EFFECTIVE BUSINESS LETTER

Dear Mr. Jones:

My experience in marketing has prompted me to respond to your vacancy for a marketing representative as listed with the Experiential Learning and Career Development Center at Albright College. The XYZ Company has an excellent reputation for product quality as noted in the recent issue of The Journal of Marketing and I wish to be affiliated with a company with such high standards.

To be successful in marketing one must first understand a potential customer's needs. To accomplish this one must have excellent interpersonal and active communication skills. My experiences as a volunteer promoting our student radio station to local advertisers can help attest to my capabilities to successfully market XYZ's products. As a member of the campus center board, I successfully promoted a number of campus events which resulted in a positive financial statement at the end of the year.

Written communication can only tell you so much about my motivation and qualifications. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss my background with you in greater detail. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Alan Albright

mail of course has a do not reply address on top You may think that this is a pretty nifty and modern way of tracking your correspondence but in many parts of the world where business dealings and environments are still pretty old fashioned a well written letter is quite impressive especially when the receiver makes his first impression on your correspondence especially when it is a first time letter to his company I remember way back in 87 when I was at university in a comparatively small town and went to the market to buy some handmade traditional shoes for which that particular town was famous all over the country They did not speaking English there
