Geography Of Hope Black Exodus From The South After Reconstruction:

The Geography of Hope James Haskins, 1999 When the North won the Civil War former slaves rejoiced at the notion of a society in which all people regardless of color would enjoy equality But the reality turned out to be that freedom was just a concept without a means to attain life's basic needs and the freedpeople remained in circumstances not much different from those of slavery Portraits of African American Life Since 1865 Nina Mjagkij, 2003 Compelling and informative the 14 diverse biographies of this book give a heightened understanding of the evolution of what it meant to be black and American through more than three centuries of U S history The Human Tradition in America from 1865 to the Present

Charles W. Calhoun, 2003-08-01 Designed as a text for the second half of the U S history survey course The Human Tradition in America from 1865 to the Present is a collection of the best biographical essays from several volumes in SR Books popular Human Tradition in America series Like all books in the series this text presents history from the bottom up by chronicling the lives of ordinary Americans These brief biographical sketches stress to students that history is created by people making the subject appealing and vibrant in a way that just names and dates in a standard textbook cannot Capturing the rich diversity of the United States The Human Tradition in America from 1865 to the Present includes the stories of a variety of Americans of different races ethnic groups sexual orientations religious affiliations and genders from many different regions of the country For this reader series editor Charles Calhoun has carefully selected biographies of individuals whose lives highlight important themes from this dynamic period of history The essays included here are sure to engage students provoke lively classroom discussion and promote critical thinking Reconstruction Judith Peacock, 2002-06 A history of Reconstruction in the South from the end of the Civil War until 1877 More Auspicious Shores Caree A.

Banton, 2019-05-09 Offers a thorough examination of Afro Barbadian migration to Liberia during the mid to late nineteenth century The African American Experience in Cyberspace Abdul Alkalimat, 2003-12-20 The World Wide Web is the greatest source of information used by students and teachers media and library professionals as well as the general public There is so great a flow of information that it is necessary to have a tool for guiding one to the best and most reliable sources This important new guide to the African American experience in cyberspace fills this need for people in all areas of Black Studies and Multiculturalism There is no search engine list that can match the quality of sites to be found in this book Alkalimat provides an easy to use directory to the very best websites that deal with the African American Experience The first section covers every aspect of African American history while a second section deals with a diverse set of topics covering society and culture Each chapter has a brief essay extensively annotation on the five best sites for each topic and then a group of good sites and a short bibliography This book is designed for a course at the high school or college level This book should be kept near every home computer that people use to surf the web for Black content Most people have found out that the major corporations and governments have been the dominant uploaders of information into cyberspace This volume is different because it is a serious introduction to the full democratic use of the web These websites will introduce people to the people who are serious about ending the digital divide because they are busy uploading information about the most excluded and marginalized people the African American community Many of these sites are being established by Black Studies academic programmes as well as community based organizations and institutions
