think about cinema Melting-Pot Modernism Sarah Wilson, 2011-03-15 Between 1891 and 1920 more than 18 million immigrants entered the United States While many Americans responded to this influx by proposing immigration restriction or large scale Americanization campaigns a few others figures such as Jane Addams and John Dewey adopted the image of the melting pot to oppose such measures These Progressives imagined assimilation as a multidirectional process in which both native born and immigrants contributed their cultural gifts to a communal fund Melting Pot Modernism reveals the richly aesthetic nature of assimilation at the turn of the twentieth century focusing on questions of the individual's relation to culture the protection of vulnerable populations the sharing of cultural heritages and the far reaching effects of free market thinking By tracing the melting pot impulse toward merging and cross fertilization through the writings of Henry James James Weldon Johnson Willa Cather and Gertrude Stein as well as through the autobiography sociology and social commentary of their era Sarah Wilson makes a new connection between the ideological ferment of the Progressive era and the literary experimentation of modernism Wilson puts literary analysis at the service of intellectual history showing that literary modes of thought and expression both shaped and were shaped by debates over cultural assimilation Exploring the depth and nuance of an earlier moment's commitment to cultural inclusiveness Melting Pot Modernism gives new meaning to American struggles to imaginatively encompass difference and to the central place of literary interpretation in understanding such struggles The Annual of Psychoanalysis, V. 29 Jerome A. Confession and Complicity in Narrative Dennis A. Foster,1987-05-29 What is the precise relationship between the writer of a text and the reader Contributions to reader response theory have suggested that the reader is relatively passive In this 1987 text Professor Foster argues that the relationship is more complex than that readers enter into complicity with writers and create the illusion of the writer s mastery over meaning in order to imagine themselves as masters and become writers in their own place This dynamic model of the reading process is revealed most tellingly in confessional narratives and so Professor Foster explores the complex patterns of the reader writer symbiosis in texts by Augustine Kierkegaard Henry James Hawthorne Faulkner and Beckett What emerges is a fresh theory of reading literature the engagement between writer and reader as a struggle for power in which the reader is actively complicit and self conscious in his or her interpretations

Virtual Modernism Katherine Biers,2013-10-01 In Virtual Modernism Katherine Biers offers a fresh view of the emergence of American literary modernism from the eruption of popular culture in the early twentieth century Employing dynamic readings of the works of Stephen Crane Henry James James Weldon Johnson Djuna Barnes and Gertrude Stein she argues that American modernist writers developed a poetics of the virtual in response to the rise of mass communications technologies before World War I These authors modernist formal experimentation was provoked by the immediate individualistic pleasures and thrills of mass culture But they also retained a faith in the representational power of language and the worth of common experience more characteristic of realism and naturalism In competition with new media experiences such as movies and recorded music they simultaneously rejected and embraced modernity Biers establishes the virtual poetics of these five writers as part of a larger virtual turn in the United States when a fascination with the writings of Henri Bergson William James and vitalist philosophy and the idea of virtual experience swept the nation Virtual Modernism contends that a turn to the virtual experience of language was a way for each of these authors to carve out a value for the literary both with and against the growth of mass entertainments This technologically inspired reengagement with experience was formative for American modernism Situated at the crossing points of literary criticism philosophy media studies and history Virtual Modernism provides an examination of Progressive Era preoccupations with the cognitive and corporeal effects of new media technologies that traces an important genealogy of present day concerns with virtuality

Literature in the Nineteenth Century Margaret Linley, 2016-04-29 Operating at the intersection where new technology meets literature this collection discovers the relationship among image sound and touch in the long nineteenth century The chapters speak to the special mixed media properties of literature while exploring the important interconnections of science technology and art at the historical moment when media was being theorized debated and scrutinized Each chapter focuses on a specific visual acoustic or haptic dimension of media while also calling attention to the relationships among the three Famous works such as Wordsworth's I wandered lonely as a cloud and Shelley's Frankenstein are discussed alongside a range of lesser-known literary scientific and pornographic writings Topics include the development of a print culture for the visually impaired the relationship between photography and narrative the kaleidoscope and modern urban experience Christmas gift books poetry painting and music as remediated forms the interface among the piano telegraph and typewriter Ernst Heinrich Weber's model of rationalized tactility and how the shift from visual to auditory telegraphic instruments amplified anxieties about the place of women in nineteenth-century information networks Full of surprising insights and connections the collection offers new impetus for stimulating historical conversations and debates about nineteenth-century media while also contributing fresh perspectives on new media and re-mediation today Evolution and Literary Theory Joseph Carroll, 1995 Over the past two decades poststructuralism in its myriad forms has come to dominate literary criticism to the exclusion of virtually any other point of view Few scholars have escaped the coercive authority of its programmatic radicalism In Evolution and Literary Theory Joseph Carroll vigorously attacks the foundational principles of poststructuralism and offers in their stead a bold new theory that situates literary criticism within the matrix of evolutionary theory

Metaphors of Confinement Monika Fludernik, 2019-08-13 Metaphors of Confinement The Prison in Fact Fiction and Fantasy offers a historical survey of imaginings of the prison as expressed in carceral metaphors in a range of texts about imprisonment from Antiquity to the present as well as non-penal situations described as confining or restrictive These imaginings coalesce into a carceral imaginary that determines the way we think about prisons just as social debates about punishment and criminals feed into the way carceral imaginary develops over time Examining not only English language prose fiction but also poetry and drama from the Middle Ages to postcolonial particularly African literature the book juxtaposes literary and non literary contexts and contrasts fictional and nonfictional representations of imprisonment and discussions about the prison as institution and experiential reality It comments on present day trends of punitivity and foregrounds the ethical dimensions of penal punishment The main argument concerns the continuity of carceral metaphors through the centuries despite historical developments that included major shifts in policy such as the invention of the penitentiary The study looks at selected carceral metaphors often from two complementary perspectives such as the home as prison or the prison as home or the factory as prison and the prison as factory The case studies present particularly relevant genres and texts that employ these metaphors often from a historical perspective that analyses development through different periods
