Geography Ron Johnston, Michael Williams, 2022-09-11 These essays trace the evolution of British geography as an academic discipline during the last hundred years and stress how the study of the world we live in is fundamental to an understanding of its problems and concerns Never before has such an ambitious and wide ranging review been attempted and never before has it been done with so much knowledge and passion The principal themes covered in this volume are those of environment place and space and the applied geography of map making and planning The volume also addresses specific issues such as disease urbanization regional viability and ethics and social problems This lively and accessible work offers many insights into the minds and practices of today's geographers Historical Geography, GIScience and Textual Analysis Charles Travis, Francis Ludlow, Ferenc Gyuris, 2020-02-29 This book illustrates how literature history and geographical analysis complement and enrich each other's disciplinary endeavors The Hun Lenox Globe constructed in 1510 contains the Latin phrase Hic sunt dracones Here be dragons warning sailors of the dangers of drifting into uncharted waters Nearly half a millennium earlier the practice of earth writing geographia emerged from the cloisters of the great library of Alexandria as a discipline blending the twin pursuits of Strabo's poetic impression of places and Herodotus' chronicles of events and cultures Eratosthenes a librarian at Alexandria and the mathematician Ptolemy employed geometry as another language with which to pursue earth writing From this ancient East Mediterranean fount the streams of literary perception historical record and geographical analysis phenomenological and Euclidean found confluence The aim of this collection is to recover such means and seek the fount of such rich waters by exploring relations between historical geography geographic information science GIS geoscience and textual analysis The book discusses and illustrates current case studies trends and discourses in European American and Asian spheres where historical geography is practiced in concert with human and physical applications of GIS and the broader geosciences and the analysis of text broadly conceived as archival literary historical cultural climatic scientific digital cinematic and media Time as a multi scaled concept again broadly conceived is the pivot around which the interdisciplinary contributions to this volume revolve In The Landscape of Time 2002 the historian John Lewis Gaddis posits What if we were to think of history as a kind of mapping He links the ancient practice of mapmaking with the three part conception of time past present and future Gaddis presents the practices of cartography and historical narrative as attempts to manage infinitely complex subjects by imposing abstract grids to frame the phenomena being examined longitude and latitude to frame landscapes and occidental and oriental temporal scales to frame timescapes Gaddis contends that if the past is a landscape and history is the way we represent it then it follows that pattern recognition constitutes a primary form of human perception one that can be parsed empirically statistically and phenomenologically In turn this volume reasons that literary historical cartographical scientific mathematical and counterfactual narratives create their own spatio temporal frames of reference Confluences between the poetic and the positivistic the empirical and the impressionistic the epic and the episodic and the chronologic and the chorologic can be identified and studied by integrating practices in historical geography GIScience geoscience and textual analysis As a result new perceptions and insights facilitating further avenues of scholarship into uncharted waters emerge The various ways in which geographical historical and textual perspectives are hermeneutically woven together in this volume illuminates the different methods with which to explore terrae incognitae of knowledge beyond the shores of their own separate disciplinary islands

Out of the Hay and Into the Hops Celia Cordle, 2011 Out of the Hay and into the Hops explores the history and development of hop cultivation in the Weald of Kent together with the marketing of this important crop in the Borough at Southwark where a significant proportion of Wealden hops were sold A picture emerges of the relationship between the two activities as well as of the impact this rural industry had upon the lives of the people engaged in it Dr Cordle draws extensively on personal accounts of hop work to evoke a way of life now lost for good Oral history together with evidence from farm books and other sources records how the steady routine of hop ploughing and dung spreading weeding and spraying contrasted with the bustle and excitement of hop picking bringing in as it did many itinerant workers from outside the community to help with the harvest and the anxious period of drying the crop For hops prey to the vagaries of weather and disease needed much care and attention to bring them to fruition In early times their cultivation provided work for more people than any other crop The diverse processes of hop cultivation are examined within the wider context of events such as the advent of rail and the effects of war as are changes to the working practices and technologies used and their reception and implementation in the Weald Meanwhile in the Borough an enclave of hop factors and merchants whose interests sometimes conflicted with those of the hop growers arose and then suffered decline A full account of this trade is presented including day to day working practices links with the Weald and the changes in hop marketing following Britain s entry into the European Economic Community This book provides readers with a fascinating analysis of some three hundred years of hop history in the Weald and the Borough Hops still grow in the Weald in the Borough the Le May facade and the gates of the Hop Exchange are reminders of former trade Book description

Peasantry to Capitalism Göran Hoppe, John Langton, 1994 How do peasants producing mainly for themselves become capitalist farmers producing largely for sale What happens to farm sizes farming practices and the relationships between cultivators and others in the process of this transition How far does it vary from region to region Is it inherent in the peasantry or must it be instigated by landlord townsfolk or the state These are some of the questions addressed by Göran Hoppe and John Langton in this 1995 study of rural change in Sweden Eschewing both traditional narrow empiricism and the recent trend to over employ modern social theory the authors have carefully combined theories about the transition from peasantry to capitalism with meticulous analysis of the abundant Swedish records In doing so they reveal the wide geographical variety and rich socioeconomic complexity of the changes which occurred in the process of modernization in the nineteenth century
