Submarine Slope Systems David Mark Hodgson, Stephen S. Flint, 2005 Submarine slopes provide the critical link between shallow water and deep water sedimentary environments They accumulate a sensitive record of sediment supply accommodation creation destruction and tectonic processes during basin filling There is a complex stratigraphic response to the interplay between parameters that control the evolution of submarine slope systems e g slope gradient topographic complexity sediment flux and calibre base level change tectonic setting and post depositional sediment remobilization processes The increased understanding of submarine slope systems has been driven partly by the discovery of large hydrocarbon fields in morphologically complex slope settings such as the Gulf of Mexico and offshore West Africa and has led to detailed case studies and improved generic models for their evolution This volume brings together research papers from modern outcrop and subsurface settings to highlight these recent advances in understanding of the stratigraphic evolution of submarine slope systems

Continental Shelves of the World F.L. Chiocci ,A.R. Chivas ,2014-11-06 The world s continental shelves are the sites of vast resources of food energy and minerals the exploitation of which is continuously increasing Fluctuating global sea levels throughout the Quaternary period produced multiple transgressive and regressive cycles that profoundly affected and shaped these shelves The complex interactions among climate sea level tectonics oceanography and sediment input have formed distinctive sediment packages on each shelf and provide a guide to the interpretation of older shelf sequences throughout the geological record This Memoir compiles studies on 23 selected shelves from all the continents focusing on their evolution and examining the patterns of sedimentation during the past approximately 125 000 years In addition to providing basic background information for each area the chapters consider specific aspects of continental shelf research from seismic stratigraphy to geomorphology from palaeoceanography to palaeo sea level reconstruction and from palaeontology to geochemistry
