Advancing Cancer Education and Healthy Living in Our Communities Yuri Quintana, Aubrey Van Kirk

Villalobos, Dorothy May, 2012 Over half the deaths from disease in the world are now due to just four chronic conditions: diabetes, lung diseases, some cancers, and heart disease. Health and education are inextricably linked. Developing and delivering effective, scalable, and sustainable education programs which lead to real behavioral change would influence some of the common risk factors for these diseases, such as smoking, poor diet, and lack of physical activity. This book contains the selected papers from the St. Jude Cure4Kids Global Summit held in June 2011 at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee, USA. The aim of this three-day conference was to improve health and science education in classrooms and communities around the world. Leading educators, innovators, and pioneers in the field of public health came together in a multidisciplinary forum to explore examples of successful education programs, analyze the challenges in designing effective, scalable, and cost-efficient public health education programs, and identify strategies, methodologies, and incentives for developing future programs capable of yielding large-scale improvements in health outcomes for diverse communities. The papers presented here provide a foundation in the key topics necessary to create future innovative health promotion programs and will be of interest to all those whose work involves improving health outcomes by means of better and more effective health education.
