Geography Of Malcolm X:

The Geography of Malcolm X James Tyner, 2013-11-12 The impact of Malcolm X and black nationalism can hardly be overestimated Not only did they transform race relations in America they revolutionized the study of race in all fields of study from American history to literature to sociology Jim Tyner's The Geography of Malcolm X will be the first book to apply a geographical perspective to black radicalism The Geography of Malcolm X explores how the radical black power movement that emerged in the 1960s thought and acted in spatial terms How did they conceive of the space of the ghetto The different social and political geographies of the North and South The imaginative geographies connecting blacks in America to Africa and the emerging postcolonial world At the center of his account is the intellectual evolution of Malcolm X who at every stage of his development applied a spatial perspective to the predicament of blacks in America and the world The Geography of Malcolm X introduces critical race theory to geography and demonstrates to readers in many other fields the importance of space and place in black nationalist thought Given his range of thinking and his centrality to the era Malcolm X is an ideal window into this long neglected aspect of race relations in America

The Geography of Malcolm X James A. Tyner, 2006 First published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Malcolm X's Michigan Worldview

Rita Kiki Edozie, Curtis Stokes, 2015-06-01 The provocative debate about Malcolm X's legacy that emerged after the publication of Manning Marable's 2011 biography raised critical questions about the revolutionary Black Nationalist's importance to American and world affairs What was Malcolm's association with the Nation of Islam How should we interpret Malcolm's discourses Was Malcolm antifeminist What is Malcolm's legacy in contemporary public affairs How do Malcolm's early childhood experiences in Michigan shape and inform his worldview Was Malcolm trending toward socialism during his final year Malcolm X's Michigan Worldview responds to these questions by presenting Malcolm's subject as an iconography used to deepen understanding of African descendent peoples' experiences through advanced research and disciplinary study A Black studies reader that uses the biography of Malcolm X both to interrogate key aspects of the Black world experience and to contribute to the intellectual expansion of the discipline the book presents Malcolm as a Black subject who represents symbolizes and associates meaning with the Black Africana studies discipline Through a range of multidisciplinary prisms and themes including discourse race culture religion gender politics and community this rich volume elicits insights about the Malcolm iconography that contribute to the continuous formulation deepening and strengthening of the Black studies discipline

Academic Writing for Geographers James A. Tyner, 2023-08-21 There are many how-to books on writing for academics none of these however relate specifically to the discipline of geography In this book the author identifies the principle modes of academic writing that graduate students and early career faculty will encounter specifically focusing on those forms expected of geographers that is those modes that are reviewed by academic peers This book is readily accessible to senior undergraduate and graduate students and early career faculty who may feel intimidated by the process of writing

This volume is not strictly a how to or step by step manual for writing an article or book rather through the use of real concrete examples from published and unpublished works the author demystifies the process of different types of scholarly pieces geographers have to write with the specific needs and challenges of the discipline in mind Although chapters are thematic based e g stand alone chapters on book reviews articles and books the manuscript is structured around the concept of story telling for it is the author's contention that all writing whether a scientific study or more humanist essay is a form of story telling

Historical Dictionary of the Civil Rights Movement Christopher M. Richardson, Ralph E. Luker, 2014-06-11

The fiftieth anniversary of many major milestones in what is commonly called the African American Civil Rights Movement was celebrated in 2013 Fifty years removed from the Birmingham campaign the assassination of Medgar Evers and the March on Washington and it is clear that the sacrifices borne by those generations in that decade were not in vain Monuments museums and exhibitions across the world honor the men and women of the Movement and testify to their immeasurable role in redefining the United States The second edition of Historical Dictionary of the Civil Rights Movement is a guide to the history of the African American struggle for equal rights in the United States The history of this period is covered in a detailed chronology an introductory essay and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 500 cross referenced entries on important personalities significant legal cases local struggles forgotten heroes and prominent women in the Movement This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about the Civil Rights Movement

Reconstructing the Social Sciences and Humanities Celucien L. Joseph, Paul C.

Mocombe, 2021-05-06 Joseph Antenor Firmin 1850-1911 was the reigning public intellectual and political critic in Haiti in the nineteenth century He was the first Black anthropologist and Black Egyptologist to deconstruct the Western interpretation of global history and challenge the ideological construction of human nature and theories of knowledge in the Western social sciences and the humanities As an anti racist intellectual and cosmopolitan thinker Firmin's writings challenge Western ideas of the colonial subject race achievement and modernity's imagination of a linear narrative based on the false premises of social evolution and development colonial history and epistemology and the intellectual evolution of the Aryan White race Firmin articulated an alternative way to study global historical trajectories the political life human societies and interactions and the diplomatic relations and dynamics between the nations and the races Reconstructing the Social Sciences and Humanities is the first full length book devoted to Joseph Antenor Firmin It reexamines the importance of his thought and legacy and its relevance for the twenty first century's culture of humanism and the continuing challenge of race and racism

Crossing Boundaries Brian D. Behnken, Simon Wendt, 2013-06-27 Crossing Boundaries Ethnicity Race and National Belonging in a Transnational World explores ethnic and racial nationalism within a transnational and transcultural framework in the long twentieth century late nineteenth to early twenty first century The contributors to this volume examine how national solidarity and identity with their vast array of ideological political intellectual social and ethno racial qualities crossed juridical territorial and cultural boundaries to become transnational how they altered the ethnic and racial visions of nation states throughout the twentieth century and how they ultimately influenced conceptions of national belonging across the globe Human beings live in an increasingly interconnected transnational global world National economies are linked worldwide information can be transmitted around the world in seconds and borders are more transparent and fluid In this process of transnational expansion the very definition of what constitutes a nation and nationalism in many parts of the world has been expanded to include individuals from different countries and more importantly members of ethno racial communities But crossing boundaries is not a new phenomenon In fact transnationalism has a long and sordid history that has not been fully appreciated Scholars and laypeople interested in national development ethnic nationalism as well as world history will find Crossing Boundaries indispensable

Race, Ethnicity, and Place in a Changing America John W.

Frazier,Eugene Tettey-Fio,2006 Race, Ethnicity, and Place in a Changing America, Third Edition John W. Frazier,Eugene L. Tettey-Fio,Norah F. Henry,2016-12-29 Uses both historical and contemporary case studies to examine how race and ethnicity affect the places we live work and visit This book examines major Hispanic African and Asian diasporas in the continental United States and Puerto Rico from the nineteenth century to the present with particular attention on the diverse ways in which these immigrant groups have shaped and reshaped American places and landscapes Through both historical and contemporary case studies the contributors examine how race and ethnicity affect the places we live work and visit illustrating along the way the behaviors and concepts that comprise the modern ethnic and racial geography of immigrant and minority groups While primarily addressed to students and scholars in the fields of racial and ethnic geography these case studies will be accessible to anyone interested in race place connections race ethnicity boundaries the development of racialization and the complexity of human settlement patterns and landscapes that make up the United States and Puerto Rico Taken together they show how individuals and culture groups through their ideologies social organization and social institutions reflect both local and regional processes of place making and place remaking that occur within and beyond the continental United States Contemporary Ethnic Geographies in America Ines M. Miyares,Christopher A.

Airriess,2006-10-19 Ethnic diversity has marked the United States from its inception From the migration of the ancestors of Native Americans to the increasingly diverse immigrant populations arriving today it is impossible to separate ethnicity from an understanding of the United States as a country and Americans as a people At an ever increasing pace America today is experiencing watershed changes in its social cultural and ethnic racial geographies Considering the impact of these transformations this unique text examines the experiences of a range of ethnic groups in both historical and contemporary context It begins by laying out a comprehensive conceptual framework that integrates immigration theory globalization transnational community formation and urban cultural and economic geography The contributors then present a rich set of case studies of key ethnic and racial communities including those of long standing significance such as Native Americans

African Americans and Mexican Americans along with the Latin American and Asian groups that make up the vast majority of newer immigrants Each case offers a brief historical overview of the group s immigration experience and settlement patterns and discusses its contemporary dynamics All of these people have transformed and been transformed by the places in which they have settled Exploring these changing communities places and landscapes this book offers a nuanced understanding of the evolution of America s contemporary ethnic geographies Contributions by Christopher A Airriess Daniel D Arreola Kate A Berry Thomas D Boswell Elizabeth Chacko Brian J Godfrey Zolt n Grossman Michael Hawkins Terry Ann Jones Wei Li Ines M Miyares L HoMana Pawiki Marie Price Michael Reibel Dana G Reimer Emily Skop James A Tyner Milton Vickerman and Bobby M Wilson Let Us Make Men D'Weston Haywood,2018-09-25 During its golden years the twentieth century black press was a tool of black men s leadership public voice and gender and identity formation Those at the helm of black newspapers used their platforms to wage a fight for racial justice and black manhood In a story that stretches from the turn of the twentieth century to the rise of the Black Power movement D Weston Haywood argues that black people s ideas rhetoric and protest strategies for racial advancement grew out of the quest for manhood led by black newspapers This history departs from standard narratives of black protest black men and the black press by positioning newspapers at the intersections of gender ideology race class identity urbanization the public sphere and black institutional life Shedding crucial new light on the deep roots of African Americans mobilizations around issues of rights and racial justice during the twentieth century Let Us Make Men reveals the critical complex role black male publishers played in grounding those issues in a quest to redeem black manhood

Black Feelings Lisa M. Corrigan,2020-02-25 Honorable Mention Recipient of the 2021 Marie Hochmuth Nichols Award for Outstanding Scholarship in Public Address by the National Communication Association In the 1969 issue of Negro Digest a young Black Arts Movement poet then named Ameer Amiri Baraka published We Are Our Feeling The Black Aesthetic Baraka s emphasis on the importance of feelings in Black selfhood expressed a touchstone for how the Black liberation movement grappled with emotions in response to the politics and racial violence of the era In her latest book award winning author Lisa M Corrigan suggests that Black Power provided a significant repository for negative feelings largely Black pessimism to resist the constant physical violence against Black activists and the psychological strain of political disappointment Corrigan asserts the emergence of Black Power as a discourse of Black emotional invention in opposition to Kennedy era white hope As integration became the prevailing discourse of racial liberalism shaping midcentury discursive structures so too did racial feelings mold the biopolitical order of postmodern life in America By examining the discourses produced by Martin Luther King Malcolm X Stokely Carmichael Huey Newton Eldridge Cleaver and other Black Power icons who were marshaling Black feelings in the service of Black political action Corrigan traces how Black liberation activists mobilized new emotional repertoires

Grounds of Engagement Stéphane Robolin,2015-08-30 Part literary history part cultural study Grounds of Engagement examines the relationships and exchanges between black South African and African American writers who sought to create common ground throughout the antiapartheid era St phane Robolin argues that the authors geographic imaginations crucially defined their individual interactions and ultimately the literary traditions on both sides of the Atlantic Subject to the tyranny of segregation authors such as Richard Wright Bessie Head Langston Hughes Gwendolyn Brooks Keorapetse Kgositsile Michelle Cliff and Richard Rive charted their racialized landscapes and invented freer alternative geographies They crafted rich representations of place to challenge the stark social and spatial arrangements that framed their lives Those representations Robolin contends also articulated their desires for black transnational belonging and political solidarity The first book to examine U S and South African literary exchanges in spatial terms Grounds of Engagement identifies key moments in the understudied history of black cross cultural exchange and exposes how geography serves as an indispensable means of shaping and reshaping modern racial meaning

The One-Way Street of Integration Edward G. Goetz, 2018-03-15 Introduction alternative approaches to regional equity and racial justice The integration imperative Affirmatively furthering community development The hollow prospect of integration The three stations of fair housing spatial strategy New issues unresolved questions and the widening debate Conclusion everyone deserves to live in an opportunity neighborhood

Muslim American Politics and the Future of US Democracy Edward E. Curtis IV, 2019-12-03 Reveals the important role of Muslim Americans in American politics Since the 1950s and especially in the post 9 11 era Muslim Americans have played outsized roles in US politics sometimes as political dissidents and sometimes as political insiders However more than at any other moment in history Muslim Americans now stand at the symbolic center of US politics and public life This volume argues that the future of American democracy depends on whether Muslim Americans are able to exercise their political rights as citizens and whether they can find acceptance as social equals Many believe that over time Muslim Americans will be accepted just as other religious minorities have been Yet Curtis contends that this belief overlooks the real barrier to their full citizenship which is political rather than cultural The dominant form of American liberalism has prevented the political assimilation of American Muslims even while leaders from Eisenhower to Obama have offered rhetorical support for their acceptance Drawing on examples ranging from the political rhetoric of the Nation of Islam in the 1950s and 1960s to the symbolic use of fallen Muslim American service members in the 2016 election cycle Curtis shows that the efforts of Muslim Americans to be regarded as full Americans have been going on for decades yet never with full success Curtis argues that policies laws and political rhetoric concerning Muslim Americans are quintessential American political questions Debates about freedom of speech and religion equal justice under law and the war on terrorism have placed Muslim Americans at the center of public discourse How Americans decide to view and make policy regarding Muslim Americans will play a large role in what kind of country the United States will become and whether it will be a country that chooses freedom over fear and justice over prejudice transformed the twentieth century world This volume brings together an international line up of experts to explore how these transformations took place and expand on some of the latest threads of analysis to help inform our understanding of the links between the two phenomena The book begins by exploring ideas of modernity development and economics as Cold War and postcolonial projects and goes on to look at the era s intellectual history and investigate how emerging forms of identity fought for supremacy Finally the contributors question ideas of sovereignty and state control that move beyond traditional Cold War narratives Decolonization and the Cold War emphasizes new approaches by drawing on various methodologies regions themes and interdisciplinary work to shed new light on two topics that are increasingly important to historians of the twentieth century On Justice Mathias Risse,2020-09-10

Decolonization and the Cold War Leslie James, Elisabeth Leake, 2015-02-26 The Cold War and decolonization

Though much attention has been paid to different principles of justice far less has been done reflecting on what the larger concern behind the notion is In this work Mathias Risse proposes that the perennial quest for justice is about ensuring that each individual has an appropriate place in what our uniquely human capacities permit us to build produce and maintain and is appropriately respected for the capacity to hold such a place to begin with Risse begins by investigating the role of political philosophers and exploring how to think about the global context where philosophical inquiry occurs Next he offers a quasi historical narrative about how the notion of distributive justice identifies a genuinely human concern that arises independently of cultural context and has developed into the one we should adopt now Finally he investigates the core terms of this view including stringency moral value ground and duties of justice

Islam Is a Foreign Country Zareena Grewal,2014 Considers the question what does it mean to be Muslim and American In Islam Is a Foreign Country Zareena Grewal explores some of the most pressing debates about and among American Muslims what does it mean to be Muslim and American Who has the authority to speak for Islam and to lead the stunningly diverse population of American Muslims Do their ties to the larger Muslim world undermine their efforts to make Islam an American religion Offering rich insights into these questions and more Grewal follows the journeys of American Muslim youth who travel in global underground Islamic networks Devoutly religious and often politically disaffected these young men and women are in search of a home for themselves and their tradition Through their stories Grewal captures the multiple directions of the global flows of people practices and ideas that connect U S mosques to the Muslim world By examining the tension between American Muslims ambivalence toward the American mainstream and their desire to enter it Grewal puts contemporary debates about Islam in the context of a long history of American racial and religious exclusions Probing the competing obligations of American Muslims to the nation and to the umma the global community of Muslim believers Islam is a Foreign Country investigates the meaning of American citizenship and the place of Islam in a global age A Place We Call Home K. Amimah Ducre,2013-01-04

Faith holds up a photo of the boarded up vacant house It s the first thing I see And I just call it the Homeless House cause it s the house that nobody fixes up Faith is one of fourteen women living on Syracuse s Southside a predominantly African American and low income area who took photographs of their environment and displayed their images to facilitate dialogues about how they viewed their community. A Place We Call Home chronicles this photography project and bears witness not only to the environmental injustice experienced by these women but also to the ways in which they maintain dignity and restore order in a community where they have traditionally had little control. To understand the present plight of these women one must understand the historical and political context in which certain urban neighborhoods were formed. Black migration, urban renewal, white flight, capital expansion, and then bust Ducre demonstrates how such political and economic forces created a landscape of abandoned housing within the Southside community. She spotlights the impact of this blight upon the female residents who survive in this crucible of neglect. A Place We Call Home is the first case study of the intersection of Black feminism and environmental justice and it is also the first book length presentation using Photovoice methodology, an innovative research and empowerment strategy that assesses community needs by utilizing photographic images taken by individuals. The individuals have historically lacked power and status in formal planning processes. Through a cogent combination of words and images, this book illuminates how these women manage their daily survival in degraded environments, the tools that they deploy to do so, and how they act as agents of change to transform their communities.

Authentic Assessment in Action Linda Darling-Hammond, Beverly F. Falk, Jacqueline Ancess, 2017-10-05. This book examines through case studies of elementary and secondary schools how five schools have developed authentic performance based assessments of students' learning and how this work has interacted with and influenced the teaching and learning experiences students encounter in school. This important and timely book reveals the changing dynamics of classroom life as it moves from more traditional pedagogy to one that asks students to master intellectual and practical skills that are eminently transferable to real life social settings and workplaces. The issue of assessment comes first, but we see in the following case studies how it becomes powerfully enveloped in the processes of learning and teaching, of informing students, teachers, parents, and others of how the children are doing. The portraits explicitly and implicitly suggest a deep, fair, and defensible way to answer the question, 'How am I doing?' in a manner that helps this child and eventually every child. From the Foreword by Theodore R.Sizer. Informative and thought provoking. American Journal of Education.
