontologies to research language patterns The volume thus provides a rich repertoire of research methodologies in depth analyses of specialised discourses and the identification and discussion of relevant pedagogic issues Winner of the 4th Edition of the Enrique Alcaraz Research Award

essays in this collection offer a timely intervention in digital humanities scholarship bringing together established and emerging scholars from a variety of humanities disciplines across the world The first section offers views on the practical realities of teaching digital humanities at undergraduate and graduate levels presenting case studies and snapshots of the authors experiences alongside models for future courses and reflections on pedagogical successes and failures The next section proposes strategies for teaching foundational digital humanities methods across a variety of scholarly disciplines and the book concludes with wider debates about the place of digital humanities in the academy from the field s cultural assumptions and social obligations to its political visions 4e de couverture

Theological Anthropology and the Great Literary Genres Michael P. Jensen, 2019-08-23 The storytelling impulse lies very deep within human cultures indeed it is fundamental to the very concept of human culture itself What then is humankind according to the great story types of tragedy epic and comedy What do each of these genres say about us and what transcends us Building on critical discussions of the great genres of the Western literary tradition Michael P Jensen argues that each of these genres contains a the anthropology a theological understanding of the human creature He then shows how questions of identity purpose and destiny are addressed within each genre concluding that human existence is a storied nature shaped by the various literary forms that have fostered human cultural imagination These genres provide crucial keys to vital anthropological and theological questions when put in conversation with Christian theology as Jensen shows the Christian story the gospel shares many observations about the human condition with the great genres but offers a different sense of ending

Upsetting Composition Commonplaces Ian Barnard, 2014-07-15 In Upsetting Composition Commonplaces Ian Barnard argues that composition still retains the bulk of instructional practices that were used in the decades before poststructuralist theory discredited them While acknowledging that some of the foundational insights of poststructuralist theory can be difficult to translate to the classroom Barnard upends several especially intransigent tenets that continue to influence the teaching of writing and how students are encouraged to understand writing Using six major principles of writing classrooms and textbooks clarity intent voice ethnography audience and objectivity Barnard looks at the implications of poststructuralist theory for pedagogy While suggesting some evocative poststructuralist pedagogical practices the author focuses on diagnosing the fault lines of composition s refusal of poststructuralism rather than on providing solutions in the form of teaching templates Upsetting Composition Commonplaces addresses the need to more effectively engage in poststructuralist concepts in composition in an accessible and engaging voice that will advance the conversation about relations between the theory and teaching of writing

Literacy Practices and Perceptions of Agency Bronwyn T. Williams, 2017-07-06 In this book Bronwyn T Williams explores how perceptions of agency whether a person perceives and feels able to read and write successfully in a given context are critical in terms of how people perform their literate identities Drawing on interviews and observations with students in several countries he examines the intersections of the social and the personal in relation to how and crucially why people engage successfully or struggle painfully in literacy practices and what factors and forces they regard as enabling or constraining their actions Recognizing such moments and patterns can help teachers and researchers rethink their approaches to teaching to facilitate students sense of agency as writers and readers

Teaching Academic Writing in European Higher Education Lennart Björk, Gerd Bräuer, L. Rienecker, Peter Stray Jörgensen, 2005-12-30 DAVID RUSSELL English Department of Iowa State University U S A I was fortunate to attend as a visitor from the U S the first European Association for the Teaching of Academic Writing EATAW conference in 2001 at Groningen I was struck by the similarities in the challenges higher education faces on both sides of the Atlantic in terms of developing students academic writing and students learning through writing It is indeed an international problem But I was equally struck by the profound differences in responding to these challenges among institutions disciplines and even within disciplines The essays in this extraordinary volume address a growing demand for help with academic writing on the part of students and academic staff alike And they do so in ways that bring fresh approaches not only to Europeans who have only recently begun to study academic writing but also to researchers and academic staff in the U S where we have a century old tradition of attention to the problem but are much in need of these fresh approaches Academic writing has become a problem in higher education all around the world because higher education sits smack between two contradictory pressures On one end far more students and far more diverse students come streaming into higher education bringing in a far greater diversity of linguistic resources often interpreted as standards are falling as Frank Haacke Tente point out

English in the Disciplines Christoph Hafner, Lindsay Miller, 2018-08-06 The context for the teaching and learning of English for specific disciplinary purposes is undergoing profound changes under the influence of economic globalization and new digital communication technologies English in the Disciplines demonstrates how fundamental principles of ESP to tailor language learning materials to the needs of specific groups of learners can be adapted to new contexts of learning in the digital age Based on sustained research into students experiences in an ESP context in Hong Kong this volume provides an empirically grounded and practical methodology to ESP learning and course design and features mixed method case studies links between theory and practice with plentiful examples of teaching materials and learning activities recognition of the effect of new technologies and globalization on the practice of ESP highlighting problems and providing practical solutions a new pedagogical model for ESP course design addressing multiple dimensions relevant to today s ESP learners including learner autonomy genre multimodality and digital literacies plurilingual practices and project based learning and collaboration English in the Disciplines provides key reading for anyone studying and researching this topic
