Nature's Metropolis: Chicago and the Great West William Cronon,2009-11-02 A Finalist for the Pulitzer Prize and Winner of the Bancroft Prize No one has written a better book about a city Nature s Metropolis is elegant testimony to the proposition that economic urban environmental and business history can be as graceful powerful and fascinating as a novel Kenneth T Jackson Boston Globe

The Role of Subject Knowledge in the Early Years of Schooling Carol Aubrey,2022-11-21 Originally published in 1994 the aim of the authors was to provide a comprehensive introduction to recent advances in research which had been made in learning and teaching in the early years of schooling at the time Emphasis is placed on how subject knowledge is constructed or acquired and the organization of teaching to promote the learner s active construction of meaning through the integration of new knowledge with existing understanding The National Curriculum is founded in subject knowledge though little examination appears to have been made of this in terms of how subject matter is transformed into the content of teaching that young children can understand It this remains for the teacher to develop instruction through the creation of a curriculum content and sequence which both reflects and advances the structure of existing forms of representation problem solving and knowledge which the child brings to the school The whole thrust of the book challenges the conventional early years ideology with its emphasis on child centred concrete and empirical approaches to learning with a view of teaching which is concerned with making sense of children s understanding and allowing their active construction of knowledge and information processing to develop expertise in context

The New Suburbanites Robert W. Lake, 2017-07-28 National data indicates a surge in African American suburbanization during the 1970s What are the barriers that have slowed this process for so long Is black entry to the suburbs synonymous with integration To what extent does it contribute to convergence in the residential distributions of whites and blacks This careful and thorough study marshals evidence that black suburbanization offers less than full realization of the American Dream Homeownership in the United States is a source of security a sign of status a means of equity accumulation and a bond to the community The basic premise underlying The New Suburbanites is the preeminence of equal access Survey data collected for this analysis pertains to successful homebuyers whites and blacks who were able to negotiate safely the treacherous housing market conditions Specifically Robert W Lake draws from a unique survey of black and white homebuyers to assess the institutional and housing market barriers to black suburban homeownership How does racial discrimination add to the cost time and difficulty of housing search for black homebuyers What is the effect of discrimination on housing prices resale value and equity accumulation What is behind the complexity of white and black attitudes to suburban racial integration What is the perspective of the real estate agent the key market intermediary The book addresses each of these questions and concludes with a critique of present federal fair housing legislation and an assessment of policy implications Places on the Margin Rob Shields, 2013-12-16 The debate on modernity and postmodernity has awakened interest in the importance of the spatial for cultural formations But what of those spaces that exist as much in the imagination as in physical reality This book attempts to develop an alternative geography and sociology of space by examining places on the margin Evolving Approaches to Understanding Natural Hazards Burrell E.

Montz, Graham A. Tobin, 2015-10-05 The 21st century presents many challenges to the hazard manager dynamic climatic conditions combined with population growth rapid urbanization and changing socio economic relationships are reshaping disaster impacts community responses and social safety mechanisms Indeed human vulnerability is constantly restructured by the ongoing interplay of physical social economic and political forces At the same time reducing vulnerability and enhancing community resilience require policies aimed at mitigating the consequences of disasters as they affect different locations and different groups requiring sound scientifically based research to further an understanding of the forces at play and to devise appropriate means to counter them It is within this context that this book examines evolving approaches to natural hazards Research into natural hazards has a long tradition beginning with a focus on physical processes and evolving into an interdisciplinary agenda that incorporates interactions between the physical and human environments embracing initiatives ranging from the physical to the socio economic and political It utilises various methodological approaches and technological advances employing both quantitative and qualitative procedures The papers included in this book offer insights into the development of applied hazards research as they build on previous work evolving technologies improved understandings of the factors involved and increased awareness of the needs of those who manage hazards This volume shows an appreciation for the foundation that has been set and will inspire future researchers as they look to address these very pressing social issues

Geopolitics Jason Dittmer,Jo Sharp,2014-06-27 It has been increasingly impossible to think about our changing world without coming across the term geopolitics In the wake of the invasion and occupation of Iraq by the United States United Kingdom and others geopolitics has been offered as an explanation for the occupation s failure to reinvent the Iraqi state and as a blueprint for future action But what is geopolitics Drawing both on academic and political material this book introduces readers to the concept of geopolitics from the first usage of the term to its more recent reconceptualisations The concept of geopolitics is introduced through four thematic sections Imperial Geopolitics Cold War Geopolitics Geopolitics after the Cold War and Reconceptualising Geopolitics Each section includes key writings from a range of diverse and leading authors such as Said Agnew Dalby O Tuathail Gregory Barnett and Kaplan and is accompanied by a critical introduction by the editors to guide the reader through the material This Reader establishes the foundations of geopolitics while also introducing readers to the continuing significance of the concept in the 21st century This Reader provides an essential resource that exposes students to original writing The Editors provide a pathway through the material with Section Introductions to assist the readers understanding of the context of the material and impacts of the writings The readings included draw from a range of authors writing from a range of locations The Reader concludes with the latest changes in geopolitical thought incorporating feminist and other perspectives
