Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30 Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world Engaging with the burgeoning cross disciplinary interest in home since the first edition was published this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes illustrations and contemporary examples throughout It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home drawing on key feminist postcolonial and housing thinkers as well as contemporary methodological currents in non representational thinking and performance The book s chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale house as home the urban city as home national nation as home and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods Chapters also address some of the key cross cutting dimensions of home across these scales including digital connectivity art and performance more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID 19 The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined that home power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future Tarr and McMurphy's Geographies: Home geography Ralph Stockman Tarr,1900

Intersections of Harm Laura Halperin,2015-07-13 In this innovative new study Laura Halperin examines literary representations of harm inflicted on Latinas minds and bodies and on the places Latinas inhabit but she also explores how hope can be found amid so much harm Analyzing contemporary memoirs and novels by Irene Vilar Loida Maritza P rez Ana Castillo Cristina Garc a and Julia Alvarez she argues that the individual harm experienced by Latinas needs to be understood in relation to the collective histories of aggression against their communities Intersections of Harm is more than just a nuanced examination of the intersections among race ethnicity class gender and sexuality It also explores the intersections of deviance and defiance individual and collective and mind body and place Halperin proposes that ironically the harmful ascriptions of Latina deviance are tied to the hopeful expressions of Latina defiance While the Latina protagonists defiance feeds into the labels of deviance imposed on them it also fuels the protagonists ability to resist such harmful treatment In this analysis Halperin broadens the parameters of literary studies of female madness as she compels us to shift our understanding of where madness lies She insists that the madness readily attributed to individual Latinas is entwined with the madness of institutional structures of oppression and she maintains that psychological harm is bound together with physical and geopolitical harm In her pan Latina study Halperin shows how each writer s work emerges from a unique set of locales and histories but she also traces a network of connections among them Bringing together concepts from feminism postcolonialism illness studies and ecocriticism Intersections of Harm opens up exciting new avenues for Latina o studies
