Photography and Ontology Donna West Brett, Natalya Lusty, 2018-09-03 This edited collection explores the complex ways in which photography is used and interpreted as a record of evidence as a form of communication as a means of social and political provocation as a mode of surveillance as a narrative of the self and as an art form What makes photographic images unsettling and how do the re uses and interpretations of photographic images unsettle the self evident reality of the visual field Taking up these themes this book examines the role of photography as a revelatory medium underscored by its complex association with history memory experience and identity Rites of Realism Ivone Margulies, 2003-03-27 A collection of essays rethinking and reviving realism as a focus for film theory particularly emphasizing the relation of the genre to issues of the body Science is Fiction Andy Masaki Bellows, Jean Painlevé, Marina McDougall, Brigitte Berg, 2001 Essays examining the work of maverick scientific documentary filmmaker Jean Painlevé The City Symphony Phenomenon Steven Jacobs, Eva Hielscher, Anthony Kinik, 2018-07-20 The 1920s and 1930s saw the rise of the city symphony an experimental film form that presented the city as protagonist instead of mere decor Combining experimental documentary and narrative practices these films were marked by a high level of abstraction reminiscent of high modernist experiments in painting and photography Moreover interwar city symphonies presented a highly fragmented oftentimes kaleidoscopic sense of modern life and they organized their urban industrial images through rhythmic and associative montage that evoke musical structures In this comprehensive volume contributors consider the full 80 film corpus from Manhatta and Berlin Die Sinfonie der Grosstadt to lesser known cinematic explorations Jacques Prévert Claire Blakeway, 1990 Focusing on the career of the surrealist poet Jacques Prévert this book explores the stylistic and thematic currents that prevailed in French films of the 1930s Prévert's involvement with the surrealists his contribution to the avant grade theatre company Groupe Octobre and his unique collaboration with Marcel Carne are examined DADA, Surrealism, and the Cinematic Effect R. Bruce Elder, 2015-10-15 This book deals with the early intellectual reception of the cinema and the manner in which art theorists philosophers cultural theorists and especially artists of the first decades of the twentieth century responded to its advent While the idea persists that early writers on film were troubled by the cinema's lowly form this work proposes that there was another largely unrecognized strain in the reception of it Far from anxious about film's provenance in popular entertainment some writers and artists proclaimed that the cinema was the most important art for the moderns as it exemplified the vibrancy of contemporary life This view of the cinema was especially common among those whose commitments were to advanced artistic practices Their notions about how to recast the art media or the forms forged from those media's materials and the urgency of doing so formed the principal part of the conceptual core of the artistic programs advanced by the vanguard art movements of the first half of the twentieth century This book a companion to the author's previous Harmony Dissent examines the Dada and Surrealist movements as responses to the advent of the cinema

Race, Anthropology, and Politics in the Work of Wifredo Lam Claude Cernuschi, 2019-05-31 This book reinterprets Wifredo Lam's work with particular attention to its political implications focusing on how these implications emerge from the artist's critical engagement with 20th century anthropology Field work conducted in Cuba including the witnessing of actual Afro-Cuban religious ritual ceremonies and information collected from informants enhances the interpretive background against which we can construe the meanings of Lam's art In the process Claude Cernuschi argues that Lam hoped to fashion a new hybrid style to foster pride and dignity in the Afro-Cuban community as well as counteract the acute racism of Cuban culture

Paper Cities Susana S. Martins, Anne Reverseau, 2016-04-21 Thought provoking case studies on cities photographs and books Photographic books are almost as old as photography itself and the city is one of their first and more recurring themes Cities have been and they continue to be intensely photographed under a wide variety of forms materialities intentions and genres This volume examines how a city can be moulded through the particularities of a photographic book suggesting how urban portraits configure an overlooked yet quite specific photo-textual practice Ranging from early photography to contemporary works Paper Cities gathers thought provoking case studies from several international contexts providing new insights into art material culture history heritage and memory while simultaneously illuminating the debate on cities photographs and books Contributors Steven Jacobs Ghent University Simon Dell University of East Anglia Hugh Campbell University College Dublin Steven Humblett LUCA School of Arts Chris Balaschak Flagler College Annarita Teodosio University of Salerno Cecile Laly Universit Paris I M nica Pacheco University College London Douglas Klahr University of Texas Johanna M Blokker Bamberg University Philip Goldswain University of Western Australia

France the US and Mexico and consolidated his international reputation with a Palme d Or for Viridiana in 1961 and an Academy Award in 1973 for The Discreet Charm of the Bourgeoisie He corresponded with some of the most famous writers directors actors and artists of his generation and the list of these correspondents reads like a roll call of major twentieth century cultural icons Fellini Truffaut Vigo Aragon Dal Unik and yet none of this material has been accessible outside specialist archives and a very small number of publications in Spanish and French

Photographs, Museums, Collections Elizabeth Edwards, Christopher Morton, 2015-05-19 The status of photographs in the history of museum collections is a complex one From its very beginnings the double capacity of photography as a tool for making a visual record on the one hand and an aesthetic form in its own right on the other has created tensions about its place in the hierarchy of museum objects While major collections of art photography have grown in status and visibility photographs not designated art are often invisible in museums Yet almost every museum has photographs as part of its ecosystem gathered as information corroboration or documentation shaping the understanding of other classes of objects and many of these collections remain uncatalogued and their significance unrecognised This volume presents a series of case studies on the historical collecting and usage of photographs in museums Using critically informed empirical investigation it explores substantive and historiographical questions such as what is the historical patterning in the way photographs have been produced collected and retained by museums How do categories of the aesthetic and evidential shape the history of collecting photographs What has been the work of photographs in museums What does an understanding of photograph collections add to our understanding of collections history more broadly What are the methodological demands of research on photograph collections The case studies cover a wide range of museums and collection types from art galleries to maritime museums national collections to local history museums and international perspectives including Cuba France Germany New Zealand South Africa and the UK Together they offer a fascinating insight into both the history of collections and collecting and into the practices and poetics of archives across a range of disciplines including the history of science museum studies archaeology and anthropology

The Making of Visual News Thierry Gervais, Gaëlle Morel, 2020-09-23 The Making of Visual News sets out to show how photography has changed the way we read report and sell the news It investigates how photographs first became news images at the end of the nineteenth century and how magazines in the USA the UK France and Germany have put them to use ever since Drawing on a wide selection of images author Thierry Gervais in collaboration with Gaëlle Morel analyses news photographs in the context of their original presentation in print Highly illustrated the book contains 85 full colour magazine layouts and spreads offering the reader a view of how photographs were and are used in print publications including Life Picture Post the Berliner Illustrierte Zeitung and VU It examines how photographs were employed to attract new readers throughout the twentieth century arguing that photography was the main tool by which news editors sought to communicate the news and attract a broader readership Looking beyond the roles of photographer and journalist this study also highlights the contributions of picture editors and artistic directors by commissioning photographs and incorporating images into magazine layouts these figures played critical but often overlooked roles in the construction of visual news even as they crafted unique styles for their publications Charting changes in technology and reportage as well as broader social and political histories The Making of Visual News offers new insight into the history of photojournalism making this an essential resource for students and scholars of photojournalism and the history of photography media and culture
